

S.P.Q.R.

Centuries ago these letters emblazoned on the banners of old Rome and carried at the head of their armies, led to many a glorious victory.

Small Profits, Quick Returns. As the Motto for the warfare of modern commerce, it will more effectively gain victory and success in the hardest of times, such as these.

CITY AND VICINITY.

SOME of the best Pembroke potatoes—general favorites—can be obtained from Mr. Thos. Nugent, Johnson Street.

PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh northerly to southwesterly winds, partly cloudy to cold weather, with snow flurries.

REMEMBER, the great sale of fine furs takes place to-morrow afternoon and evening, without reserve, by J.E. Hutchison, auctioneer.

POLICE.—John Barrett, drunk, fined $2 or 10 days. Mary Kelly, drunk, was dismissed. Charles Clements, vagrant, fined $10.

TRUSTEE BOARD.—The Trustee Board of Queen's College meets this evening, to look over the plans for the new building.

PITTSBURG.—The leading candidates are: M. Strachan and R. Anglin for Reeve; Henry Wilmet and Robt. Bell for Deputy.

VICTORIA HALL.—The Hall last night was tastefully decorated and hung with festoons of red, white and blue. It looked very pretty.

CONVERSATION.—Read the programme of Minden Lodge entertainment and judge of the excellent character of this evening's feast of reason and flow of songs.

WEATHER.—The weather has made another change, and persons now go around with red noses and ears. Everybody is looking for snow which will make Christmas pleasant.

ENTERTAINMENT.—To-morrow evening the Collegiate Institute will give an entertainment in their Assembly Room. A good programme has been prepared and a first-class time is expected.

A GUEST MILL.—Mr. McMillan, the proprietor of the Morton Millinery, is going to utilize some of the unemployed space in the business of agrist mill. The starch factory will come by and bye.

KINGSTON REFORM ASSOCIATION.—The adjourned meeting of this body will be held this evening in the hall on Wellington street. The importance of the business of the annual meeting calls for a large attendance.

DR. BULLER, Oculist and Aurist to the Montreal General Hospital, formerly of the Royal London Ophthalmic Hospital, can be consulted at Dr. K. N. Fenwick's office, William Street, on Monday next, December 23rd.

ADDRESS.—The Deputy Grand Master of Canada, R. W. Bro. Dr. Henderson, will occupy the chair at Minden Lodge Conversations this evening, and an interesting address may be expected from him.

RETURNS.—Yesterday Dr. Dupuis' team of spanking greys were started by something near the owner's residence, and ran away. They were caught after a short but lively race, the only damage being the breaking of the tongue of the carole.

HOUSEBREAKING.—Last night the Commercial House, at the foot of Princess street, was broken into, admission being gained by means of the cellar. Two jars of whiskey and other things were stolen. One of the burglars was seen in the room, and quickly decamped and escaped when detected.

HOLIDAY MARKETS.—The market this morning was expected to be large, but the reality exceeded expectations. Not only was the square filled, but some of the side streets, and there was an abundance of everything which one can desire at such a season. Poultry was very cheap—the thing most desirable at such a time.

A GOOD BUSINESS.—Mr. T. B. Hawley, the successor to Mr. R. Edwards in the confectionery business in the market square, has begun well. Business is rapidly coming to him, the result of the good quality of his stock and the courtesy and attention which he, like his predecessor, pays to his customers. He will succeed.

QUICK WORK.—Those who do the laundry work at the British American Hotel appreciate the change in the method of heating. By the ingenious use of steam pipes in an enclosure, in which the clothing is suspended upon a kind of horse, a washing can be dried in fifteen minutes. The water, too, for washing is heated by the steam.

MR. ROBINSON WINS.—Mr. W. Robinson, M.P.P., can now show his feet with considerable pride, having won last evening, by a majority of over 50, the slippers upon which all the voting has been done at the City Hall bazaar during the past three days. They ought to look well, since the vigorous competition for them made them cost some $56.

GOOD NEWS.—We had no idea that even one case of small pox had been discovered in Kingston, but such has been the fact, as reported by one of the medical Aldermen of the city. All danger is now passed, a cure has been effected, but fancy the commotion there would have been had the existence of the disease been however remotely known. The circumstance only came to light when the vaccine question was under discussion.

