FOUR DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND. By the arrival of H. B. M. packet Lady...

ENGLAND. In the House of Commons on the 3rd of August, the amendment of the Lords to the Irish Reform Bill was taken up as the order of the day.

The amendments were four in number and two of them he believed no member would object. The first was to refer to the clergy, who, it was provided, should register the same as £50 freeholders.

IRELAND. A letter on the state of the counties of Kilkenny and Connaught, contains the following remarks: The character of the peasantry of Ireland has been greatly changed within these few years.

PROPERTY.—The advantages of the acquisition of property are two-fold; they are not merely to be estimated by the pecuniary profit produced, but by the superior tone of industry and economy which the possessor unconsciously acquires.

EXTRACTS FROM LATE ENGLISH PAPERS RECEIVED AT THE BRITISH OFFICE. IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT. SIR E. B. STODER begged to call the attention of the Noble Lord opposite to the motion being put for the House to appoint a Committee on the Customs Duties Bill.

DOMESTIC.

Address of the Clergy of the Archdiocese of York to the Lord Bishop of Quebec.

My Lord, we beg leave to offer to your lordship our fervent and hearty congratulations on your safe arrival in this part of your diocese.

Trusting that the hand of the destroyer is, through the divine mercy, in a great measure stayed—it becomes a subject of great rejoicing to us, to have your lordship again among us in health and strength.

The pious and wise counsels, which your lordship has been pleased to embody in the affectionate charge which you have this morning delivered, are far too important to ourselves and people, not to merit a far more enduring record than parish registers.

THE SPEAKER'S RETIREMENT. THE SPEAKER rose, and spoke as follows:—As the state of the public business intimates that the Session is drawing towards a close, and that the progress of the House in this respect is not such as to warrant its continuance in this hall, I have the honor and the pride to fill this chair during six successive Parliaments.

and designs which have prompted them, are but too obvious to the most common observer, and while we forbear to press any of those considerations of policy, which belong rather to those entrusted with civil authorities to entertain; we earnestly hope, that for the sake of religion, the cause of truth will not be suffered to want that testimony which your Excellency has in your power to bear.

(Signed) C. J. QUEBEC.

My Lord Bishop and Reverend Gentlemen: In returning you my thanks for this address, I can assure you that His Majesty's Government are anxious to consult the best interests of the Church of England in the Province; and I am confident that the fit and moderate provision, which they will probably recommend to be appropriated, to secure its future prosperity, will be approved by you and the flock under your immediate charge, and also by all denominations of Christians.

With an ardent wish that your fellow labourers who become missionaries in this Province, will prove in every respect, qualified to fill the high and important offices which they may be appointed—I am persuaded that the Church of England will continue a steady and efficacious instrument in enlarging the Church of Christ and in diffusing religious knowledge over every portion of the British Empire.

TRIAL OF SOUVREIN. (CONCLUDED.) JOHN MASSENGER sworn—Is a Constable, and heard the murder of prisoners family at an early hour on the morning of the 29th of January, at the prisoner's house; the bodies were all removed to the house when witness arrived there. The prisoner was observed by witness to go to the kitchen to walk about the place where his wife was buried.

Witness watched him closely, having, from the first moment suspected him to be the murderer; he repeated to witness that he had seen his wife found, and at every visit appeared to be in search of something. When the prisoner left the shed he discerned very distinct traces of blood, which he conceived to be that of his wife, who had been murdered.

Witness proceeded thence to the shed where he expired, and found the bodies of the children, who were buried by Mrs. Sovereign; a bloody cloth was found by Mrs. Sovereign; a bloody cloth was found by Mrs. Sovereign; a bloody cloth was found by Mrs. Sovereign.
