A Creaking Hinge

Li dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most exeruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, a number of which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my own case it has certainly worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, - R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system, - R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speed-ily restored to health. - J. Fream, Independence, Va.

ROCHESTER'S SHOE STRIKE.

Evidences that the Struggle for Higher Wages Will Very Soon Close.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec 13. - The strike of the shoe cutters in this city is approaching a crisis. On November 1st three hundred shoe cutters, all that were employed in the union shops of this city, threw down their tools because the manufacturers refused to give them an increase of wages amounting to $1.50 a week. Their action caused the stoppage of the factories, throwing out of work over three thousand persons, including many women and children.

The firm of Reynolds & Eddy, one of the largest in the city, acceeded to the demands of the strikers last week, and work at their factory was resumed. Their example was followed by Goodyear & Naylor, Phelan & Yorkey, and A. J. Johnson & Co.

The other manufacturers maintain their ground, and have just issued a manifesto calling upon their former employees to return to their work by Tuesday morning or to come after their tools, as the manufactur. ers will wait for them no longer.

This, the men assert, they will not do, and it is expected in labour circles that the employers will grant the demanded increase in wages. The outcome of the strike is regarded with great interest, as already great suffering is resulting to those thrown out of work.

Only a Woman's Voice.

The bell had rung and the car was about to start on its down town trip from the Exposition grounds yesterday afternoon, when he boarded the car. It did not require more than a glance to convince every one who saw him that he was drunk-very much so, in fact. He sank into an unoccupied seat in the corner, leaned his weary head against the fare box and in a moment was in that stupor which too much whisky produces. The driver evidently knew him and smiled as he said: "I'll attend to you when we get down here a piece.

In a few moments the car stopped and the driver stepped inside, shook the sleeper and told him in an auctioneer tone of voice to "wake up and get off." But the passenger did neither. Then a gentleman next him endeavored to arouse him, but beyond a muttered remark that could not be understood he remained a fixture in his seat.

This sort of thing was becoming monotonous when a little woman was seen approaching the car. A slight rain was falling, and she daintil; picked her way across the muddy street and stepped upon the car. She glanced inside but did not enter, and spoke but one word-"John." It was not a loud "John," but through the befuddled brain of that drunken sleeper it seemed to flash, penetrating and starting into life every faculty, and as though an electric battery had completed the circuit directly beneath him, he sprang up, and as gracefully as was possible to him left the car supported by that little woman, whose voice had almost sobered him.

The moral of this little incident can be arranged to suit the taste, but the superiority of the female voice under such circumstances cannot be doubted. - Atlanta Constitution.

Honesty of an Insured Man.

A leading mill mutual underwriter has had his faith in the honesty and good faith of business men strengthened in a very gratifying way lately. A cotton mill in a southern state insured in the mill mutuals of this city was recently damaged by fire. The loss was adjusted and the agreed sum paid in cash. When Sept. 1 came the officers of the mill, according to their custom, made an actual count of cotton on hand to balance their cotton account and mill delivery for the previous year.

Here we quote from the letter of the president to the underwriters: "To our surprise found we had more cotton on hand than our account called for. After careful examination we found that 200 bales, supposed to have been in warehouse No. 1-the one burned-were actually in No. 2 warehouse, and our claim for burned cotton was 200 bales in excess of our actual loss. The 200 bales, at average 453 pounds, 90,600 pounds at 111% cents, amounts to $10,079.25, which amount please deduct from amount you are due us, and divide same in proper proportions among all the companies at interest," The above mentioned amount was therefore returned the insurance companies. -Boston Bulletin.

The Oldest Canary.

Hearing of the great loss Mr. Joshua E. Willis had met with in the death of his well known pet canary, a reporter called upon him at his residence to question him about its history. "My canary that died this morning," said Mr. Willis, "was, I believe, the longest lived on record. He was born in 1863 and died yesterday, being over 24 years old. He was twice crippled, his leg fractured and his wing broken. He was always cheerful and a beautiful singer until about three years ago when he became blind, and, strange to say, refused to eat seed. Dick was an object of interest to all bird fanciers, and they frequently dropped in to ask about the 'old voter,' as he was called.

