YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

THE PEST THING ABOUT A FIRST PAIR OF BOOTS.

A Letter of Advice to Young People Who Always Want to Walt "a Minute" - Two Simple Trieks Easy of Trial.

Our cuts illustrate two pretty little tricks. which any young reader who desires to indulge in conjuring tind easy of Procure a piece of wood 6 inches in length and about 35 an inch in thickness, and near one end of it thrust in the blades of two penknives in such a manner that one of them inclines to side and the second to the other, as delineated in the illustration. If the other end of the piece of wood is

THE BALANCED STICK. then placed on the tip of the forefinger, it will keep itself perfectly upright without falling, and even if it is inclined to one side, it will instantly recover its perpendicular position, being, in reality, kept in equipoise by the knives. Cut the figure of a man out of any very light substance, the pith of the elder tree for instance, which is soft and can be readily carved into any form. Then provide an hemispherical base of some heavy material, such as the half of a large leaden bullet, and take away all inequalities which may be on the convex part: Fasten the figure to the plane surface of the THE LITTLE TUMBLER. bullet, and in whatever position it is placed. when left to itself, it will immediately rise upright. A tumbler made as described will prove a source of much amusement.

"In a Minute."

The following letter appeared recently in the postoffice box of Harper's Young People. As it was directed to no one in particular, but seems to have been written for the great majority of young folk, space is given to it in this column, in the hope that it will reach the rightful owner:

I will mention no names, but there are some children of my acquaintance who try even my patience by the answer, "In a minute."

They are called. Papa is standing at the, door, or mamma has her bonnet on, and desires to say a word before going out, but these busy grown people are obliged to wait until it pleases Janie and Johnny to attend to them. Johnny is repairing his bail, and thinks he cannot stop till he has fastened his knot; Janie is finishing her map, and has just begun putting the rivers in. Each honestly intends coming "in a minute," but the minute often stretches away to five or ten. The parents are displeased and inconvenienced, and everything becomes uncomfort-

Did you ever watch a company of soldiers at their drill! You must have observed the beautiful precision of their movements. When the captain says "Halt!" they stop on the instant—the whole company just like one man. When he orders "Advance!" how promptly every foot obeys. "Ground arms!" and the muskets ring as they fall. Now what sort of drill would those fellows have if here and there along the lines a soldier should reply, "In a minute," when the command came to "Advance!" or to "Halt!"

I wish you would think of yourselves as soldiers with a daily drill, part of which should be to obey the word of command promptly. Nobody can compel you to obey by force half so easily as you can compel yourselves. Resolve never to say "In a minute" when you are wanted, but always to be on time, answering whenever you are called, just as they did in the old Bible days, "Here am I!"

Be Honest.

The famous explorer, Dr. Livingstone, was descended from the Highlanders, and was fond of telling the following story of one of his ancestors. The good man, as death drew near, summoned his family around, his bed. He said: "Now, lads and lassies, I have looked all through our history as far back as I can find it, and I have never found a dishonest man in all the line, and I want you to understand you inherit good blood. You have no excuse for wrong doing. Be honest."

> Willie's First Boots. Do you hear that funny sound, Curious sort of creaking. Every time I step around? That's my new boots squeaking!

Sounds like men or grown up boys, When I walk-just hear me! Mamma doesn't like the noise, Makes her say, "Oh dear me

THE FIRST PAIR OF BOOTS. These are my first stoga boots, Made of good stout leather; Papa says they're just what suits Rugged roads and weather.

They're as stout as stout can be-Proof against all leaking: But the best of all to me Is their squeaking. -Wide Awake.

GREATNESS IN YOUTH.

Charles James Fox was in parliament at The Great Cromwell left the University of Cambridge at 18. John Bright was never at any school a day after he was 15 years old.

Gladstone was in parliament at 22, and at 24 was lord of the treasury.

Lord Bacon graduated at Cambridge when 16, and was called to the bar at 21. Peel was in parliament at 21, and Palmer ston was lord of the admiralty at 23, John Hampton, after graduating at Oxford, was a student at law in the Inner Temple at 19.

Gustavus Adolphus ascended the throne at 16; before he was $4 he was one of the great rulers of Europe. Judge Story was at Harvard at 15, in con-of the United States at 32. Conde conducted a memorable campaign at 17, and at 22 he, and Turenne also, were of the most illustrious men of their time.

gress at 29, and judge of the supreme court

Only one civilian out of the presidents of this country gained his first election after he was 60, and that one was James Buchanan.