PHOSPHATE MINING.—The Intelligence reports that there is a great deal of excitement over mining for phosphate in the northern part of Frontenac and Adirondack. Numbers of men have been prospecting for months past, and many deposits have been found, but few of which, however, are of an extensive character. Still, profitable operations have been commenced by a number of men in developing the mines, the product of which realizes from $8 to $9 per ton. It seems quite probable that similar deposits exist in all the townships north of this city.

WIND WAFTS.

Minden Hall this evening.

Literary meeting this evening in Chalmers.

The Tories met in solemn convocation last evening.

Entertainment in the Collegiate Institute this evening.

The street car busses are not nearly so popular as the cars were.

The annual Conversations of Minden Lodge will take place to-night.

The "Canadian Illustrated News" of this week is a spicy Christmas number.

There was an excellent market this morning. Farmers hope for snow to improve the roads.

A new line of steamers is to be put on between Alexandria Bay and Montreal.

The usual placards, promulgating that the municipal nominations take place on the 20th instant, have been duly posted.

A Penitentiary is to be built at Oswego. The place is getting some of its most needed institutions despite the hard times.

The Newburg Reporter gives a clergyman who left there on Wednesday for Kingston an awful breeze. A spade is called a spade.

The Frisk blondes were so indecent at St. Hyacinthe that the female portion of the audience had to retire during the performance.

The semi-annual examinations for entrance to the Military College took place yesterday. In this district there were but two candidates.

Something hard to close—some of those boys' mouths at the Concert last night. Their hideous yells were unpardonable. Boys, don't do it again.

Venor can't be trusted. The old fashioned simoniac of fifty years ago were more honest and reliable, when they told us that in July we might expect hot days, and in January to look out for snow storms.

Talk about hard times, when in his usual good style, the "Friar of Ordre Grey," which received well merited applause. He was followed by the Misses Burton, who sang "Hear Me, Norma," and who gave in response to a recall another verse, both of which were well sung.

Mr. T. A. Elliott next gave a recitation entitled "The Spanish Duel," a serious comic piece which created much merriment. There was uproarious applause. He bowed his acknowledgments. In the second part of the programme Messrs. Heath and Daly gave "Two Merry Minstrels." These two young gentlemen have good voices, and may be ranked among the best singers in the city. They received enthusiastic encores in both their songs. Miss Bell sang a very beautiful song in a manner which delighted the audience. Mr. Perry gave a reading, "Courtship and Difficulties." The difficulties were of a very depressing character, and but for his persistence he might have been a "line plowder in this world of toil." Moral—Never propose in the parlor. After a vote of thanks had been tendered to the Chairman "God Save the Queen" was appropriately sung. Miss Burton taking a solo, with orchestral accompaniment. Altogether the concert was a success, and will long be remembered as one of the best given in the city.

CHANCERY NEWS.

Synod of Ontario v. Clarke, —Maclean, Q.C., asked for a decree for foreclosure of mortgage, and immediate payment. Prayer contained only the usual clause and did not ask specifically for the extraordinary remedies sought, but the learned counsel contended that under the prayer for general relief he should have these remedies. The learned Vice-Chancellor held that the practice was well established, and had been repeatedly acted on by all the Judges, that these extraordinary remedies could only be granted when specifically asked, and granted plaintiff only such a decree as he could have obtained on prayer.

Rees v. Fraser.—Walkem for plaintiff. Hoekin, Q.C., for defendant. Macdonald for executor. This case came up on F.D., the question at issue being whether a legacy to an infant, to be paid when he comes of age, should carry interest in favour of the infant or not. Both parties cited numerous cases in support of their views, after hearing which His Lordship reserved judgment.

Synod of Ontario v. Keys.—Walkem for plaintiff. Macdonald for defendant and subsequent encumbrances. Consent decree made.

St. Andrew's Bazaar.

