Constipation

s a universal and most roublesome disorder. It causes Headache, Mental Depression, impairs the Sight and Hearing, destroys the Appetite, and, when long continued, causes Enlargement of the Liver, Inflammation of the Bowels, and Piles. Constipation is speedily cured by Ayer's Pills.

For a number of months I was troubled with Costiveness, in consequence of which I suffered from Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and a disordered liver. My eyes also troubled me. was compelled to wear a shade over them, and, it times, was unable to bear exposure to the light. I was entirely

MESSRS, BROWN BROTHERS & Co.

Druggists, Halifax, N.S. Gentlemen,-I have been terribly troubled with rheumatic stiffness of the cords of my hands, and for seven years I have not been able to. do any needle-work or sewing. I spent a great many dollars in trying to find relief, but without success until six months ago. I used a bottle of Simson's Liniment which has acted like magic. My fingers have regained their suppleness, which I despaired of ever retaining, and now after applying the contents of two bottles I can sew for hours without fatigue to my hands.

A DANGEROUS SPORT.

Hunting Rattlesnakes on the Shores of Lake George.

Perhaps in no part of the country can be found a more desirable place for the seeker of rest and recreation to spend his vacation than on the shores of Lake George. The clearness of its waters and wild beauty of its mountain surroundings, its fine atmosphere and historic recollections make it a place of more than common interest to the tourist. Its facilities for hunting and fishing are unsurpassed.

There is one kind of game that is hunted with much zeal by lovers of this sport which is seldom mentioned as an attraction to the region. This is the hunting of rattlesnakes on the mountain ledges and rocky hillsides every spring. Several of our oldest residents make a trip each spring, when the weather becomes warm enough, to the home of the Preptiles, of which there are several well known dens on the lake. Their mode of capturing them is dangerous, to say the least. Taking their guns, they proceed to the place where the rattlers are wont to assemble and beat about among the rocks until one is discovered. Then they shoot him. Oftentimes they appear suddenly to the hunter. Then the sensation is not so pleasant. The snakes are hunted for the sport, but some old hunters have great faith in their oil, which they claim is very penetrating and a great remedy for rheumatism.

The killing off of large numbers in spring lessens the number to wander abroad all around the lake later in the season, to the annoyance of cottage campers and hotel keepers. For as soon as hot weather begins the snakes leave their dens and roam over the surrounding country. They are great swimmers, and swim across the lake and make no choice of a landing place. Those interested have men engaged the through in killing rattlers. Each morning they go out early with a pole and poke into all places where a snake might be hidden and kill all they may find. In some spots a man is kept on the watch at all times for snakes, so that boarders at hotels as visitors rarely, if ever, see a snake. In fact there is not an attendant at a hotel on the lake who can be enticed to own that he ever saw a rattlesnake, to say nothing about killing one. In spite of all this watching a rattler will manage to get into a house once in a while, and then there is music for a short time among the ladies. Old campers on the-lake who have visited it for years can seldom be forced to admit that there are many snakes there, unless they may be inveigled into telling snake stories; then one gets an idea of snakes. Two species of rattlesnakes exist there, but as a rule they will trouble no one if not disturbed. No cases of anybody being bitten by a snake is recorded unless he was engaged in hunting them or had invaded their dens. An old snake hunter several years ago became so careless that in trying to capture one he undertook to catch the snake by the tail as he slipped under a stone, and was bitten. Not enough whisky could be got into him, and he never hunted any more rattlesnakes, chinery it is. Not only the larger air pas-Most experienced campers keep a supply of sages, but the thousands of little tubes and snake root and whisky on hand in case it should be needed. - Albany Journal.

Couldn't Reform Him.

With a southern family in New York there has been staying for some time a young lady from the interior of the state. She is of a philanthropic turn of mind, but her benevolent instincts have recently received a sad check. Fully convinced that "where there's a will there's a way," she undertook to reform an old colored servant of the family, who loved whisky "not wisely, but too well."

George Washington Jefferson was from "de souf," and, in consideration of years of faithful service, the family took no notice of his failing. But the young lady tried persuasion, cajolement, scolding, tracts, presents and everything else that a good heart and earnest purpose could suggest to induce him to abandon his intemperate babits. But it was all in vain. At last, in a fit of pardonable impatience, she said to him one day:

"I declare, George, I'd give you $1,000 if you'd give up drinking."

"Lor', young miss," replied the old incorrigible, "d'ye know what I'd do wid dat $1,000 if I had it? I'd jes' buy me a lounge, a bar'l o' whisky, a pump, an' I'd hire a nigger, an' I'd jes' lay my old black se'f-down on dat lounge, an' I'd jes' make dat nigger pump dat whisky down my froat. Lor', miss, dat ud be jes' like de yer o' jubilee. Don't you tem' me in dat way no mo'."

Bad Manners of Bathers.

The bad manners respectable people are guilty of when bathing quite disgust one with his acquaintances. Why a man forgets what is due others when he gets into the water is incomprehensible. If there is any place where a person ought to be careful of renovating and invigorating qualities, and the small proprieties of life it is the bathing | the impossibility of its doing harm. tank, where so many persons mix indiscriminately in such close relation. If people won't regard proprieties the management ought to post rules with that view. There are 100 kindred habits. The medicine may be given reasons why it is more vulgar to use the water for a handkerchief than even the air of a public street, and no earthly reason can be given why a bather must spout water from his mouth like a whale. The pleasurableness of bathing in these pools would be infinitely increased if the patrons would be more particular about not spitting in the water and about remembering that the room where their handkerchief is is but a little distance away. A proper set of rules suggesting the proprieties and some serious attempts to enforce them would work a revolution in the character of what too often looks like an aggregation of persons each possessed of the wild desire to defile the water around them .-Natatorium Patron in Globe-Democrat.

A Curious Discovery.

An Albany physician claims to have made a curious discovery. He says he has remarked a failing in the muscular powers of many business men, and on inquiry found that they had been using type writers or employing stenographers instead of writing their own letters. This, the physician declares with much show of earnestness, has deprived business men of a very little desirable exercise of the right arm, and has to some extent affected their general health. This physician, it may be stated, is remarkable for his extraordinarily acute powers of observation. - Albany Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

When these are clogged and choked with matter, which ought not to be there, your lungs-cannot half dotheir work. And what they do they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia catarrb, consumption of any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Mean Advantage.

"I think I've got rather the meanest husband in Detroit," exclaimed a little woman on the car the other day.

Her friend asked her to explain and she continued:

"I found that he was smoking fifty cents' worth of eigars per day, and I got him to agree to give me as much pin-money per week as the cigars cost. He stuck to it one

"And then what ?" "He bought him a clay pipe and a pound of ten-cent smoking tobacco, and my income is cut down to two cents a week."

A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhoea too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is too often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner.

To Avoid Baldness or Grey Hair. Use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature greyness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. G. hing, A. P. Chown, and all dauggists.
