King and William streets has been redolent to-day with sweet scented oaths and anathemas on the Corporation from street car drivers and nervous passengers. A drain that was opened this Spring across the street has caved in, leaving a hole four feet wide and two feet deep which the ear horses have to jump or to wade through. The effect, besides many exciting skirmishes with the skittish horses, was the breaking of one car and the narrow escape from a capsize of others. One indignant car official stated that the City Engineer had long before been notified of the danger, had looked at it, and then had quietly and unostentathously let it alone. Of course the city would be called on to pay damages for the breakage. It was over a continuation of this drain (at Dr. Yates' door) that a cab was stuck lately one very rainy evening.

Since the large Chilis of second growth left on our table by Mr. George Filtz, of Bagot Street, measure 11 inches by 71 inches around, it is very plain that a large supplementary crop might have been gathered had the gardeners been forehanded enough to judge of the season.

LUNATIC AT LARGE.-The Standard tells of the movements of Wm. Parks, of Richmond, since his escape from Rockwood Asylum, by hiding when admitted to the yard and afterwards scaling the wall. He made for home at once, and arrived there next morning at nine o'clock quite exhausted, having walked most of the way. Keeper John Phelan was despatched to Napanee as soon as the escape became known, and arrived before Parks. The latter was arrested on his arrival and taken back to Kingston.

HYMEN'S DOINGS. -The infection has caught what was left single of the WHIO staff. Mr. Robert Meek, the popular local editor, saw his colleagues drop of one by one, and could not remain long like the last rose of summer, blooming alone, especially when one of the most estimable young ladles which Kingston contains gave him the best treasure that an exemplary young man can wish for. Last night Mr. Meek was made supremely happy, the fair bride being Miss Lanis gan. The honeymoon is being spent in the west, where the best wishes of hosts Kingstonians attend them. None were more sincerely congratulated.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUITS .-- A Pecent case in London illustrates very strongly Signs of PROSPERITY -This report the ludicrous absurdity of breach of promise cases, a species of litigation which seems to have been pretty nearly ridiculed out of existence in this country, but which is still not uncommon in Great Britain. A young medical man had ongaged himself to a fair maiden, hoping hat his prospects would justify an early marriage. In fact, he represented his prospects as altogether favorable, and promised marriage, but matters did If this be true, Kingston may be thank- not go so prosperously with him as he hoped, and he deferred the fulfilment of his promises. Kicking vs. Onions.

A very bad case is reported from Hartford, Connecticut. It relates to a wedded pair who lived together for a quarter of a A Big Holm. - The air at the corner of century and then got into Court as parties in a divorce suit. The names are Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Cook, and the offence with wihch Mr. Cook is reported as having charged his wife, and upon which he grounds his action for a divorce, is that she requested him to turn over and over and over in bed until he reached the edge; then she put her feet against him and skilfully landed him on the floor. This account may contain the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth: but there are probably important facts and considerations lurking beneath the surface. Looking at the case as it presents itself to the unbiased beholder, it is reasonable to expect that public sympathy will go out towards the injured husband. A man who is forcibly ejected from his downy couch by his wife's foot would seem to have just grounds for divorce. and it is not at all surprising that Mr. Edward W. Cook should have sought relist in the Courts. There may be extenuating circumstances in the case, however. Edward W. may have given way at the dinner table to a debased appetite for onions. In that case, Mrs. Edward W. would have had ample justification for kicking him out of bed. So that, perhaps, it would be just as well not to allow our sympathies to go out to any great extent towards either party to the case until the question about the onions has been decided .- Telegram.

THE MARQUIS OF LORNE'S DEPARTURE. The Marquis of Lorne and Princes ouise will, after all, not proceed to Caampton," but will sail from Liverpool on board the Allan steamer "Sarmatian." This arrangement was completed this week with Messra, Allan Brothers, on board whose steamer the distinguished party will make the voyage much more comfortably than on board a man-of-war. The Government have chartered the "Sarmatian" for the voyage, and the only persons who will occupy it beside the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise and suite will be the crew of the steamer. It was rumored in town that the new Governor-General and his royal the 'Sarmatian' yesterday; but, of course, this was unfounded, and they will not leave notil the 14th November next, by which time the "Sarmatian" will have returned, and have been put in thorough trim to receive the distinguished passengers, though, considering the handsome style in which the steamer is fitted up very little will be required to be done to On a previous occasion the "Sarmatian" was chartered by the Government, and did good service in the expeditious transport of the Black Watch (42nd Highlanders) from this country to Ashantee during the Ashantee war.