The bazaar got up by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church, and which opened in Victoria Hall this morning, promises to be a good success. This morning a willing staff of ladies and gentlemen were hard at work decorating the hall with evergreens, bunting, &c. The tables are laid out with all kinds of knick-knacks, and are being attended to by many obliging ladies. Who can withstand the temptation of buying from such fair dealers? The sidewalk pie will no doubt be well patronized, the articles drawn being numerous and of all descriptions. A refreshment room is also receiving attention. Dinner and tea will be served each day of the Bazaar. Be sure and drop in and take a look around, and have your pocket book open so that you may purchase bargains. During this week the man of the house will be stuffing his pockets with dolls, toy horses, w-guns, and all such, and we know of no better place to secure them than at the St. Andrew's Bazaar.

A Plain Statement.

When the new wing of the British American Hotel was planned and erected it was designed that the building should be heated as at present, but afterward new arrangements were made according to which Mr. J. G. Tandy put in the boiler and pipes used last winter. This system failed, and last fall Messrs. McKeay & Birch were called in and made changes now apparent, having returned to Messrs. Power & Son's original plans. This statement is only made in justice to Messrs. Power & Son, who withdrew when their specifications were departed from.

Re Kingston Election; GENE v. MACDONALD.—Mr. Holman obtained an order to change the Toronto agents of the petitioner.

PRACTICE BOYS' CONCERT.

GOOD SINGING—THE NOBLE SIX HUNDRED PRESENT.

Yesterday being the one hundred and eighty-ninth anniversary of the siege of Derry the Practice Boys embraced the opportunity and gave a concert in the Victoria Music Hall at a fitting remuneration of that occasion. The hall was filled to overflowing. So large was the crowd that at 8 p.m. the doors were closed against the populace, which was symbolic, we suppose, of the closing of the gates of Derry against the enemy. Shortly after 8 o'clock ex-Mayor McKelvey took the chair and opened the concert by introducing Prof. J. K. Oldham, whose rendition of that popular piano solo, "March des Tambours," caused hearty applause. His orchestra, consisting of the Professor at the piano; Messrs. Daly, violin; Locke, cornet; and Oldham, bass violin, performed two pieces entitled "No Name Walks," and "The Wind Up Galop." Excellent time was kept, and the music charmed the audience, who showed their appreciation by well deserved applause. "Swallows, Happy Swallows" was given by Messrs. Heath and Daly. This was admirably executed and very loudly applauded. They sang another verse of the same as an encore. Miss Sophia Burton was the next singer, she was in excellent voice. We have seldom, if ever, heard her to better advantage. Her first was "Fly Forth, O Gentle Dove," which she sang to perfection. To a recall she gave "Baby Mine," which was feelingly rendered. At the close of the programme she sang a piece the name of which we did not learn. Prof. Oldham should be congratulated upon the success which he has obtained in training Miss Burton. Mr. D. McIntyre read a selection from "Picket Papers," in which the principal characters are S. Waller, sr., and Rev. Mr. Stiggins. He delineated the characters in a manner which speaks in the highest praise of his elocutionary powers. Mr. J. Calloway sang, in his usual good style, the "Friar of Ordre Grey," which received well merited applause. He was followed by the Misses Burton, who sang "Hear Me, Norma," and who gave in response to a recall another verse, both of which were well sung.

Mr. T. A. Elliott next gave a recitation entitled "The Spanish Duel," a serious comic piece which created much merriment. There was uproarious applause. He bowed his acknowledgments. of our community, the portion controlling the most cash and representing, in purchasing power, more than half the population. What do ladies first want? Lry goods! Then they should certainly enlarge their acquaintance with Ald. P. Hart, whose time is given more to the reception of his patrons than to election canvassing. He is making a clean sweep of a well assorted stock, and he declares he is selling regardless of cost. Reader, call and see him. Mr. A. Ross' store is a sort of miniature bazaar here these days, and he feels that this life of trade is his due since he is not a shoddy dealer, but gives value for value, and sells as cheap as any in the city. Henry Lowndes has made ample provision for the activity of our community. He announces "holiday goods," and these embrace the thousands and one pretty and useful articles for which the critical eye is now in constant search. F. X. Conynghy & Co., are living illustrations of what pushing spirits and enterprise can accomplish, and printers' ink has been frequently and largely employed in noting the numerous important transactions of the firm. Bargains with Cousins, are, however, not a holiday occurrence, but a standing, permanent thing, such is the motto of the institution. The special sale of R. J. Bowes & Co., has called for a good deal of attention, as all special sales of the kind are sure to do. The great feature at the present time is the Buffalo robes, which are being cheaply disposed of. Mr. R. Waldron gives fitting imitation of the new fancy goods which he has for the holidays. The woolsen squares, silk ties and handkerchiefs, kid mits, jackets, etc., are all of good value. Mr. Waldron invites a call, claiming to be among those who make large sales and slight profits.

