BURIED CITIES OF ARIZONA.

Ruins of a Civilization Said to Antedate the Pyramids.

The Hemenway expeditions under the direction of Frank Cushing, has been at work or several months and has excavated the ruins of a city three miles long and two miles wide. The exervations are not continuous, but have been made at various points along the main street and at the limits of the town, the extent of which is clearly established. Mr. Cushing acquired from the Zuni find the buried cities of the Salt River valley. The first one excavated is called Los Muertes, the city of the dead. Others that have been partially explored are El Pueblo de los Hornas, the city of ovens; El Ciudad de los Pueblitos and El Pueblo de los Piedras. But these are only a part of the chain of cities that once covered the desert. There are nineteen buried cities in the Salt River valley alone, and Los Muertos, which had a population of at least 10,000, is one of the smallest. The entire valley was once a system of cities with adjacent farms, and up in the mountains are sacrificial caves and pueblos of stone, many of which never have been explored and are entirely unknown to the wandering tourist and sightseer.

The people who lived in these cities were not Aztecs, as has been supposed. They were of the race that preceded the Aztecs, and had upon this continent a civilization older than the pyramids. This is proved by the human remains and relics found in the houses that have been dug out. Ethnological research prosecuted by Mr. Cushing by the comparative method demonstrates that the dwellers of the plain were Toltecs, and that they reached a high state of civilization many centuries before the Aztecs appeared. They were probably of Asiatic origin, but not Mongoloid. The Indian of the Pacific coast appears to be Mongoloid and a later immigrant from Asia. The age of the Toltee ruins is reckoned in thousands of years.

The ruins of Los Muertos are being thoroughly examined, because they are typical, and also because they have been buried, and therefore protected from the ravages of time, tourists and ranchers. Twenty-two large blocks of buildings have been uncovered, and three car loads of relics have been sent to Boston. These relics consist of pottery, implements and skeletons. One of the ruined buildings measures 400 by 375 feet, another is 480 feet long, and many of the buildings are 300 feet square. The adobe walls are sometimes seven feet thick and two stories high. Connected with each building is a Frank Keller, Frank, Mellow, George pyral mound, around the base of which are the funeral urns containing the ashes of cremated Toltecs. Entrance to the buildings were sometimes through doorways and sometimes through holes in the roofs. Each building was divided into a great number of small rooms, indicating a large population to each block. The roofs were of concrete, supported by timbers, and most of them have fallen in. Here and there the concre remains in position, retaining an impression of timbers that have disappeared utterly.

It is evident that these cities were destroyed by earthquakes. In most cases the roofs have fallen in and the side walls have fallen outward. Time has disintegrated the adobe blocks, and the rains have spread the material so evenly that the buildings are indicated only by slight irregularities in the surface. The work of excavation is simply to clear away the surface material. That the cities were suddenly overthrown is proved by the finding of skeletons under the fallen roofs and walls in positions indicating violent deaths. One skeleton, photographed as found, shows that the man was caught under the falling roof and thrown upon his face. His chest is pushed forward by the weight, and his right hand, stretched out as he fell, is crushed and flattened. The large number of bodies found proves that the calamity was widespread and complete.-Cor. New York Sun.

Keely and the Occult Powers.

Mme. Blavatsky's opinion of Keely and his motor ought to be as good as anybody's. She wrote substantially this about them two years ago: "Keely is a psychic, and has discovered something of the power he claims, but he relates it to the wrong source, and is, and will be, unable to communicate it to others. Were he to succeed he would be known as the benefactor of the rich, and the rich would destroy society as it exists. The guardians of occultism do not permit a mighty power such as Keely has discovered past ten years and have tried a number of to exist in sound to become the property of a race until it is further advanced in things spiritual than is ours. Humanity will have to travel forward thousands of years before sound—one of the greatest powers in nature -is fully comprehended, and Keely will have to be reincarnated again, and perhaps several dozen times before he can realize the practical uses of vibratory sympathy."-New York Sun.

Ingenious Method of Smugglers.

Adolph Silverstein, said to be a New Yorker, and two partners were tried in London on Tuesday for smuggling, and the evidence disclosed an ingenious plan for evading the English duty. The tobacco in question was valued at £1,700, and the duty on it would have been £1,600. It was put up in cotton bales and shipped as cotton. Holes were made in the bales and little tufts of cotton placed in them to better carry out the deception. On the voyage over the holes were widened by rats, and the customs inspectors at Liverpool probed them and discovered the tobacco. They allowed the shipment to go on to London and then arrested the three men who claimed the "cotton."-Chicago

To Traverse Greenland.

The director of the public museum at Bergen, Norway, Scientist Nansen, is about to make a voyage of exploration of a peculiar kind. He wants to traverse Greenland from east to west. Landing at Cape Dan he will proceed on skates to the interior, attempting to reach the western coast near the bight of Dirko. Two Laplanders and one Norwegian will accompany him. Provisions will be transported on sleds. The distance of 400 miles Nansen expects to travel in less than twenty days. The expenses of the undertaking will be raised by public subscription.-Chicago News.

A Peculiar Railroad Accident. A driving wheel of a locomotive that was drawing a passenger train burst recently near Milford, Pa. One piece whizzed past the fireman's head and passed, screaming like a shell from a cannon, through the baggage car, the smoking car, and a passenger coach without doing injury to any person on the train. The train was running at the rate of forty miles an hour when the accident occurred.-New York Sun.

The Case Settled.

In the case of Allan vs. Flynn, tried on the 23rd Dec. at Perth, was on Wednesday decided by Judge Senkler in favor of the of the plaintiff, Thomas Allan, Perth. The plaintiff, as will be remembered, sued Robert Flynn, of Mountain Grove, for breach of contract to deliver certain maple lumber ordered from him. The defendant contended that the plaintiff should have accepted the lumber at an earlier period than he wished to take it, and that on plaintiff's refusal the lumber was resold. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for $199, the amount claimed.

Ely's Cream Balm.

I have been troubled with catarrh for the remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head. -George E. Crandall; P. M., Quonochawntang, R. I.

was troubled with catarrh for seven years previous to commencing the use of Ely's Cream Balm, some five months ago. It has done for me what other so-called cures failed to do, cured me. The effect of the Balm seemed magical. - Clarence L. Huff, Biddeford, Me.

Just Where He Makes a Mistake. Toronto Mail.

If Mr. King's story is true—and it is not satisfactorily denied-Mr. Baird is no ordinary politician. In fact, he is so extraordinary that parliament is not the place for him. Mr. Baird thought last session that a man could fairly represent the people in parliament though not elected to do so. He now imagines that a seat in the commons is a legitimate article of commerce.
