THE REPORTER'S PAY.

MEN WHO DO HARD WORK FOR LOW WAGES.

A Few Cold Facts Which Young Journalists May Do Well to Consider-Comparative Salaries of Editors in Chief and Their Subordinates.

New York doubtless has more good newspaper men than any other city, as shown in my last letter, largely because the whole world is made tributary to its demands in this direction. Yet, as compared with other pursuits I think the "fat takes" are few, the owners of publications getting the larger share of the pic, though most of the men controlling the best newspapers are usually of a class that in other professions, and with similar! investments, would make even more money. Charles A. Dana is said to receive only $15,000 as salary, though his income from Sun stock makes the snug sum yearly of about $100,000. Reid, of The Tribune, is credited with $12,000 sainry; Hepworth, editor of The Herald, $12,000, Mr. Miller, of The Times, is supposed to receive $10,000, and that paper's managing editor, Mr. Reid, $8,000. Col. Cockrill, of The World, is supposed to make $20,000 from a small amount of stock and his salary of $15,000. There is every reason to doubt the accuracy of these figures, of course, for they are founded only on rumor, and about such things rumor is not often infallible.

"GATH'S" $200 A WEEK.

It is doubtful if there is a better salary paid in New York for newspaper work than that given George Alfred Townsend by The Cincinnati Enquirer, $200 per week, the correspondent having almost unlimited license as to what he shall write or where from. This salary is not on account of stock, it must be remembered. An excellent authority among New York journalists says the highest salary here to non-stockholding writers on the city papers is $7,000. This is not far from right, though some of the people so salaried make $2,000 or $3,000 more in other work. Yet even with $10,000 as yearly earnings, the same men in similarly responsible positions in business life would earn double or treble that amount. There are jockeys that earn double that salary, and lawyers by the score earn $100,000 annually here, and it must be borne in mind that a man who can command $10,-000 in journalism must have inordinate ability-talents which, had they been wisely directed in other changels, would have placed him on the highest plane.

Now let us look on the reportorial side of journalism in New York. Take The Sun as an example, because it is the favorite paper to work on. Mr. Dana appreciates his "bright young men" and talks about them, and reporters strive for "sits" on his paper recordingly.

On proof of ability, if there is a vacancy on the reportorial staff of The Sun, the candidat will be put to work on a salary of $15 a week, which, if developments are satisfactory, will be increased to $18, then to $20 a week. When developed into capable and trustworthy newsgatherers the salary is stopped and they are paid $8 per column for all their matter that is used. They are, of course, "assigned" or given definite matters to look after. If the assignment does not develop "copy" amounting to more than the allowance, the reporter will receive fifty cents an hour for the time consumed, on ten hours daily, thus being sure of $5 a day. Street car or other expenses he must pay, though if sent out of town his expenses are paid by the

WAGES OF PENCIL DRIVERS. The average earnings of The Sun's reportorial workers is about $45 per week, and $60 is as well as any of them do. This paper keeps a city force of thirty to thirty-five men for its morning edition and discards from three to ten columns of matter in type every morning. For matter discarded reporters are allowed time rates. The editors in this department are, of course, on salary. The day or city editor lays out the work for his reporters, and the night editor, as one of the boys puts it, "keeps a rake in one hand and a carving knife in the other." In the carving he has two assistants. In addition to Dana pere and Dana fils The Sun has an editorial writer. The managing editor also does some of that work and has an assistant for other things. The telegraph editor has an assistant too. The sporting, dramatic, musical and literary editors are salaried.

On the evening papers with the exception of that edition of The Sun, salaries are much less than on any of the morning sheets. The column rate averages about $6, and the columns are long enough and broad enough to strike terror to the soul of any space writer. One of the boys tells me $30 in the way of salary is much more common in the evening field, for editors, than $60. Reporters are satisfied with $25 as average earnings on space on the evening sheets. A good telegraph editor will get $25 to $30; a good but of course not particularly brilliant editorial writer, about $40.

Some of the weekly papers here publish short stories of 2,000 to 2,500 words for which they pay $4 to $5 each, and there are people who make $20 to $25 a week writing these stories, some of them good. How is that for grind?

There are newspaper people here who make $3,000 to $5,000 a year by writing one or two letters a week, others who would jump at a job for $10 a week.-McDonald in Buffalo Express.

Interesting to Bicyclists.

A young west end athlete, who possesses ingenuity as well as muscle, has made a hit by inventing a simple contrivance by which an orguinette can be played by the movement of a bicycle wheel. He tells me he first got the idea from a musical German friend and immediately commenced experimenting. He showed me the evidences of his success. The box or instrument is made fast to the steering gear on the yoke or neck of the machine, and the crank is connected by a rod to the pedals of the wheel. Without any extra exertion whatever he can now grind out music by the foot, yard or mile. As he rode away on his shining wheel the notes of that gay but awfully threadbare tune, "The Flowers that Bloom in the Spring," floated out behind him on the air. The ingenious bicyclist says his invention will do entirely away with the ear splitting alarm whistle that warns man and beast of the approaching wheelman, as well as help beguile the cyclist's time when on a long journey.-Long Branch Cor. Philadelphia Times.

