 For Thanksgiving Dinner.
 A nice turkey with cranberry sauce, Virginia sweet potatoes, turnips and cabbage, with a glass of sweet cider, to be had at James Crawford's.

SPENDING OF THE DAY.

The Gunners on the Tramp—Other Ways of Demonstrating Their Happiness.

The woods are full of them!
 Of what? Why, alleged hunters.
 Thanksgiving day, you know!
 The woods resounded all day, and much to the gratification of the powder and shot dealers. Pounds of explosives were used, and generally to no purpose.
 On this bleak November day dry-goods' clerks, bank clerks, and others of this ilk don their gun boots, pea jackets and Tam O'Shanter and hie for the shooting grounds. They carry around fourteen pound guns, game bags, powder shot pouches and come home tired but happy. A few generally show squirrel tails or little birds as trophies, but the majority have aches for their trouble and blistered fingers as the chief reminder of their day's sport.
 There isn't any game in the woods, if you believe the fellows. The fun they had was in shooting at marks, but not one of them made a bull's eye.
 One gunner chased a squirrel up a tree and there the bushy-tailed creature chattered at the frenzied young man. He did fire, but his sight was poor and only a few grazes on the tree showed the course of the shot. And then he came home feeling that he wasn't a Carver or Buffalo Bill.
 This was one way of spending Thanksgiving day.
 All day the city streets were gay with equipages and pedestrians out in their best bib and tucker. The opera house was jammed in the afternoon and evening, and not a few wrestled with roller skates in the re-ascitiated rink.
 There were but few homes in which special dinners were not found. There was huge puddings and big turkeys, nuts and bon-bons, and the children were filled with delight over the grandeur of the feast provided. There was lots of amusement and all homes were blessed and made more fraternal than they had been in many days. Fathers chatted with their children and entered into their joys, and when night came felt grateful that the government had given him the privilege of having a thanksgiving service at home.
 And so the day went by, all rejoicing that they were permitted to testify, even in such ways for care and goodness during another year. Those who went to church and outwardly marked their gratitude, were not the majority in the city, but those who didn't go were none the less thankful. Some of them may not have thought much about the day, but their actions were indicative of joyfulness and thankfulness.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.
Monument of Mercy.
 Chicago News.
 John Most has designed a monument to commemorate the execution of the Chicago anarchists. Most himself is a monument to the forbearance and mercy of American law.
Bearing His Honors Meekly.
 Chicago Inter-Ocean.
 Judging from the ovation that Sullivan received in London, "a slugger is not without honor save in his own country."
A Change in Canada.
 Montreal Star.
 Civil service examinations work like a charm in the old country, while here it too often happens that any man who can command a score of votes has more influence than others who have their heads full of brains.
They'll Do and Dare.
 New York Sun.
 But society has dared, and it will continue to dare, to defend itself against anarchy, even if, instead of four anarchists, it is necessary to swing four thousand anarchists from the gibbet. But it will not be necessary. The Chicago hangings will make it unnecessary.

SUPPRESSING A VERDICT.
The Mitchellstown Case—O'Brien's Death Would be Avengeed.
 DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—The court of queen's bench has quashed the verdict of the coroner's jury at Mitchellstown in the case of the "victims of the police shooting on Sept. 9th. The court takes the ground that the inquest was illegal, the jury was irregularly impanelled and the coroner's conduct was illegal and partial.
 Mr. Michael Davitt, in a speech at Limerick to-day, said that Mr. O'Brien's life was far too precious to be sacrificed in a dispute about clothes. If he died in gaol his countrymen would know how to avenge him.

LATE ELECTION CASE.
Two Seats Made Vacant by the Courts—Both in the House of Commons.
 TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Judgment was given at Chatham on the Kent (Dominion) and West Kent (local) election petitions, Mr. Archibald Campbell, M.P., being unseated for bribery by agents, and the petition against Mr. Clancy, M.P.P., being withdrawn.
 TORONTO, Nov. 18.—East Northumberland election for the commons was declared void at Brighton. Dr. Mallory will again be the liberal candidate.
Glenburnie Farmers' Club.
 A meeting of the club was held on the 15th. The subject for discussion was the feeding and care of horses. Many addresses were made with beneficial effect. The subject of railroad crossings was taken up, as the feeling of insecurity at the state of the crossings is very strong. The action of the county council in regard to this matter was severely criticised, it being hardly safe to severely the lower depot at any time, and scarcely a month passes without an accident of some kind. Moved by W. Blacklock, seconded by J. Keenan, that the club entirely disapprove of the action of the county council in the matter of railroad crossings. Carried unanimously. The discussion for next meeting is "care and training of a colt from the time of foaling until he is broken to harness."
Rheumatic Pains
 Require no description, since, with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged; only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drugstores for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents.

Diphtheria.
 "Last January," says J. N. Teeple, of Orwell, Ont., "there appeared diphtheria in our neighbourhood. Doctors ran night and day, but I kept right to Haggard's Yellow Oil and brought my children through it all right." Yellow Oil cures all painful complaints and injuries.
