Mr. Draper's corrupt government in Canada very lightly, for he seeks his Crown Officers among strangers, for whom he has to purchase seats. Hence half of his followers are in rebellion. They denounce him for his treachery to them as much as the Reformers denounce him for his treachery to the country. > The news by the Great Britain will be found in previous columns. A great blunder has been made by Willmer & Smith's Times in giving the prices of flour & wheat. He says that flour had declined 6s. per barrel, and wheat 10s. per quarter; whereas ordinary brands of Canadian were 25s., and good brands 26s. per barrel.

The sum of £12 10s. has been given to the funds of the General Hospital, and the like sum to the Hotel Dieu, by a charivari party, received from Mr. John Midcalf. We did not intend to notice this affair, but as three of the City papers have described it at length, we may observe that the party was got up more for amusement than as a means of annoyance, and therefore it was free from most of the objections that are made to such exhibitions in general. About 150 perms were dressed in fantastic dresses, some of em splendid, and they made a procession by torch light, with a carriage drawn by six horses, and music at their head, to Mr. Midcalf's house. They made no demand of any thing from him; but he invited them in, gave them refreshments, and the invited them in, gave them refreshments, and five pounds in money. Afterwards, thinking that he had not been liberal enough, he sent them twenty pounds more. After the charicari party had retired; the mob outside made an attack on Mr. Midcalf's house, throwing ston through the windows. The Mayor was sent for, who captured some of the offenders, and also some of the charivari party who were proceeding home. The prisoners were lodged in the station house, and liberated on bail by Dr. Robison. Next morning they were brought up for examination, and discharged with a reprimand.

We understand that Mr. Stuart has consented to comply with the wishes of the Committee, and in a matter of this kind, so important to the interests of Kingston, as well as of the Province, we hope that success will crown the exertions of our agent, who, we are confident, will use every possible effort to attain an object so desirable.—[Chronicle.
