Mr. Vernon later wrote a letter to the brother in which he said, as to the statement that he had charged David Scott with forgery, this is false. "I never charged him with this or any other criminal offense," said Mr. Vernon. "With all his faults, and they were many, he had a warm and generous heart, which gave him a large circle of friends." Mr. Scott said his investigation confirmed him in his belief that his brother had committed suicide by jumping from the suspension bridge at Niagara. Experts are examining the books of the firm and he hopes that every stain will be removed from his brother's memory.

BOMBS IN LINGG'S CELL.

WHAT DID THE ANARCHIST INTEND TO DO WITH THEM?

Destroy the Condemneds' Life Rather Than Submit to Execution |- The Visiting Will Now be Curtailed if it is Not Stopped-The Latest Sensation in Chi-

Chicago, Nov. 6. - In the cells of the condemned anarchists to-day, were tought six loaded bombs hidden away in a wooden box, concealed under a pile of newspapers. It was shortly after 9:30 o'clock when Lings and Engel were led from their cells to the consultation cage and the search began. Engel's cell was thoroughly examined. Beyond a few empty cigar boxes, fruit books and papers, nothing was found. Then the deputy sheriff entered Lingg's cell while its former occupant watched them with eager eyes. The Governor is Nonplussed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills. Nov. 7. - Governor Oglesby was thunder struck when he received the news of the finding of the bombs in Ling's cell. He read and re-read the dispatch, a cloud of gloom, vexation and anxiety swept over his face as the full import of the information dawned upon him. 'I can say nothing. I must say nothing whatever in regard to this matter. There is nothing l can properly say, and any opinion I might his brother's affairs. "I am surprised at your information, said Attorney General Hunt when the news was communicated to him. "Not only am I surprised, but I am heartily sorry. It puts a different phase on the matter so far as the opinion of a portion of the public is concerned, and it least shows that Lingg is as bad as he has been painted. As to what effect it will have on the governor of course,

I can not say." Governor Oglesby has within the past few days received several communications threatening violence if he refuses to extend executive clemency in behalf of the condemned anarchist. The Opinion of Capt. Schaack.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. - The bombs were placed in the hands of Schaack for examination and that officer reported that they appeared to have been designed for use by some of the condemned men as agents of self-destruction. From his knowledge of the methods of making bombs for various purposes the captain gave it as his opinion that the bombs found in Lingg's cell were intended to be used only as a means of cheating the gallows. It was doubtless the intention of Lingg, as well as of the other three, to put one end of the bomb in his mouth and light the fuse just as he would a cigar. The result, an explosion, would, it was believed, prove fatal.

The Amnesty Feeling Cooling.

spread like wildfire. A universal reaction apparent. Hundreds of citizens who had signed the petition for clemency wished they had never appended their names to the paper. The word "bombs" recalled the scenes of the Haymarket. One lieutenant of police sarcastically remarked: "Well, they ought to pardon Lingg away." The general opinion around the police station was that whatever might be the fate of the others Lingg's doom was sealed and he would have to go to the gallows.

There was a roar of voices at to-day's meeting of the trade and labor assembly, in favor of a petition to Governor Oglesby for clemency to the anarchists. A committee of three was appointed to convey the petition to Springfield.

A Brace of Birds Locked Up.

The news of the bomb discovery was received with jeers and laughs at the socialisthe Lingg explosives was not the only startler of the day. There was another, the import of which could not be guessed. As a result of it, however, John Van Plinksky, an alleged Polish count, and John Vetterrivas, by his own account a South American nabob, are locked up. They were caught hanging around the station house and peering into the cell windows. Capt. Schaack is tempted to believe that the two men had some felonious design upon his station.

Petitions for Clemency.

NEW HOME RULE SCHENE

MR. GILL. A MEMBER OF PARLIA-MENT. HAS SKETCHED IT.

