Anglin, of the city occupies the pulpit next Sunday in Mr. Krupp's absence, -Miss Nettie Purdy is visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. B. Spike. -T. Hartley, is pushing forward the construction of his house. - Dr. Spankie visited the schools in this vicinity on Monday of this week and also attended a special meeting of the ratepayers of Dixon's school. At this meeting the trustees were authorized to borrow money to erect a brick school house such as will be a credit to the neighborhood. The Excelsiors and Battersea second nine play a match on the grounds of the latter on Saturday.

TAMWORTH.

Sept. 11. - Last night burglars affected an entrance into the dry goods store of I. A. Fraser and D. E. Rose's drug store. From the former they secured clothing of various kinds, and from Rose's they obtained a few watches, chains, etc., and about $10 in cash. One Kellar was arrested on suspicion, but as no guilt could be fastened on him he was acquitted. This is the second burglary here within a short time and some night protection is apparent. - An old pioneer of this township, James Prout, died to-day. He was 95 years old, and spent the greater part of his life in this district. - Revival services are in progress in the M.C., led by Rev. F. B. Stratton. From the interest taken in this work good results are looked

A Pleasing Duty. "I feel it my duty to say," writes John Borton, of Desert, P.Q., "that Burdock Blood Bitters cured my wife of liver complaint, from which she had been a chronic sufferer. Her distressing, painful symptoms soon gave way, and I can highly recommend the medicine to all suffering as she did.

REAR ADMIRAL FRANKLIN.

Career of a Brave and Distinguished Officer Lately Retired.

During the career of Rear Admiral Samuel R. Franklin, U. S. N., lately retired, that officer saw a good deal of active service. sylvania, and appointed to the navy February 18, 1841, four years before the establishment of the Naval academy at Annapolis. He was attached to the frigate United States, Pacific squadron, 1841-43; the storeship Relief, Pacific squadron, 1845-47, and was present at the demonstration made upon Monterey, where the Mexicans offered no resistance, the same place being occupied without a battle. In 1847 he was on duty at the Naval school. He REAR ADM'L FRANKLIN. was promoted a passed midshipman August 10, 1846. From 1849 to 1852 he was on duty on the Independence, Mediterranean squadron, and on the coast survey, navy department, from 1853 to 1855. He was commissioned lieutenant, Sept. 14, 1855, and assigned to duty at the Naval academy, 1855-56.

His record during the civil war was a good one. As a lieutenant he was a volunteer on board the Roanoke in the action with the Merrimae in March, 1862, in Hampton Roads, and in which the Congress and the Cumberland were destroyed. Franklin was executive officer of the Dacotah in the attack upon the batteries at Sewell's Point, Va., in the spring of 1862,

He was commissioned lieutenant commander July 16, 1862, and given command of the steam gunboat Aroostook of the James river flotilla. He was with the same vessel in the Western Gulf Blockading squadron in 1863. Subsequently, in 1864, he was placed on special duty at New Orleans, and was on the staff of Acting Rear Admiral Thatcher in the operations in Mobile bay in the spring of 1865, where he was the naval representative demanding the surrender of the city of Mobile. He was in command of the steamer Saginaw of the North Pacific squadron in 1866-67 In September, 1866, he was conmissioned commander, and was on ordnance duty at Mare Island, Cal., in 1868-69; in command of the steam sloop Mohican, North Pacific squadron, in 1869-70; from 1870 to WHITE FLANNELS, 18.2 on equipment duty, navy yard, Mare Island, Cal. On Aug. 13, 1872, Franklin was commissioned a captain and placed in command of the steam frigate Franklin, in the European station, where he was on duty from 1573 to 1576. In 1577 Capt. Franklin was in command of the navy yard, Norfolk, Va. He was raised to the rank of a commodore, and shortly afterward made a rear admiral. Jan. 24, 1885.

Professor G. Brown Goode.

Professor G. Brown Goode, appointed to the FLANNELS TO WEAR, commissionership of fish and fisheries, has been connected with the commission from the beginning, having been employed in 1875 in connection with the government fishery board for the Centennial exhibition; in 1877 as statistical expert in behalf of the state department at Halifax; in 1878 in behalf of the National museum at Gloucester; he was one of the party at the coast stations taking part in the marine explorato the beginning of 1881 he was in the emtion of the public. They were badly needed. | ploy of the superintendent of the tenth cen-Jonas says he lost a forty pound salmon a sus in charge of the fishery statistics. Since 1875 the commissioner of fisheries has from time to time intrusted him with the conduct. of special investigations, the results of which reports. In 1880, at the International Fisheries exhibition at Berlin, and in 1883, upon a similar occasion at London, he was appointed by the president to represent, in the capacity of United States commissioner, the fishery interests of the nation, including the work of the United States fish commission and the fish commissions of the several states. When appointed Professor Goode was assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, in charge of the National museum, which he organized with consummate ability. In this capacity he received a salary of $3,500 a year. His seventeen years of unremunerated labors in furtherance of the objects of the fish commission elearly indicate that he is fully qualified to accept the office of tish commissioner.

A Disgusted Circus Man.

Old Dan Rice was an odd character and given to terse sayings. He once advertised for a double somersault performer and there were fifty applicants. One man said he "used to" do the act, but was out of practice. Another said he believed he would soon "get there." And so on. When they all made their excuses, claims and promises, old Dan, with deep disgust, said: "Twenty-five used to be's' and twenty-five 'going to be's,' and not a --- 'is-er' in the lot. I want an 'is-er.'" -Globe-Democrat.

A Dutch Man o' War.

A picture is here given of the Dutch frigate Konningin Emma der Nederlands (Queen Emma of the Netherlands) as she lay recently in the Erie basin, Brooklyn, for repairs. This vessel is a good specimen of the modern Dutch man o' war. As she lay in the dry dock her port holes were all thrown open and a typical scene of life on a man o' war was presented to the spectator.

The vessel registers 3,000 tons, and carries a battery of fourteen guns of Krupp and Hotchkiss manufacture. Six of these guns will carry a shot 6,000 yards. Five torpedo boats are lashed to her bulwarks. She can go through the water at the rate of fourteen knots an hour. She was built in 1879 entirely of steel, with a composition sheathing of wood. She hails from New Dieppe. Her crew numbers 325. This vessel figured actively in the war that the Dutch waged against Sumatra in 1881.

She is now bound for the Antilles, where she has been ordered to cruise.

Concerning Carpets!

RICHMOND, ORR & CO.

Hereby inform the public that the English manufacturers, having sent them late advanced quotations for Carpets, this is positively the last season that Brussels Carpets can be sold at present low prices. Anticipating this advance the importations have been very large, the patterns most carefully chosen, and the variety of these patterns made greater. Those then who want, or are likely to want Carpets soon, will find present prices the lowest on record, and much less than next season.
