

the funeral of Mr. Adams on Friday last, and was then a general remark that he looked uncommonly well.—[ib]

To our Subscribers.

Mr. Esos Folson will shortly call upon our subscribers west of Kingston, and we hope they will be prepared to settle their accounts with this office without further delay.

KINGSTON HERALD.

KINGSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1844.

We have no official notice of any Ministry being appointed yet. A person high in Sir Charles Metcalfe's confidence said last week that a Ministry would be gazetted in two or three days, but the Canada Gazette of Saturday is silent on the subject.

A MINISTRY AT LAST.

The rumors which have prevailed for some days have at last settled down into something like certainty. A Ministry will be announced some of these fine mornings. We have heard the names, but cannot vouch for the accuracy of our list. Here it goes, however. There is at any rate some truth in it. We say something more on the subject when the Gazette makes its appearance.

ARRIVAL OF THE ACADIA.

The news by this arrival which reached this place on Wednesday night by Mathews' express, will be found in previous columns.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

in the right, and once more in the left. He has been leaping from Scylla to Charybdis, and back again, like a tormented geyser; or like Delia, transported from the burning lake to regions of "thickribbed ice." A due consideration of the utter failure of all his schemes to answer his designs, and therefore of the niter worthlessness of his judgment, would have made him more diffident in obtruding his opinions again in a matter in which all past experience declares that he is again wrong; and especially would have kept him from indulging in that arrogant and domineering strain which pervades his defence, as if there was no wisdom or patriotism but in his own breast, whereas he of all men has made the most uncommodious blunders in his calculations, and suffered the most bitter mortification from the total failure of all his most cherished plans. It needs no argument to prove that Egerton Ryerson is wrong because he is always proving it himself by destroying his own work, and opposing every party that he has ever acted with, after having acted with them long enough to find out that they will not allow him to be a dictator over them. After all his multiplied confessions of error, it is amusing to see him stand up with an unabashed countenance, and bravely ask the country to follow his Jack-o'-Lantern from the swamp on one side to the morass on the other. He is consistent only in inconsistency: true to nothing but change; a wandering star.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

obstacles and authority by which their opponents were enabled to crush and overwhelm them in it. It was but yesterday that the errors and corruptions of the fallen and proscribed establishment of Scotland had so thoroughly raffled and entwined themselves in and around the texture of the Presbyterian mind at Kingston, that the Free-Preaching Society, and the Presbyterianism making any head in it. This supposition was founded in an erroneous mistake. To-day the charm is gone—the spell is broken—the delusion is removed—the cord which was supposed to fasten the feelings of men to the obnoxious establishments has been snapped in twain. That very place which has been heretofore considered as the garden and nursery of lifeless moderation, is fair to become the ample field in America for Scriptural Presbyterianism. True a few Ministers, and Professors, and Trustees, and Elders, there may be in this Graham, the odious and detestable Sir James Graham, and his Pusyite allies, have done against Scotland and Ulster and against the cause of the Free-Preaching Society, and throughout the length and breadth of the people are with the Free Church, and of their own free will. On the very first opportunity afforded, the Presbyterians of Kingston have vindicated the honor of the great and noble cause for which the Free-Preaching Society of Scotland has made such incalculable sacrifices of worldly interests, and to which the Presbyterian Church of Ireland has borne such illustrious testimony. Professor Campbell's small schisms, sayings, doings, and threats, availed nothing. So with the columns of the North American and Gazette against Dr. Burns, the Free Church, and the Presbyterians.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

INCORPORATION NOTICE.
SEABED APPLICATIONS FOR THE
Office of Collector of Taxes for the year 1844. It is received at the Office of the Clerk of the Common Council, until Monday the 27th day of September next, at three o'clock, P.M. The application must contain the signatures of two sufficient persons willing to give security for the due performance of the duties of the Office.
By Order of the Common Council,
FRANCIS M. HILL,
Clerk of Common Council.
Kingston, 16th August, 1844.