Webster was in college at 15, gave earnest of his great future before he was 25, and at 30 was the peer of the ablest man in congress. William H. Seward commenced the practice of law at 21, at 31 was president of a state convention, and at S7 governor of New Washington was a distinguished colonel in the army at 22, early in public affairs, commander of the forces at 43 and president

Maurice, of Saxony, died at S2, conceded to have been one of the profoundest statesmen and one of the ablest generals which Christendom had seen. Napoleon at 25 commanded the army of Italy. At 30 he was not only one of the most illustrious generals of all time, but one of the great law givers of the world. At 46 he saw Waterloo. The great Leo X was pope at 38; having finished his academic training he took the office of cardinal at 18-only 12 months younger than was Charles James Fox when he entered parliament. William Pitt entered the university at 14, was chancellor of the exchequer at 22, prime minister at 24 and so continued for twenty years, and when 35 was the most powerful uncrowned head in Europe. From the earliest years of Queen Elizabeth to the latest of Queen Victoria, England has had scarce an able statesman who did not leave the university by the time he was 20, and many of them left at an earlier age. The late Lord Beaconsfield left the cloister and entered the great world early-as did John Bright-and commenced his political career by writing a book at 17, in which he predicted that he would be prime minister. Hamilton was in Kings college at 16; when 17, he made a notable address on public affairs to the citizens of New York; at 20 he was intrusted with a most important mission to Gen. Gates, was in congress at 25 and secretary of the treasury at 32.

John Quincy Adams, at the age of 14, was secretary to Mr. Dana, then minister at the Russian court; at 30 he was himself minister to Prussia; at 35 he was minister to Russia; at 48 he was minister to England; at 56 he was secretary of state, and president at 57.

Jonathan Edwards acquired early renown as the greatest metaphysician in America and as unsurpassed by any one in Europe. He commenced the reading of Latin when 6 years old. At 10 he wrote a remarkable paper upon immortality. At the age of 13 he entered Yale college, where he graduated four years later.

Gen. Grant was elected president at 46. But when a very young man, in the Mexican war, he so distinguished himself at the battle of Molino del Rey that Gen. Scott named him for promotion on the field, and at the storming of Chapultepec his courage and ability caused him to be specially commended by Gen. Worth, and for these young acts of skill and valor he was made captain in the regular army. He was but 39 when he gained his victory at Fort Donelson, and only 41 when he took Vicksburg.

THE TURF.

Three sisters and one brother to Maud S. are gray.

Ormonde has won $140,000 in stakes for the Duke of Westminster.

The pacer, Jersey Boy, has been sold to J. S. Goates, of Goshen, N. Y., for $2,500. Troubadour's fore legs are said to be unsound, and he will be retired after this Senator Stanford, of California, is stated to have refused an offer of $30,000 for his brown colt, Electricity.

The fastest mile Maud 8. has been permitted to trot this season is 2:15%, and the fastest quarter, 32 seconds. A fund is being raised for the benefit of the family of Joseph Harris, the jockey killed recently at Brighton beach. The stroke of paralysis which caused the death of the famous Ten Broeck was caused by the horse striking his head against the top of his box stall, which was a little low. Mr. Haggin's Firenzi appears to be the queen of the eastern 3-year-old fillies.

She has only been defeated once this year, and then by the phenomenal Hanover. Glen Miller, the gray stallion, owned by F. E. Fay, of Ohio, died at Jefferson park, Peoria, Ills, Sunday evening. His owner had refused $10,000 for him. The animal had a trotting record of 2:18. August Belmont, Jr.'s, fox terrier, Lucifer, which was sent to the jubilee show of the English Kennel club, took first and special for best- in open class. Mr. Belmont's dogs have won a number of prizes at other shows in England.

Nathan Strauss, the owner of Majolica, has two fast mares at Saranac Lake. They are Bessie and Bessie Sprague. Mr. Strauss would like to become the owner of Libby S., but thinks $12,000 a lot of money to pay for her. His mare, Pottery Girl, is at Cleveland, and is going to trot in the grand circuit.

The Keystone stable has been very successful with Himalaya since his purchase from the Preakness stable for $1,500, having won two races and been second three times. Recently the "cast off" met the Preakness stable's "crack," Rupert, and easily disposed of him, running the mile in 11:44, equal to about 1 M2 on the Sheepshead Bay track.