Messrs. R. & J. Gardner make a specialty at the present time of French and other kid gloves, two four and six buttons, of various shades and prices. But they are not confined to gloves in their attractions. In the general assortment of well regulated dry goods stores all may be found for which enquiry may be made.

THE FESTIVE SEASON.

A LITTLE INFORMATION OF GENERAL INTEREST.

We are again on the eve of the festive holiday season, that period of the year of most pleasant anticipation and around which are clustered the happiest remembrances. Christmas is an event in which all take a common interest, and no festival of the year is attended by the same anticipations proceeding it, and by the same sources of mutual congratulation afterward. Old differences are reconciled, old age and youth exchange cordial sentiments, and friendship is united and extended by a strange and inexplicable influence, the effect of which is not experienced at any time within the anniversary. Why is this? We cannot tell, nor did we start out to investigate and explain, and add our notions of human phenomena to the mass of prevariating and conflicting opinion. We only know that from time immemorial Christmas has been the most delightful incident in life, and that each recurring commemoration of it is a bright spot in the record of nearly every christian being. It has created in social and domestic circles the same commotion and buzz of busy preparation and gladness merry making, and may the Fates so will it to the end of time. These comments are suggested by the reminder which Time has given us of a duty that now annually devolves upon us, of calling attention to those places most apt and likely to furnish the necessary material for the reunions of friends and families. These places are indicated in our advertising columns, and we set out with the assumption that if any one has anything worth selling or buying, the fact should be publicly announced; and, in passing, we may observe that before the luxuries of the season can be enjoyed one must have the body in a state of complete ease and comfort. For that purpose

must be visited, as indicated they will be and our columns visited a number of establishments in which the most inviting and latest fashions may be both suited and satisfied. In clothing Messrs. McNaughton & Co. have an immense stock to select from, and their goods are marked in plain figures. Add to this the fact that the proprietors are making a grand clearing sale, and the attraction is strong enough to merit the attention of any desiring to replenish their wardrobes. Mr. Thomas Seale keeps pace with the times, and for tailoring and gents' frothing he has attained a worthy place in the affections of the people. He makes a specialty of the order department, and prides himself that he possesses and supplies the latest and most fashionable styles. Mr. W.Y. Boyd's "Emporium of Fashion" is a not by institution, the appearance of which may be taken as an index of the business done by its chief representative. Mr. Boyd has some excellent goods, and this and the further assurance that he guarantees a fit, form considerations of no insignificant value. Mr. Fralick is a foremost competitor for public favour. He has not been here very long, but he has met a success with his goods which he must be encouraged. Mr. Fralick aims at pleasing the public, and the latter has reciprocated to the advantage of the former. Z. Prevost, Brock street, is now conducting a clearing sale of considerable magnitude, and while this is in progress bargains may be expected. He has made reductions in every direction. Intending purchasers will make a note of this fact. Lastly, but not least in the list, come Messrs. O. Livingston, one of the oldest and most reliable merchants in the city. "The People's Clothing House" is known to everyone, and experience adds to its popularity. Quality and price are somewhat fairly equitized. Allow us to diverge. We have marked out the line which the gentlemen readers should follow, for the next few days especially, and it remains for us to give a few hints which most concern

THE TORY CAUCUS.

MR. METCALFE NOMINATED—HE IS FAIRLY IN THE FIELD.