TENDERS

Who is received by the undersigned until 10 o'clock, at noon, on WEDNESDAY, the 27th day of SEPTEMBER next, from such persons as may be willing to furnish, for a period of 12 months, from the 12th day of September, next, the following quantities of provisions, for the use of the Penitentiary, agreeable to the undermentioned Schedule, viz:—
Ration No. 1, to consist of
1 lb. Brown Bread,
1 lb. Fresh Beef,
1 lb. Oatmeal,
1-1/2 part of a bushel of Potatoes,
3-4 do. pound of Salt,
1-2 do. ounce of Pepper,
1-4 do. quart of Vinegar,
1-4 do. pint of Molasses,
1-2 do. quart of Pease.
Ration No. 2.
1 lb. Brown Bread,
1 lb. Salt Pork,
1-1/2 part of a bushel of Potatoes,
3-4 do. pound of Salt,
1-2 do. ounce of Pepper,
1-4 do. quart of Vinegar,
1-4 do. pint of Molasses,
1-2 do. quart of Pease.
Ration No. 3.
13-1/2 lb. Brown Bread,
1 lb. Fresh Beef,
1 lb. Oatmeal,
1-1/2 part of a bushel of Potatoes,
3-4 do. pound of Salt,
1-2 do. ounce of Pepper,
1-4 do. quart of Vinegar,
1-4 do. pint of Molasses,
1-2 do. quart of Pease.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

MR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE.

Mr. Ryerson's defence of Sir Charles Metcalfe himself has appeared in pamphlet form, in which shape it will make no more impression than it did in the Colonist—a thing to talk about, but not to read. He commenced and conducted his warfare with an insult to every reformer in the Province, broadly insinuating again and again that the course they are pursuing would result in rebellion, if it was not actually designed so; and he followed up this insult by denouncing them with all sorts of pains and penalties, both from the Provincial Government and the authorities of the empire. This was a singular contradiction to all "calm reasoning," and it could not have done so more effectually than it has.

THE CANADA COMPANY.
One Million and a half Acres of Land
TO BE DISPOSED OF IN CANADA WEST, (LATE UPPER CANADA.)
NO MONEY IS REQUIRED DOWN.
TO OLD SETTLERS, EMIGRANTS, AND OTHERS.

THE CANADA COMPANY have for disposal about the stated quantity of LAND mentioned in the printed Lists of this Date. They consist of 1,275,000 Acres of LAND, scattered throughout the Country, and most of them surrounded by Old Settlements; of Blocks, containing from 1,000 to 10,000 Acres, situated in the WESTERN DISTRICT, and of a very extensive and important Territory, of 800,000 Acres, in the HUDSON DISTRICT, situated 80 Miles South of Owen's Sound.
The Lands are offered on the most liberal Terms, and are highly beneficial to the Settlers. By the Arrangement, the Company dispose of their Lands by way of LEASE, for a TERM OF TEN YEARS.
NO MONEY BEING REQUIRED DOWN,
The Rents payable 1st February, in each Year, being less than the interest upon the Price. Thus, for example, suppose the Purchase Money for 100 Acres to be 125 0/6 per Acre, which is 125 0/6, the Rent required thereon is 2 1/2 per Cent. upon 125 0/6, being 3 1/4 per Cent. per Acre, which the Land he occupies at any time during the Term, upon Payment of the Price stated in Lease. The Company will make a liberal allowance upon the price, according to the period when the Settler pays, by anticipation, the Amount, and thereby save himself from further Rent.
These Lands and others not included in the printed Lists, are also to be disposed of upon the Company's former plan, viz. for Cash down, or by One Fifth Cash and the Balance in Five equal Annual Installments, with Interest.

Every kind of information upon Canada, and directions, that can possibly be useful to intending Emigrants to Canada, will be readily furnished, free of all charge, by applying personally, or by letter, to the Company's Office in England, Canada House, St. Helen's Place, Bishopsgate Street, London.
The new printed Lists of Lands, (which may be seen in every Post Office and Store in Canada West), and any particulars may be obtained, free of charge, upon Application, by Letter, Post-paid, to the Company's Office, at Goderich, as regards the Huron Lands; at Fredericton, as regards the Company's Office, Fredericton Street, Toronto, 6th May, 1844.