"I attribute his long life to feeding him on a little meat, particularly during the summer, when I gave him some three or four times a week. Occasionally I used to give him a small piece of fat salt pork, and I never gave him sugar, crackers or anything sweet. got the idea of giving him meat by watching him pick the feathers from his body, as all birds do, and taking the quill end in his mouth."-Philadelphia Enquirer.

A Good Paying Amusement.

The Battle of Gettysburg Panorama company declared a dividend which equals 13 per cent. on a capital of $360,000. Though the panorama is four or five years old, its drawing power is still great. Frequently its receipts reach $400 a day. No other picture ever so completely captured the popular fancy. During the first year or two of its existence the attendance was enormous. On one occasion $2,500 was paid into the box office between 10 o'clock in the morning and 9 at night. This was in the convention year of 1884. The company for a long time paid 10 per cent. a month dividends, keeping up this rate even after the capital stock was doubled. A good many small people owned a few shares of stock, and they gained each a little competence. The panorama's success gave a great impetus to panorama buildingall over the country. It led, besides, to popular joint stock enterprises in the lines of other amusements.—Chicago Herald.

MISS BRENNAN'S GOOD LUCK.

She Gets a Windfall And Is Not Puffed Up-Starting Homeward. Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Miss Theresa Brennan, the pretty and popular manager of the Englewood telephone exchange, is just now smothered under congratulations over the luck that has overtaken her. Shortly after she had taken her position at the office, she was informed that by the death of an uncle, John Brophy, she had fallen heir to $15,000, and the interest accruing since 1880. The information came from Ottawa, and with it an advertisement from an Ottawa paper asking the whereabouts of Miss Theresa Brennan and Miss A. M. Brennan, of Gananoque, for whom $30,000 had been deposited in an Ottawa bank since 1880. Miss Brennan lives with her brother, J. M. Brennan, in an unpretentious house at No. 350 Chestnut street where she was found by a reporter. She knew nothing of the circumstances under which it was left. Her sister, who shares the amount with her, came of age three months ago. Miss Brennan was highly pleased with her good fortune, and in company with her brother will leave next week for Ottawa. Miss Theresa is pretty and her prettiness is not artificial. She is also decidedly clever and sensible, and declares that her sudden elevation to affluence will not make her forget her friends. She is well and favorably known in society.

Canaries Instead of Snakes.

There is a young man of this town whose pink cheeks and handsome eyes, together with his general air of nattiness, make him a mighty interesting person to look upon. Yet that young man hes intervals when he drinks. In fact he rips the corks from many a bottle every night. In the morning he is just as clear eyed and handsome, and he said the other day that the only delirium he experienced was the conviction in his sleep that he must get up and drive the canary birds out of his shoes. The number of canary birds in his shoes is regulated by the quantity of rum he guzzles. If he has had two or twenty glasses on his evening rounds the respective number of birds frisk all night in his shoes. Perhaps some folks will say that canary birds are a heap sight better than snakes and devils and other hideous visitors who are reported to worry persons who think the cup is about all there is in this life.—New York Sun.

A Young Girl Cremated.

The first young girl to be cremated in America was 9-year-old Alida Weissleder, the daughter of the superintendent of the Brush Electric Light company in Cincinnati. Her body was burned last week at the crematory in that city. The corpse, wrapped in white alum linen, with white and yellow roses on the breast, was slid into the retort by two attendants, who at once retired, and in the stillness that followed the mourners could hear the puff and sizzle of the gases of the body as the heat devoured it. After an hour the blue flames stopped circling about the body, and a long white streak was seen where it had been. These ashes, when gathered up, weighed less than a pound. They were returned to the parents and will be preserved in an urn. It was the ninth incineration at the crematory.—New York Sun.

An Interesting Custom.

The Thakore Sahib of Morvi enforces a most interesting custom in his Indian dominion. There is at the head of each village one man who is responsible for the peace and honesty of the community. If a burglary is committed this man must hunt up the thief, and if he fails to find him is compelled to pay for the stolen goods out of his own pocket.-Chicago Herald.