The Future of the Government Somewhat Dependant Upon Its Success - Not Eager to Deal With the Land Law Some Very Bright Ideas.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. -T. P. Gill, M.P., telegraphs from Dublin to the Tribune, that a tory home rule scheme will shortly be submitted to the British cabinet by impor tant members of the party. Mr. Gill has seen a draft of the scheme. He says the idea is to establish in Ireland a strong centralized executive, depending immediately on the queen's government, and a parlialation but no effective control over the executive. This, it is thought, can be effect ed by a blunt proposal which shall have an effective ring about it to restore the Grat tan parliament. A bold and extensive creation of liberal and even nationalist peers Esmonde would, indeed, be a very material addition to the upper house. The nationa lists must be allowed to feel themselves strong in parliamer t even if they do not absolutely control it. The secret of the strength and independence of the executive will be found in the permanent taxes to be voted by the imperial parliament as a concomitant condition of the restoration of the Irish parliament. This will be variable only by regular act, and no such act will be passed against the will of the government. It Prospective Government Legislation.

LONDON, Nov. 7. Mr. Arnold Foster's scheme of land purchase, which is Mr. Glad stone's scheme over again, with the addition al security giving power to the lord-lieuten ant to tax whiskey and nearly all articles of common consumption in the country by a mere order in council, is believed to have been favorably entertained by the govern ment. It is at once odious and ridiculous. The extra security is entirely unnecessary. and would be bitterly resented by the Irish people, involving as it does, the idea that the taxes may be raised on the bare will of the executive. The government, however, is being pressed to adopt this or some other plan. The Spectator, among other journals. exhorts them, if possible, not to delay the settlement of the land question till another session. The chances are, however, they will postpone the question again. Land purchase is intensely unpopular here and is almost certain to wreck the government. The English local government bill will probably be the first item in the ministerial programme at next session.

His Will Not Inflexible.

DUBLIN, Nov. 5. - The Tullamore prison authorities have ordered that William O'Brien shall wear the uniform prescribe i by the regulations for convicts.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7. - Mr. O'Brien looks pale and worn, but his spirit is not subdued. He declares that if prison clothes are put on him he will tear them off and continue to do so as long as he has strength. The doctor who visits the prison has declared Mr. O'Brien to be suffering from weak action of the heart. and that one night on a plank in a dark cell, without bed clothing or neat, may kill DUBLIN, Nov. 7. - Mr. O'Brien resisted the attempt to force him to put on the uniform of the Tullamore jail yesterday. The prison doctor then directed the governor to desist on account of the unfavorable state of Mr. O'Brien's health.

Mr. Dillon spoke at Castlerea. He entreated his hearers to swear with him that as long as life and liberty remained they would do everything in their power "to avenge Mr. O'Brien, and to make suffer the hateful class who consigned this beloved and gifted Irishman to a felon's cell." The tory press and the landlords, he said, had certainly struck a heavy blow when they removed Mr. O'Brien, but everyone with an Irishman's blood would solemnly vow to strike back harder. The police did not in

CLAYTON DEVASTATED.

One Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of

Property Has Been Destroyed, CLATTON Nov. 7. - Last night Clayton experienced a conflagration destroying some of its finest stores, blocks, mills and dwellings. A fire broke out about 6 o'clock in the block owned by D. C. Potter & Son. and, aided by a strong wind, soon consumed that block and swept inward. The flames communicated to the store of James Haynes & Co., which was burned, and from thence to the Halpin block. The firemen laboured heroically, but this, too. went, and Robert Robinson's building and Robert D. Clark's new block followed. The firemen were in despair, and word was sent to Carthage for help. The firemen of that place responded. The bakery of C. P. Bass was burned and the fire communicated to the dwellings of William Hawes and Philo Clark, where the progress of the flames in that direction was checked. The fire then crossed the street, burning the residences of Hon. John Johnston and of Dr. A. Bain, and the residence of A. F. Barker, with their contents. At 8 o'clock the fire was under control.

The following firms were among the occupants of the buildings burned: Dewey Bros., furniture ; Whitney & Walts, clothing; G. H. McKinley & Co., dry goods and groceries; James Hayes, hardware; M. E. Frame, boots and shoes; D. C. Porter & Son, groceries; D. C. Porter & Son, undertakers; Robert Robinson, Wilcox & Mc-Carn, and W. D. Clark, grocers.

The efforts to save the Hubbard house and the Walton house were successful. The fire destroyed the best portion of the village, and the loss will aggregate $100,000 at least.
