Weldon, N. C., Oct. 16 .- A few days ago an Italian, Felix Bernichi, came to this town with a big black bear, which he exhibited on the streets. It danced, turned somersaults, stood on its head, and performed all the usual tricks. As it was inclined to be ferocious at times, its master kept a heavy mezzle on it as a safeguard, and never on any occasion took this off.

Tooday Bernichi's receipts were greater usual, and he betook himself to a sample-room near by, where he got gloriously drunk. He then came forth with Bruin, and told the crowd of by-standers that he would show them something sthey had never seen before. He unfastened the muzzle and took it off. No sooner this been done than the pet pounced him and began to "chaw" on his throat. The crowd thought that this was only a part of the show, and looked on with increased interest. The poor man yelled; but as he was in the habit of yelling and making a great noise when he was exhibiting the bear, no attention was paid to that Presently the blood rushed out, and Bernichi fell. Some one then rushed to his assistance, and found that he was

The bear had taken a large piece of flesh out of his neck and devoured it, and in a few minutes the showman was dead. It then flashed across the minds of the lookers on what had happened. The struggles of the man with the bloody mouster were terrible. The bear was shot, and Bernichi was buried in the town cemetery.
