MEDICINES.

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflic mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poisoning, uncleanliness, and various other causes, Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before. O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health. - Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed, until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been entirely healed, and my health Is fully restored. I am grateful for the good this medicine has done me, - Mrs. Ann O'Brian 158 Sullivan st., New York.

Mrs. A. M. Holloway has been awarded the contract to clean the streets of Buffalo for five years for $447,000. Gen. Phil Sheridan speaks of the so called army of the United States as a very small one; but the real army, he says, consists of 60,000,000 people, and if the people are satisfied with it, nobody has a right to complain. H. M. Warner, the patent medicine proprietor, is a tall, vigorous man, with gray mustache and goatee and a bronzed, unwrinkled face. He is about 45 years of age. His fortune is a large one and he spends his money freely. Like most great men, he is an enthusiastic fisherman. Gen. Sherman has in his possession, at his office in New York, the original copy of the song, "Sherman's March to the Sea." It is beautifully written on the most ordinary kind of note paper, the verses being separated by sketches, in pen and ink, of flags, stars and other national emblems.

That Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is the model of the courteous traveler is the opinion of The London Daily News, and it adds: "All future, English writers on the United States ought to resolve not to be outdone by him in this quality, however much, they may be obliged to fall short of him in others."

Carl Schurz is said to be permanently crippled by the result of the fall on the ice last winter, that was at first believed to have caused only a sprain. His invalid condition has forced him to abandon such exciting topics as politics, and he amuses himself with the Shakespeare-Bacon question and the reading of Heine and other favorite authors.

George Francis Train's face is the color of old bronze from exposure to the sun in Madison square, where he sits all of every fine day on a bench talking to the little children and writing answers to questions put to him by adults. His hair is steel gray, but as curly as it was when he was pointed out as handsome and fashionable. His eccentricities never went so far as to make him careless of his appearance. He always dresses neatly and with good materials.

Mrs. Dahlgren, the widow of the admiral, will take up her residence in Washington during the winter. For several years past Mrs. Daldgren has lived at her country seat, near South Mountain, which is said to represent a medieval castle. She owns nearly 8,000 acres of land in Maryland, and is in recoipt of a large income. She does a great deal of good with her money, and has established schools and libraries. The people in her neighborhood always speak of her as the "lady of the castle."

Verdi, the composer, is said to be very busy over a new hospital he is building, which has cost him $12,000, and has ten beds ready for patients. He has attended himself to all the details of construction. He wears a large Panama hat when he strolls over his estate in the morning, and usually reaches the hospital by dawn. He also breeds horses, which are said to be developing into good racing stock. In the garden of his villa is a monument over the body of a favorite dog, with the inscription, "To a true friend." All the peasants around Sant Agata know him, and greet him affectionately as his modest carriage passes.

The perfect ease with which Lady Brassey can adapt herself to the force of circumstances may be gathered from the following illustration, which happened at Williamstown. Lord and Lady Brassey had arrived from Melbourne at the Williamstown terminus, expecting to get a cab. No cabs were to be found, and Lord Brassey went in search of a vehicle of some sort to transport her ladyship to the Sunbeam. To obtain one was an imperative necessity, owing to the very inferior pedestrian powers of her ladyship. After traversing some distance his lordship lighted on a local vegetable hawker, whose services he enlisted and with whom he returned to the terminus. The cabbages, potatoes, carrots and sundry fruit boxes having been carefully placed in one corner and an extempore seat adjusted, the man of vegetables and his lordship assisted her ladyship aboard, and the grotesque carriage bore its occupants to the yacht. Lord Brassey, on parting with the hawker, gave him half a sovereign, and her ladyship shook him cordially by the hand and told him to call down and get an order for vegetables for the whole vessel during their stay.

The Telephone in St. Louis.

The subscribers to the telephone line in St. Leuis do not pay a fixed subscription to the company, but merely the sum of five cents for each communication. The collection of this sum is effected automatically by the apparatus itself. Above the transmitter there is a box containing a slit in the upper part. When the subscriber wishes to communicate with any one he places a five cent piece in the slit and takes the receiver from its book. The coin, in sliding, closes a circuit, a call is made and the subscriber can talk as long as he pleases, either with the office or another subscriber. When the conversation is finished he has only to hang up the receiver in order to give an automatic signal to break the communication, and the coin falls into a box whose key is carried by the company's collector. If the person with whom the subscriber wishes to speak is already in communication, the employe of the central office informs him of the fact by means of a contact upon which he presses and which sets a mechanism in operation that drives the coin to the side of the box, and when the subscriber hangs up his receiver the money is returned to him. More than 200 of these apparatuses are now in operation in St. Louis and are giving very good results. - Boston Tran-

Salt and Gas in Kansas. At Ellsworth, Ellsworth county, Kan., as a matter purely of speculation, some persons recently made up a fund to drill the earth to see what they could find. They were told by individuals learned in the geology of the region that the work would be fruitless, and advised not to waste the money, as there were no favorable indications. But the speculators went ahead with the drilling, and at a depth of 740 feet they struck a bed of pure salt, 160 feet thick, after which shale was encountered for 200 feet, and then, at a depth of 1,100 feet, a vein of natural gas was struck which promises to yield fuel in unknown quantities. -Scientific American.

A Recommendation.

I have been a severe sufferer from catarrh for the past fifteen years, with distressing pain over my eyes. Gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. About a year and a half ago I commenced using Elv's Cream Balm, with most gratifying results, and am to day apparently cured. Z. C. WARREN, Rutland, Vt.

From Symnes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hail, Simla, Jan. 5, 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir, - We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine. Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy that their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhoea and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Cholera, Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of the opinion that the substitution of of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST, TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharmacy Society of Great Britain: His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.