REMITTANCES OF MONIES.
Anxious to assist Settlers, and others desirous of sending home Monies to their Friends, the Company will engage to place the Amounts in the hands of the parties for whom they are destined, free of all cost and expense, thus saving the Settlers all care and trouble in the business. The Company last year remitted to the United Kingdom and Germany nearly £3,000, in 200 remittances, at a similar amount. The arrangements of the Company for this purpose, are so useful about three days after the arrival of the Mail in England, accompanied by every kind of information upon Canada.
The Company will also remit any sum of money from Europe to Canada, by Letters of Credit payable to the order of the Province, free of expense; thus insuring the benefit of the frequent loss arising from bringing his money with him in coin.
The Company, with a view to accommodate Emigrants having no immediate use for their money, will allow Interest, at Four per Cent. per annum, for money left with them for any period not less than Ninety days—the money, however, being always at the Emigrants' disposal, without notice.
Every kind of information upon Canada, and directions, that can possibly be useful to intending Emigrants to Canada, will be readily furnished, free of all charge, by applying personally, or by letter, to the Company's Office in England, Canada House, St. Helen's Place, Bishopsgate Street, London.
The new printed Lists of Lands, (which may be seen in every Post Office and Store in Canada West), and any particulars may be obtained, free of charge, upon Application, by Letter, Post-paid, to the Company's Office, at Goderich, as regards the Huron Lands; at Fredericton, as regards the Company's Office, Fredericton Street, Toronto, 6th May, 1844.

At a Meeting of the Directors of the Kingston Marine Railway Co. held on the 26th July, a Dividend of 3 per Cent. for the six months ending 1st July, was declared, and will be payable at the office of the Company on and after the 15th of August.
CHAS. W. JENKINS,
Secretary.

THE SUBSCRIBER will have constantly on hand a supply of English Drugs, Chemicals, Perfumery, &c., &c., which, being from the most respectable houses in London, may be relied on by the Faculty and others, as good and genuine articles. Country Merchants can at all times be supplied with Patent Medicines, Dye Stuffs, &c., &c., on reasonable terms.
J. W. BRENT,
Druggist,
King Street.

DYE WOODS AND DYE STUFFS.
A Supply of the above, of the best quality, just received.
J. W. BRENT,
Druggist.

AGENT FOR MOFFATT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHENIX BITTERS.
J. W. BRENT,
Druggist.
Country Merchants will be allowed a liberal discount on the above.

CALEDONIA WATER.
THE SUBSCRIBER has opened a Depot for the sale of these celebrated Waters, where the public may be supplied constantly by the Dozen or Bottle. The price is reduced to 7s. 6d. per Box of a Dozen each, or 6s. per Dozen Bottles reduced. A family Medicine these Waters are daily gaining ground.
J. W. BRENT,
Druggist.

PROSPECTUS
OF
A NEW WEEKLY JOURNAL,
TO BE PUBLISHED IN THE TOWN OF CORNWALL AND TO BE ENTITLED THE FREEHOLDER.
The Subscriber intends to publish forthwith, in the Town of Cornwall, a new Weekly Journal, to be entitled "THE FREEHOLDER," and which will contain the usual miscellany of reading matter with which the columns of a Newspaper are generally to be found supplied.
The Freeholder will cherish the inextinguishable connecting link which renders the people of this county entitled not only to the name but to the privileges of "Britons." And, while upholding the Municipal power in the exercise of all its functions and prerogatives, it will, nevertheless, be found to be, on all occasions, the firm opponent of any attempt to trench upon the rights and immunities of the people. Adhering to this policy, The Freeholder will advocate the principles of Responsible Government—as enunciated by the Resolutions of September, 1841—and as understood by the great body of the people of Canada.
A considerable portion of its columns will be devoted to the interests of Agriculture and Commerce, and space will always be reserved for the exposition occasionally of "local affairs," and the management and condition of public affairs in the Eastern District as may be thought of public interest. The Subscriber pledging himself that no pains will be spared to render The Freeholder an effectual repository of the want of an independent Journal of liberal principles, for the bold and impartial expression of the public sentiment, so long and so seriously felt by a large portion of the wealth and intelligence of this District.
Arrangements have been made to issue the First Number of this Journal about the end of the present month. The price of subscription will be 12s. 6d. per annum if paid in advance, 15s. if paid at the end of 6 months, and 17s. 6d. if paid at the end of the year, exclusive of postage.
Such Editors of Newspapers as may feel disposed to exchange with The Freeholder are requested to notice or copy this Prospectus.
PETER J. MACDONELL,
Cornwall, July 13th, 1844.

RENTS AS DWELLINGS.
Tete de Pont, 215 Sterling per annum.
Point Frederick, 1 10 "
Fort Henry, " "
Office of Ordnance,
Kingston, August 13th, 1844.

NOTICE.
THIS is to give notice that JAMES MORGAN is no longer in my employ.
WM. SIMPSON.
Kingston, July, 1844.