INTERESTING THE PEOPLE IN THE EDUCATION OF INDIANS.

A Lot of Young Indians in the City-The Public Meeting To-Night - Harvest Services in the First Methodist Church-The Decorations and the Music on the Occasion.

On Saturday afternoon the Rev. E. F. Wilson arrived in the city from Ottawa | conference, preached two eloquent sermons with thirty educated, English speaking, Indian children, from the Shingwank and Wawanosh homes at Sault Ste Marie. These institutious are under the control of the Church of England, and by them a great deal of good is effected among Indian children. The homes are kept up by public subscriptions and a government grart of about $2,000, the total yearly cost of maintenance being about $10,000. The pupils in | being Revs. G. S. Eldridge, S. G. Bland and the city at present came from Sault Ste Marie to attend the Sunday school jubilee held at Montreal a few days ago, and are gathered from the following tribes: Ojibbeways, 16; Pottowatamis, 3; Ottawas, 5; Blackfeet, 2; Delawares, 2; Sioux, 2. Of these thirty, twenty are boys and ten girls.

Yesterday, in the Anglican churches, Rev. Mr. Wilson had the Indian children, and gave a short history of the Indian homes, Shingwank and Wawanosh, explaining how they came into existence. In the year 1872 he took with him an Indian chief who lived near Sault Ste Marie to England. While there they held meetings in different places, and through their united efforts raised in a short time about £800 sterling. This money was gathered for the purpose of establishing the homes he had alluded to, in which Indian boys and girls are taught trades and educated so that they will be, able, when they become of age, to earn their living among white people in this country. The building erected was a long frame one, and in it could be accommodated 40 pupils. This institution was called the Shingwauk home. It was short-lived, and at the end of six days was burned down, together with every thing in it. Indian children occupying it at the time barely escaped with their lives. This calamity, however, helped the work along wonderfully. By the end of a year after the fire $10,000 had been raised, and with this money a strong substantial stone building was erected, the same that is now being used as a home. In it there is accommodation for 60 pupils.

In the year 1879 another stone building was put up for Indian girls it will hold 26. Three years ago a chapel was erected, at a cost of $4,000, and last winter a structure, used as an hospital, was built. These papers, and many applied and received their building are of stone. The hospital will hold six patients in case of sickness. Last winter there were 86 pupils in the houses and many of them came a long distance. They had 63 pupils, but want of funds has compelled a reduction in this number. The speaker hoped that this state of affairs would only be temporary, and instead of being compelled to reduce the number of pupils he would be enabled to increase it. He stated his object in coming east with the pupils. They had visited Montreal, Ottawa and Carleton Place, and on Tuesday morning would leave for Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Wilson explained that there were 130,000 Indians in Canada, and 25,000 Indian children fit to attend school. He thought the plan of taking the children into schools like those under his supervision was a good one. It removed them from the baneful influence of their parents and homes. It was not only an act of philanthropy but it was also an act of wisdom. There were a few Indian homes in Canada besides the Shingwauk and Wawanosh. Some were directed by Protestants, and others were looked after by Roman Catholics, but there was not accommodation in all of the schools for 400 children. The United States was leading Canada in this work, and is doing more for the civilization of the Indians. In the states there are thirty-two Indian schools, and each of them will accommodate over 200 pupils.

Mr. Wilson desired that Canadians should be aroused to take an interest in his work among the Indian people, and had, therefore, brought the pupils with him to show what education will do for them. He referred to the two Blackfeet boys, and stated that they were the first of the tribe who had attended school. They lived in the Rocky Mountains, and he got them while on a visit to their settlement. He had great difficulty in getting the consent of their people to allow them to leave home. These Indians are strongly averse to education. In the tribe there are 6,000 souls, and all are as wild as they possibly can be. The two boys have been three months in the home.

To-night the children will give an entertainment in the city hall.

Harvest Service in Sydenham St. Church. Seldom has Sydenham St. Methodist church been more crowded than last night at the special harvest praise service. Long before the hour of commencing service it was evident that sitting room would be at a premium. The decoration of the church which was done solely by the choir, was very beautiful and suggestive. The railings of the pulpit and communion were tastefully festooned with creeping vines, whilst on the table was a pyramid of all kinds of fruit, and on the back ground sheaves of wheat, barley and oats, the whole being surrounded with a profusion of flowers and plants. The organ was also decorated with bunches of wheat, cats and grasses. It was all very effective. The regular order of the ordinary service was dispensed with, to allow of the set programme being carried out. After the opening voluntary on the organ, the choir rendered the anthem, "O Come Let us Worship," by Mendelssohn, Mr. Wodell taking the solo in fine voice, after which the hymn, "Come ye Thankful People, Come," was sung. Following the opening prayer the anthem, "The Lord is My Shepherd," by Shaw, was given. Between the first lesson (Psalm LXV) and the second lesson (Matthew XIII) Miss Fralick sang magnificently the grand new song by H. R. Shelley, "Resurrection." on Monday night all hands were called up During the offertory the choir sang the and put on life preservers. The Williamsville church presented an attractive appearance yesterday, made so by the many flowers and mottoes which surrounded the platform and other portions of the church. Rev. S. G. Eldridge, B.A., one of the foremost young men of the Montreal In the evening the church was crowded by an attentive congregation, who enjoyed a rich treat while listening to the discourse taken from John XVII. 3: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." The children's meeting in the afternoon was one of the most enthusiastic of the kind ever held in the church, the speakers W. Sparling. Mr. Shaw conducted the singing, which was led by Miss E. Smith on the organ, and Mr. A. Abernethy on the cornet. All the pieces were new and sang with spirit by the children. This evening the closing service will be held, with addresses by Revs. G. S. Eidridge and J. W. Sparling, and Mr. B. M. Britton and Mr. R. R. Rowe; the last named assumes charge of the school in the stead of Mr. A. Shaw, who has been connected therewith for the past eight years.

