SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

QUEER COMBINATION OF HANG-ING AND DECAPITATION.

An Antomatic Night Fan That Promises Comfort to the Would-Be Slumberer. The Old Bellef About the Pine Snake Refuted.

Gouston, in a curious book published in England in 1656, says: "In America are found asps with stings in the tail, wherewith they strike and kill." To the present day there are many persons in this country who believe in the existence of a deadly horn, hoop or pine snake, as it is variously termed.

THE PINE SNAKE.

A correspondent in a recent issue of The Scientific American gives the assurance that, "while wasps, bees and scorpions have a sting or lancet like instrument at the end of the abdomen or tail, generally furnished with a poison duct, scrpents have venom weapons in the form of the teeth only, never in any other situation."

The venom of serpents is not injurious to vegetation, as has been repeatedly illustrated, though often poisonous to man. The authority in question asserts concerning the pine snake, about which many stories have been circulated regarding its deadly venom, that "its tail does certainly end in a horny point, as is the case with several of our snakes, but there is no venomous gland or duct connected with it in any way whatever; it is as harmless as the bill of a baby chick just out of the egg. Indeed, the pine snake is in no way harmful. It is without venom fangs, and is not a constrictor, like the boas."

The pine snake feeds upon frogs, toads, and the smaller mammals. It is found occasionally in Pennsylvania, frequently in New Jersey, southward to Florida.

A Bayanzi Execution.

Science gives, in the interest of ethnologists, a brief account of the mode of execution among the Bayanzi, a large tribe of negroes Inhabiting the country between the Congo and the river draining Lake Leopold II. The executioner's sword is a short, heavy two edged weapon, blunt at one end, where it projects in a spur on each side. The hilt is of wood wound with brass wire, giving a very firm grip. The series of shallow grooves through the middle are "blood called grooves."

In executing, the condemned is made to sit down on a block just behind a post, his limbs pass- A BAYANZI SWORD. ing on each side of it. The post reaches to the height of his chin. His arms, legs and body are tied to stakes. A strong sapling is bent down, having at its extremity a collar suspended by cords. This collar is placed around the victim's neck, producing so great tension that, when the executioner delivers the blow, the severed head is thrown into the air with the force of a bomb. In all probability this device for making the neck taut arises from the clumsy nature of the sword employed, and the consequent difficulty in using it for decapitation. The post in front of the man's neck also facilitates the entire removal of the head. This execution shows . an ingenious arrangement of machinery to accomplish an end, resulting in a queer combination of hanging and decapitation.

Disposal of Sewage and Garbage.

The method of dry removal is still in most general use, and costs, in Leeds, England, says Popular Science Monthly, twenty-four cents per head a year. The great defect of removal by water carriage, such as prevails in all large cities, is that usually it only takes the nuisance to another place, without abating it. This fact and the failure of the currents depended upon to carry the stuff far enough away have led to the introduction of the method of water carriage with works for purification by precipitation. This is effected at the Knostrop works, Leeds, by means of a set of settling basins, with milk of lime as the precipitant. At Frankfort alumina ferric is to be used. The method of water carriage, with filtration or irrigation, can be applied with great advantage in small towns; but in cities of more than 100,000 inhabitants it is met by the difficulty of getting enough land to make the effectual application of filtration or irrigation practicable. The method of dry removal and making up into salable products is practiced on a large scale at Manchester, England. Urine and fæces partially deodorized with the house ashes are converted into manure and a variety of useful compounds at a cost of from twenty-four to thirty-seven cents per head a year. The Liernur separate pneumatic system is judged to be more expensive than any other well arranged method. In some places in England and in Holland refuse not suitable for the sewers is burned in destructors at small cost.

Dr. C. Weymouth Tidy, according to the authority quoted from, says that no single answer can be given to the question of the disposal of sewage. The adviser must sink his hobby and prepare to find conditions under which he would counsel irrigation, and other conditions under which he would recommend precipitation. Success at one place furnishes no argument that a process will be nearly every event in which he competed this successful everywhere. His own experience of all kinds of schemes has led him to prefer a scheme combining the principles of precipitation and irrigation. It has the advantages that its efficient working is independent of the weather; and that, if the works are sufficiently large, any emergency of quantity can

A Comforting Invention.

Among new contrivances for comfort during hot weather, there is said to figure an automatic night fan having a clasp by which it is fastened to the headboard of a bedstead. Being wound up, it sways back and forth, by means of springs, to refresh the would-be slumberer. This apparatus is expected to work one hour. At the end of that time, if sleep has not come, it way be again wound to run for a like period.

"Aida" next season as she had contemplated.

Instead of that opera she will sing "Elsa," her first attempt at Wagner. Judic, who has returned to Paris after a "cure" at Aix-les-Bains, is not going to Russia, as stated by the papers, but intends to rest for some weeks at her villa at Chatou.

She is to appear at the Varietes in October in a revival of the "Grande Duchesse de " Gerolstein." Herr Bronsart von Schellendorf has been appointed successor to the late Baron von Loen, as intendant of the Weimar Court theatre. Herr von Schellendorf, who is a pupil of Liszt and thoroughly modern in his musical training, has for many years successfully managed the Royal theatre at Hanover. Carrie Turner is going to leave the stage forever. Constance His is responsible for this. Constance has hardly begun to teethe yet, but she has already fixed the future of Mrs. Carrie Turner His, her mother. In "Young Mrs. Winthrop" Miss Turner played Constance during the play's long run at the Madison Square, and subsequently on the road. She married Alberts His, the son of a wealthy Swiss, and may settle in Switzerland.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS-If you wish to obtain quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache relief from pain and anguish to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorating the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff) to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis and Asth CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dy CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache Menngitis, &c. From Symnes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5, 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr.J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. Th other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy that their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Brownes Chlorodyne in Diarrhoea and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Cholera, Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of the opinion that the substitution of of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST, TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharmacy Society of Great Britain.

His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

CAUTION—Vice Chancellor Sir Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Brownews undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "Times," July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 14d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr.

J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. CAUTION-Beware of Piracy and Imitation. Sole Manufacturer, J. T. DAVENPORT. 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London Eng. Aug. 9.
