Selected Poetry.

From the Ladies' Literary Cabinet. THE BLIND MOTHER. saw a Mother! in her arms Her infant child was sleeping; The mother while the infant slept, Her guardian watch was keeping.

Around its little tender form. Her snow white arm was flung; And 'er his little infant head Hen bending tresses hung.

"Sleep sweetly on, my darling babe, My own, my only child,"
And as she spoke the infant woke,
And on its mother smiled.

The mother's visage graced ; For she was blind and could not see The infant she embraced. But now he lisp'd his mother's name,

And now the mother press'd Her darling much loved baby boy, Unto her widow'd breast. But sudden anguish seiz'd her mind,

Her voice was sweetly wild: My God," she cried, "but grant me sight One hour, to see my child! To look upon its cherub face, And see its father there;

A widow'd mother's prayer!" The following are the Rates of Passages. And as she spoke her anguish grew And closer to her aching breast She clasp'd her orphan child.

But pardon if the wish be wrong,
