THE EYE, EAR and THROAT Successfully Treated with SANFORD'S RADICAL GURE,

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many unserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does Sarrond's Hadical Curr for Catarrh possess such properties? The criticaec, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been of fered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of flar-rond's Hadical Curr. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendnot represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our pessession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY balls. Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is INVALUABLE. Messra. When's & Potter, Wholesale Druggists, Senson, Mass.: Gentlemen, —I have foreome months it it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write year, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of Banzono's Rabical Curk year faranti. For more than 30 years I have been shifted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could that but shifted with this very troublessens complaint. I have tried all the remedie that I could find, but without reat righter permanent benedt. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The outtre membraneus system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could not the Pacificocoast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertionant of this medicine, and although being very increasibleus about specifics or hostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 30—inay prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my oldest in writing this note will be obtained. 'True,' was the response: 'but she is beautiful and wealthy, and the most | them. popular woman of the day. I know of no other who would so fully satisfy my idea of the sort of wife I desire. She has plenty of money, and I have very little; and there are many advantages, you know, in having for a wife a woman who is self-supporting, and she will be too engrossed with her novels and her marbel, her studies and her Screels to

> 'I thought you preferred trusting, confiding, dependent oreatures,' observed Goy, very dryly. 'My dear fellow,' began the major, in voice as suave as if he were about to acknowledge something highly complimentary to his manhood, sub ross, I rather have a contempt for the sex. Love is all twaddle. Woman is the lesser man, of course, but created to be our helpment in some sort of subservience. And I hold that the creature whose great brain and large heart and superior gifts are fettered by wedlock is more of a slave than the useless doll who spends our money and tolls in the lap of love. Slavery is a stubborn fact, but only these who are said his companion, 'nor is it creditable to you to mention slavery in connection with the name of any lady who may consent to be your wife-The speaker was decidedly annoyed, and Major Gordon saw it, but it did not deter him from the utterance of another held to raise or borrow for the purposes of the sophistical speech.

'Indeed?' he smiled; 'the term 'subjection' is perhaps more agreeable, and surely it will be kingly sport to woo and win and subjugate such a royal woman as the lady of whom we have been speaking. I never met a weman yet who could not be won by a smile, or a gift, or a compliment. Adelide St. Armand is not of that sort, therefore she and not others shall be my wife." Had not Guy Steele been amused be Donaldson, at the Grand T. nak Station, the insolent egotism of the man he would

Several years ago I was attracted by a beautiful young ballet girl. I sent her bouquets. I called upon her and found her amiable, pleasant and entertaining. Our relations were wholly Platonic. One day she seked me for the loan of the ruby crescent that she might wear it that night. I granted her request, but she appeared on the stage without it, and several weeks after when I setted her to return it, she would not de so, neither would she tell me how she had disposed 'She had given it to another lover,' observed the major; with one of his

'Not so,' returned Guy steele, quickly; your speech implies a wrong to me and to her, for I was never her lover, and the jewel, as I afterwards learned, had been stolen from her by an unfortunate young girl, who was ill and suffering the direct poverty, and whom she pitted so greatly that she would neither betray nor prosecute her." 'Ah, indeed!' mocked the incredulous major in polite sareasm. 'Ah indeed! an anniable an exemplary creature, truly." Chafed and vexed as was Mr. Steele by this unmanly irony, as irrepressible smile danced in his clear and honest eyes as he parted from this assured and egotistical gallant who was sulf-elected as the prospective husband of a lady whose dainty shoes he was unworthy to unlace.
