THE CHALLENGE CUP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. - A big delegation of Canadians who have come to see the yacht race arrived in the city this morning, and went at once to the Hotel Brunswick, which will be the headquarters of the Canadian yachtsmen. Three clubs are represented on the delegation: The Toronto and Kingston clubs and the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto. Several gentlemen prominent in Montreal also arrived this morning to see the race, and some came in to-day from St. Catharines and Niagara. NEW YORK, Sopt. 27 .- Patriotism governs the betting on the International yacht race to a large extent, and odds ranging all the way from 10 to 9 to 2 in favor of the Boston boat are offered. Among those, however, who are competent to approximately judge the merits of the two yachts from an inspection of their hulls and rigs, or from studying the published lines and photographs, more conservatism is evinced, and there is little disposition to give odds either way. Some of the professional bookmakers have some time between race days to lay some money on this event, but as far as can be discovered they have steadfastly refused to offer inducements one way or another. I the race takes place to-day the chances will be decidely in favor of the Scotch racer. The wind is very light and there are no in dications of a change. The race will start from buoy 18, which is off Owls Head, the first knob or hill below the landing where passengers leave the bay ridge boats to take the cars for Coney Island. Commodore Gerry's steam yacht Electra will come to an anchor directly off the shore from this buoy, and perhaps two or three blocks, say six hundred feet, away. Meantime the big son. racers will be cruising around the north of the Electra. At about 10 o'clock a gun will be fired from the Electra and the American flag will be hauled down from her fore truck and a square blue flag set in its place. That will mean "Get ready." Ten minutes later another gun will be fired. The square blue flag will be hauled down and a triangular flag set. This means "Go," and the yachts will go whooping as fast as the wind can carry them down between the Electra and the buoy. They will then work through the Narrows, keeping to the west of the Brownstone island fort, and thereafter they will keep inside of the two rows of buoys that mark the regular channel followed by abruptly to the left, and the yachts will still follow the channel. The corner around which they turn is called the Southwest Spit; buoys 10 and 84 mark it. Then they will sail outside of Abtack buoy, with buoys on the end of the shoal off the point of the Hook, after which they will make the best of their way to the red Sandy Hook lightship anchored about four miles out to sea. They will round this and skurry back over the course they came by until they arrive just below the green earthen walls of Fort Wadsworth, on Staten Island. Here the black buoy, No. 15, will serve to mark one end of the home line, the Electra serving as the other, and as in the chart."

The Excursionists and the Crews.

The excursion steamers have taken out licenses to carry 32,000 people to witness the contest. The Thistle will carry thirtytwo men before the oaks, including six picked men from the steam yacht Mohican. In addition William Fife, of Fairlie, a designer, a man of repute as a seamen, as will J. B. Hilliard, J. M. Clark, Edgar Auchincloss, Andrew Coates, Donald Matthewson, Sailmakers Rattry, Reed and Moore; Capt. Charley Barr, a brother of the Thistle's skipper; and Capt. Black, of the Gracie, will be on board. So with Mr. Bell and Mr. Watson forty-seven souls will be carried on the cutter. On the Volunteer Secretary Robert W. Wylie, of the Royal Clyde yacht club, represents the Thistle. Beside south side Long islanders, Bayonne oyster men, and other expert sailors, the Volunteer will carry J. K. Buck, of the Mischief, Dr. Brigant, who always sails when General Paine does; E. A. Willard, chairman of the regatta committee of the Larchmont yacht club; Capt. Joseph Elsworth, Capt. Terry, of the schooner yacht Grayling, and Capt. Berry, of the Mystery. The latter will be on hand to make the patent sheaves in her blocks hum. There will be a few less on the Volunter than on the Thistle.

A Slip of Some Sort. NEW YORK, Sept. 27. - The cup which was to have been presented to James Bell, the owner of the Thistle, by the United Caledonian associations of North America, is likely not to be given at all. Ex-Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, who was to make the presentation, has not put in an appearance. Mr. Bell denies having any know ledge of the affair.

Crane as a Pitcher.

Toronto News. No small measure of Toronto's victory is ability to curve ball so much as in the tremendous speed he possesses and the uncertainty batsmen feel as to where any ball he pitches is going to light. He has nothing but an out-curve, a drop, and a wide ball he pitches to a left-hand batsmen, but with these he is singularly effective, because the average batsman hates to go near the plate with him in the box. He cannot begin to curve a ball with Baker, but Baker is not so effective, simply because the batsmen do not fear him. 12:35 p.m.—The yachts are now gaining