Pretty Straight. An officer patrolling Third street Saturday met a boy 14 years of age who had a dog muzzle tied over his face and was leading a small canine with a string. "What's this?" asked the blue coat as the trio halted.

"Common sense!" retorted the boy. "I've bit more'n six boys, while the dog never bit anybody. If the common council knew anything it 'ud muzzle the boys and let the dogs go."-Detroit Free Press,

A man named Dance is warmly recommended for postmaster of a Maryland town.

It is to be hoped he is a square Dance. Good advice is worth more than money, but somehow we can't make our creditors see it that way.

A New York humorous paper offers a prize for a pun on the Thistle. If Thistle do, send on your cash.

We are always thankful for any item of news" says an Alabama paper after recording that the editor's brother in law had been killed by lightning.

The New York street car lines have lost over 1,200 horses by the heat this year, but they will get even by freezing passengers to death in the cars next winter.

Dakota has a tayern called "The Old Woman." The old woman keeps the old man, which is not an isolated case by any manner of means. - Norristown Herald. Prof. Proctor figures that the globe is shrinking at the rate of two inches a year. If you hear the shingles on the horse barn ripping you will know what is going on. A prominent physician says dancing tends to softening of the brain. He is probably in error, but there is no doubt softening of the brain tends strongly to dancing. In Kalamazoo a man is expelled from the lodge after he has been carried home three times in a wheelbarrow. Twice on a wheelbarrow and once on a shutter doesn't count.

Mrs. John Andrews, of Stark County, Ohio, laughed so hard to see her husband trying to drive a pig out of the garden that she burst a blood vessel and died. The number of people who intended to go on that excursion train which went through the Chatsworth bridge, but finally didn't, is creeping rapidly up to the 10,000 mark. It is easy enough to abuse landlords for turning out their non-paying tenants, but it isn't so easy to find an editor anywhere in this country who is giving away the rent of fifteen or twenty houses.

All the inconsistencies do not belong to political parties. The spectacle of Powderly preaching temperance from his home in Pennsylvania, and the knights of labor selling beer at their picnic, will strike the country queerly.

RIOTING MINERS.

Sixty of Then Seriously Hurt-Whiskey said to be the Cause of Trouble

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 22. - Yesterday at Glen Lyon, more than 300 miners engaged in a riot. The combatants were composed of men of all nationalities. The Susquehanna coal company for the first time paid their men on Sunday, which day has always been chosen by the merchants to make their collections. Rev. Mr. Taggart, of Glen Lyon, has frequently preached against what he called such a desecration; besought to put a stop to it if possible. Yesterday he organized posse of church members for that purpose. The men got wind of it and made up their minds to resist any overtures of the kind. The collectors made their appearance as usual, and the excitement of the moment was augmented by an almost universal indulgence in beer and whiskey. As the day advanced the church men became alarmed at the situation and kept themselves in hiding. The feeling of antagonism was so intense, however, that it finally culminated in a free fight between men of opposite nationalities. Mad with drink it was not long before hundreds of men were furiously engaged in a battle with sticks stones and clubs. The riot lasted for half an hour, and many men were struck down on all sides. The riot ceased only when its participants were too few to carry it on. To day it is reported that more than sixty of the rioters were severely hurt, many of them fatally.

A TRIP TO ENGLAND.

How Canada is Viewed in the Old World -Emigrants That We Are to Get.

Ottawa Journal. W. R. Mingaye, inspector of ports in Manitoba, who has just returned from a visit to England, where he was on private business, said: "Things look lively in England, and from what I could see Canada is attracting more public attention than any of the other colonies. The establishment of this permanent Canadian exhibition in London is attracting much public attention, and is favored by some of the most prominent men in England. The merchants of England look to Canada as a storehouse from which in the near future they will be able to draw supplies, principally in grain, cattle, horses, etc." "How is Canada regarded in the matter of a field for emigration?" "Well, this colonial exhibition has done worlds of good for Canada in that direction, and I think we will ere long feel the marked effects of it in a change in class as well as an increase in the number of emigrants. It will have the effect of producing a much higher class of emigrant farmers for our Canadian North-West."

Rochester Police Bungling.

Rochester is greatly agitated over a mysterious murder of Mrs. Alonzo A. Stone. The husband left the house at noon. His wife was ironing. He worked all the afternoon and returned shortly after 6 o'clock. The wife was missing. The husband went in search of her and found her bloody body in a dark corner in the cellar. She had been killed with a club. The horrified husband gave the alarm, and when the stupid police arrived they immediately took the husband in custody and locked him up. A little four year old son said a strange man killed his mother in the kitchen with a club. Neighbors saw a dirty tramp near the house in the afternoon. Notwithstanding this evidence the husband was kept in jail 48 hours, The people held an indignation meeting and demanded his release. He is now at liberty, almost insane from grief. The action of the police was stupid and cruel.
