LETTER FROM QUEBEC

(Translated from the French.)

GENTLEMEN: I have deferred writing, the better to testify to the benefits derived from the use of your SIMMONS'S LINIMENT. It has done wonders among all the people who have used it about here.

I can testify that in every case where I have used it upon myself I have been very well satisfied.

Mr. N. Mooney, of St. Sylvester, had a bad leg which was said to be incurable. I told him to use Simmons's Liniment and it has effected a complete cure in a very short time. His neighbor, Mr. John Bevilin, having received a serious cut on his leg, Mr. Mooney took him the Liniment, and having used it, found himself completely cured.

I have been assured of the cures of these people and the remedy having become known, it has created quite a demand, so please come as far as 33 miles to procure it for themselves.

Mr. Wm. Bennett, of St. Ferdinand, has had it some time for himself, and he has since bought it for his friends, who suffer from Rheumatism, and they have all been well satisfied.

I have never known any medicine to have had such good results about here as Simmons's Liniment.

Hoping that it will prove as satisfactory elsewhere.

I am, yours truly,

DAMASE PACCOT,
Merchant.

Reception and Dinner Gowns—Full Dress Toilets Worn in New York—Stylish French Fashions Designed for Boys and Girls.

The costume with jacket bodies for girls of 6 to 8 years of age, here illustrated, has fronts cut in one piece with the pocket tabs. It opens like a jacket over a full waistcoat, the lining of which is 11 1/2 inches long, while the stuff part, gathered 2 inches high at the neck, is 17 1/2 long and 14 1/2 inches wide. A box plait 1 3/8 inches wide is laid in front to serve as a foundation for the buttons closing the waistcoat. The turndown collar cut in one with the revers is 2 3/4 inches deep at the back. The standup collar is 2 1/4 inches high. The skirt, which is 13 inches long and 2 yards 28 inches wide, is laid in box plaits 2 inches wide and embroidered in fancy stitches like the cuffs and plait on the waistcoat. The stuff sash is 13 inches wide and is tied in a bow at the back.

COSTUME FOR GIRL—SCIT FOR BOY.

The model suit for boys of 10 or 12 years of age, shown in the same cut, is of fine twilled blue cloth, trimmed with an anchor embroidered in blue and blue buttons. The trousers closed in front are buttoned on to braces; the inner leg seam is made the whole length, the outer one only downward as far as the knee, and buttoned from here. A piece of elastic is run into the lower hem of the blouse, lined with cloth to draw it in at the waist. The chemise, made of white cloth, is caught into the shoulder seam, set under the front on the left side and hooked under the same on the right one. From under the sailor collar, set into the neck opening, appear two ends of cloth, each 1 5/8 inches in width and 3 3/4 inches long, which are tied in a sailor's knot.

Full Dress Toilets.

Demi-trained skirts are in favor in New York this winter for afternoon reception dresses and dinner gowns. The fronts are made in Directoire style, flat from belt to foot, without hip drapery, and are laid in irregular plaits, that in the middle being broader than all the others. A broad trimming crosses the foot, and may consist of a ruche or pink flounces, but is more often a brocade border woven in the three breadths of the front and sides, or else it is of very rich lace or passamenterie placed flat, with its scalloped or pointed edge turned upward. Figured fabrics, either brocade or striped, are very fashionable for the full straight breadths of the demi-train. The corsage is cut with a V point in the back of the neck, and round in U shape in front. The sleeves are slightly longer on the newest dresses of brocade or faille or velvet, and may consist of a soft long puff, or else they are plain to the elbows, and a Watteau frill falling toward the hand is added of lace or of lisse, made wider below the arm and quite short inside the elbow.

Gowns of tulle in quaint colors are worn at the balls, and are much trimmed with flowers, or else with ornaments of silver or gilt in form of leaves and vines. The skirts are made the correct dancing length, just resting on the floor. In some of these gowns the skirt is laid in wide plaits from belt to foot; in others the back breadths hang straight and full.—Harper's Bazar.