What has been long talked of and dreamt over and discussed has at last eventuated. The Liberal Conservative Association last night held a caucus, and nominated a candidate to oppose Mr. Wm. Robinson in the next Local election. There were but two candidates mentioned at the meeting, which was attended by only about sixty persons, and many of these were specially summoned to attend in the interest of one of the nominees, who, we are informed, made his support by them a certainty by considerations of a more or less kindly character. Mr. Samuel Woods was the first name submitted to the approval of the meeting. By Mr. Woods' friends it is deeply regretted that he was not more cordially supported. At the outset it was stated by a member of the Association that Mr. Woods could not possibly get the Roman Catholic vote, in view of the position he took and the sentiments he expressed at an Orange meeting called for indignation purposes, and for the condemnation of Mayor Beaudry for the action taken by that functionary in the late Orange case. Mr. Woods made explanations, privately we presume, both full and explicit, but another Roman Catholic member alleged that while he was satisfied with the statement made by Mr. Woods at the Orange meetings was such as to incur the loss of the votes of many of his religious persuasion. The name of Mr. Ald. Metcalfe was later in the evening submitted, and the choice lay between him and Mr. Woods. The result of a division was the record of a large majority in favour of Mr. Metcalfe, forty-five to seventeen. To some the issue was a surprise, but to others the announcement was a verification of an impression which seemed to generally prevail among those who knew of what had been for some time previously in progress. And perhaps it is just as well that things did take the turn they did, for assuming that Mr. Metcalfe was earnest in his declarations he would have remained in the field anyway and made the contest an angular one, attended by the conflicting interests of such a competition. Until the election is now definitely fixed no more will be made, but in the meantime the canvass will be quietly conducted by both Mr. Robinson and Mr. Metcalfe. To our mind there can be but one termination—the return of Mr. Robinson by perhaps a large majority any one has ever got in this city. Conservatives themselves have given him a balance of 300 votes.

NAPANESE COURT.

A CLEAR CALIBRE—SMALL CIVIL DOCKET.

Judge Wilkinson, at the County Court and General Sessions for Lennox and Addington, informed the Grand Jury that the grand jury calendar (the one presented to him the time honored white kid gloves, indicative of the purity of the county from crime. The jury were: Uriah Sils, Foreman, J. A. Avey, Adam Avey, S. B. Brown, Z. J. Brown, Robert Cox, T. B. Chablain, P. W. D'Arzo, W. Ferguson, George German, C. M. Hoffman, Hiram Hoffman, Wm. Martin, Hicks Milroy, J. G. Sharp, Wm. Somerville, J. E. Smith, J. M. Smith, Thos. D. Trumppor, Jacob Wager.

ARMSTRONG V. MOKEY.—Appeal from Chas. James' decision. Conviction quashed.

WEBSTER V. MOKEY.—Appeal from decision of Chas. James. Conviction quashed. Appeal allowed.

HUTCHINS V. PETERS.—Appeal. The appellant was convicted before Chas. James of committing an assault. Conviction sustained.

WARD V. ROY.—Appeal. The appellant was convicted before Chas. James of committing an assault on respondent. Conviction quashed.

DELANA V. STEVENSON.—Appeal case. Verdict for defendant.

GRONK V. MCKENNY.—Action on two promissory notes. Verdict for plaintiff for $236.20.

BAROCK V. CARLST.—Action for damages for illegal seizure. Verdict for plaintiff for $20.

QUEEN V. WAGER.—Indecent assault. Prisoner found guilty and sentenced to three months in the Common Gaol.

QUEEN V. TYNER.—Wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm. Prisoner acquitted.

GRISBY V. COLLINS.—Action for grain sold. Verdict for plaintiff.

QUEEN V. HART.—Housebreaking, Larceny and arson. Prisoner acquitted of all the charges.

HARRIS V. LENNOX AND ADDINGTON DIVISION GRANGE.—Action for debt. Verdict for plaintiff for $119.00.

Doroche & Madden were the successful lawyers in a majority of these cases.

AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN of large experience who has made Paternity Consumption a specialty, says that "although in the worst and most rapid form of the disease we have still to confess that medicine is almost powerless, yet in those less overwhelming and in those more chronic, which happily constitute the great number of cases, we have been able to do more than profit that much may be done to mitigate, to prevent, to retard, cure, and even to arrest and cure this most destructive of human maladies." His experience of fifty years leads him to assert that the "great remedy, more essential and more effectual than any other, is Cod Liver Oil. But who can take it?