Farewell to Mr. Bell.

Yesterday afternoon, at the close of the Sunday school in the Third Methodist church, Mr. W. P. Bell, who has long been superintendent of this school, and who has severed his connection with the same, bid it an adieu. He thanked teachers, officers and scholars for the hearty support given him in the absence of the pastor, who is, we hope, to return to his charge this week, and who will undoubtedly act as superintendent and teacher of the first bible class. The class will, we trust, shortly exceed its former dimensions. -- Com.

OGDENSBURG INCIDENTS.

Pardons in the Jubilee Year-Death of a Very Remarkable Character.

Ogdensburg News. There reside in this section many men who deserted from the British army. Some time ago it was announced that the queen would pardon all who would apply, the time for application being limited to four months to residents of foreign countries. The matter was given general publicity by newspardon. The time has about expired and those who rely upon sponging their news are just learning the matter. Richard New ton, who recently was granted a pardon, is in daily receipt of letters of inquiry from those who are liable to get left, and who have heard of his success through the village gossip. The queen should never pardon a man who will refuse to take and pay for a newspaper.

Ben Denny, a familiar character on our streets, has died after a short illness. Ben lost in the Judson bank failure over $700. His faith in banks was shaken, and he was often heard to say that "owing to the muchness of the brains and the softness of the foundation the thing broke." Ben followed the trade of a glazier, was sober and in dustrious, and it was surmised that since the failure he had again accumulated money and hidden it away. After the funeral the house was ransacked from cellar to garret. In one of the rooms stood a large, home made, one legged table. As a last resort the top was taken off and examined. The top was filled with Plaster Paris and painted. The composition was dug out and a small leather bag found containing $600 in gold; $50 was afterwards found in the leg of an old stool.

THE FOOT BALL MATCH AT PETER-BORO ON SATURDAY.

The Score Fourteen to Four in Favour of the Local Club - The Athlete Who Especially Distinguished Themselves -The Kingston Men Entertained in a Handsome Way.

The first matches in the Ontario rugby football union were played on Saturday. The Kingston club was tied against Peterborough and the team left for that town on Friday night by K. & P. and C. P. R. rail ways. The match took place on the fine grounds of the Peterboroughamateur, athletic association and was witnessed by a large number of people, many of whom were ladies. The afternoon was bright and warm and it might be called perfect football weather. The Peterboroughs won the toss, and Kingston had the kick off. Captain White kicked the ball well down to the Peterborough goal and there it was held for about ten minutes, by quick play by the Kingstons, their opponents making a stubborn defence. By good scrimmaging the ball was gradually crowded over the line and dropped on by Fralick, but, owing to a dispute as to who touched down, the referee decided to give a touchdown without a try for goal, thus giving four points to Kingston.

Peterborough was also forced to rouge twice making the score 6 to 0. Then the ball was again forced over the Peterborough line and a touchdown secured by Bureau, but as the heel mark was not made by the player who touched it down the referee again decided to allow a draw without privilege of a try for goal. Soon after this half-time was called, and after ten minutes' rest, goals were changed and the ball kept dangerously near the Peterboroughs' sticks, with occasional rushes making some good runs. The ball was then fairly pushed over Peterboroughs' line and a touchdown secured by Skinner. A try for goal by Mitchell was unsuccessful, thus making the Kingstons' score 14. Then after nan who made a fine run down the field and | have reached this country. a well earned touchdown was got for Peterborough. A good but unsuccessful try for goal was made by the Peterboroughs' back and play was resumed. Both sides now worked to the utmost for the rest of the time. Near the close Mowat got the ball | on Peterboroughs throw in and made a good run getting a touchdown, but this was disallowed it being claimed that the throw in had not been straight. No more points were obtained by either side and when time was called the score was 14 points to 4 in favour of Kingston. For Peterborough Darcy, Strickland and A. Smith, forwards, and Gordon Smith, D. Brennan and Kincaid, backs, were conspicuous for their good and steady play. The Kingstons played a good game throughout, and it would be hard to make special mention of any player. The Kingston team was as follows: Back, Elliott; half backs, Farrell and Patterson; quarter backs, White and Bureau; forwards, Fralick, Skinner, Mowat, Loucks, Mitchell, Mc-

Both sides played one man short. The Kingstons were hospitably entertained in the evening by the Peterborough club at the Grand Central hotel and a jolly time was spent until the train left.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late Lydia Elson, Odessa.

The subject of this sketch was born in Florida, Ont., in 1837, the daughter of the late Cornelius Smith. In 1855 she was married to Joshua Elson and moved to Odessa, where she lived until her death. Nine children were the result of the union, of which seven children and an affectionate husband survive to mourn the loss of an indulgent mother and kind wife.

About one year ago her health began to fail her, and soon disease, consumption, began to do its deadly work. During her long sickness she ever confessed her confidence in Him who doeth all things well, and committed herself to His keeping. All that means and kind friends could do was done to relieve her suffering. On Sunday morning she bade farewell to the dear ones around her, and her spirit took its flight to dwell with the loved ones who had gone on before. ## More Lamps Are Wanted.

The light afforded by the electric lamps is inadequate to fill the requirements of the city. There is not a sufficient number of lamps, and the consequence is many streets are not as well lighted now as when gas was used. A citizen, living on Gore street, says it is not lighted at night.