Lingerie for Tailor Gowns.

It is the correct style to wear plain linen, or fancy cambric collars and cuffs, with all the tailor made dresses and gowns of similar kinds. Nothing looks more incongruous with cloth, or materials of that class, than lace or frills of transparent materials at the throat and wrists. The lessening of the height of the upright collars, too, is a considerable help to the introduction of pretty little collars of embroidery and lace, while with dresses of velvet and other rich materials, large collars and deep cuffs, of rich embroideries or valuable laces, are being worn by several leaders of society.

English Styles in Hats.

English hats, like Parisian bonnets, have many admirers, and our readers will doubtless welcome the models illustrated in the cut, for these give three entirely different fashions.

ENGLISH STYLES.

The hat at the top of the illustration represents a beaver felt, which is again popular. These beaver hats are not only appreciated on account of their exceedingly light weight, but are essentially a winter headdress, and therefore in keeping with midwinter weather. The seal turban with feather trimming at the side, is quite a new shape and affords an admirable hat for outdoor sports as well as for wearing with a seal garment on the promenade. The third model is a soft felt traveling hat with a trimming of waterproof silk galoon. This hat is ventilated by small apertures under the gartering. It need hardly be told that it is one of the most comfortable headdresses for the purpose designed.

IN THE LION'S MOUTH.

A Horrifying Spectacle Occurs in a Dublin Music Hall Performance.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—At the conclusion of a performance at Lowry's music hall, Dublin, Mlle Senide, one of the performers, placed her head in a large lion's mouth for the purpose of having her photograph taken in that position. A sudden flash of light caused the beast to close his jaws, and he retired growling to the corner of his cage, dragging his helpless victim with him. Then he shook the girl violently, tearing her bare breast with his claws. The attendants at once sprang towards the cage and attacked the lion with irons, and finally succeeded in beating him off. Mlle. Senide was removed to her lodgings and medical aid was summoned. Her neck, shoulders, breast and one arm are terribly lacerated, but she is still alive.

Avoid the Small

Annoyances of life if you would be happy. A very slight headache will make us miserable and give a sense of discomfort to all with whom we come in contact. Nature's intimations are seldom pleasant, but they should be valued as pointing out a cause and demanding a remedy. Never has a remedy given equal satisfaction in all diseases of the liver, stomach, and bowels as have Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. They at once strike at the root of the trouble, give aid to the torpid inactive liver, restore tone to the digestive organs, and promote a supply of new health blood. Though disappointed hitherto do not fail to test the wonderful efficacy of Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

President Lincoln's Substitute.

During the war, when a regiment of volunteers was being raised in the District of Columbia, President Lincoln expressed a desire to place a substitute in its ranks, and commissioned a friend to find him one. John S. Staples, who was the son of a clergyman, was selected and brought to the president. Mr. Lincoln, after examining him, expressed himself as satisfied, and perfected arrangements by which Staples entered the regiment as a substitute. Staples has just died at Dover, in New Jersey.—Frank Leslie's.

1 Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents, or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who have for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict, testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to the taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

A Single Trial

Is all that is needed to prove that Poison's Nerviline is the most rapid and certain remedy in the world for pain. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nerviline to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try 10 cent sample bottle. Sold by druggists. Large bottles 25 cents. Avoid substitutes.

Caution.

A source of much ill health is neglected constipation. The utmost caution should be observed to keep the bowels regular. The best regulator of the bowels to promote their natural growth is Burdock Blood Bitters. Try it if troubled with constipation.

Look Out For It.

If you are troubled with a cold or cough however light the attack, look out for it, do not allow it to settle on the lungs; break up the cough by loosening the tough phlegm with Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

Where it Ends.

Nine-tenths of the disease denominated catarrh is the result of protracted or oft-repeated colds in the head. Nasal Balm will give immediate relief and permanently cure.
