We understand that Sir Robert Peel, and Mr. William Peel, on hearing of the unfortunate failure of the Tamworth Bank, immediately sent a munificent sum of money to the town for the purpose of alleviating the inconvenience and distress of the lesser tradesmen and poorer class, without distinction; and on Friday 130 persons received donations equal [1y. to one half of their loss. Such benevolence, as might be expected, produced the most lively and unrestrained sentiments of joy and gratitude; and we are informed that the purse of the benign donors still continues open to the other inhabitants of the town who have suffered, and may wish to partake of their bounty.
