A DUBLIN AUDIENCE.

I was much struck (says a correspondent of Bentley's Miscellany) with the peculiarities of a Dublin audience. The national anthem, followed by St. Patrick's day was invariably played in the course of avery avening, performances in ed by St. Patrick's day was invariably played in the course of every evening's performances in the Crow street Theatre. These two acts constituted the barometer of public oninion. When pleased, Pat applauded both. But if things didn't go to his liking, he vented his spleen on the first, and applauded his own national air in proportion. At all times the gallery stamped an accompaniment to this latter, as well as to all other popular airs, besides joining in chorus. But when a new Lord and Lady Lieutenant visited the Theatre for the first time, Pat's peculiarities became most diverting.

CHOKING OFF A LAWYER.—The best and most effectual check ever given to a verbose pettifogger occurred in a weil known western city, and is within our knowledge as a fact.— Much against his will, a shrewd, plain spoken, straight forward citizen was called from his business and forced upon a jury to pronounce a ver-dict over some trivial point of litigation. He sat some time patiently until he got the merits of the case and saw that the matter was just worth the toss of one red cent, and far worthier of be the toss of one red cent, and far worther of vering so decided than thrust into a court of justice. Yet a pedantic looking small lawyer got up, having an ostentatious display of law books before him, and giving every indication that he was going to commence a prolix fanfaronade, a kind of foreusic oratory for which he was somewhat celebrated among the different justice kind of forensic oratory for which he was some-what celebrated among the different justice courts and other bars of the place. After sever-al pompous hems and have, he commenced— "Gentlemen of the jury"— "Look here," said our juryman, rising and pulling out his watch—"I've just got one re-mark to make before you go on. If you talk more than five minutes I'll give my verdict against nu! Now you see the less you say the bet-

The lawyer took the hint, concented to be choked off, and was rewarded by the paltry verdict he wished to gain.—[Picayune.

A VERY LONG NOSE.—A gentleman having put out a candle by accident one night, ordered his waiting man (who was a simple being) to light it again in the kitchen; adding—"But take care, James, that you do not hit yourself against anything in the dark."

Mindful of the caution, James stretched out both arms at full length before him, but unluckily, a door that stood half open, passed between his hands and struck him a woeful blow upon

"Golly gracious!" muttered he, when he recovered his senses a little, "I always heard that I had a very long nose, but I vow I never have thought that it was longer than my arm!"

An Expensive Plaything.—We saw recently at a Bleecker Street mansion, a house within a house—that is a two story gothic architecture built upon a drawing-room carpet. It contained five rooms, doors, windows, staircase, complete throughout, and two little Misses of 10 and 12. after bidding us good morning retired within their own dwelling, but to repeat the adieu from a second story opened window. The minature furniture was of the richest description, and the cost of the whole plaything, which by the heart turned was constructed upon himself. cost of the whole plaything, which by the by, was constructed upon hinges that it could be turned into as compact a thing as a clotheshorse, was only $750. The same gentleman paid $150 for a dog house to rest the bones of a favourite pet Newfoundland.—[New York Tribune.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY,

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION, And the best Medicine known to man for Ashma of every stage, Liver Complaints, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, pains and weakness in the side, breast, &c., and all other diseases of the

A VERY important disease over which this Balsam exerts a very powerful influence that of a

DISEASED LIVER.

In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long severe suffering from various re-medies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action, and in many instances

after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect. this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the disease above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success, even in case of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which, it recommended. It is not plaints for which it is recommended. Is it not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mystery, or in any way deceive the public by errating its virtues; on the contrary, I shall nply endeavor to give a brief statement of its efulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of ts virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous, hat Consumption may and "CAN BE CURED," f this medicine be restored to it in time.

There is, perhaps, no disease with which our

There is, porhaps, no disease with which our country is affected, which sweeps off annually so many victims, as that feil destroyer of the human race—Consumption. Day after day, year after year the insatiate monster hurries to the portals of the cold and silent tomb fresh added victims to its conquest. No walk of life is sacred from its blighting influence. No age is exempt from its death-dealing shafts. The old, the middle-aged and the young, all alike, are food for this comdeath-dealing shafts. The old, the middle-aged and the young, all alike, are food for this common enemy of mankind. The white-haired patriarch, whose life of temperance has rendered his system impervious to the attacks of other ills, and whose good deeds prepared him for the enjoyment of life's calm evening, finds consumptions for the consumption for the consumpti tion fastening its fangs upon his vitals, and tear-ing him from a world, ever bright to minds which look complacently on days well spent.

Is there no help for the afflicted? No preven-ative of the dangers which beset us in our changeable and fickle clime? We think there nay be. And if the allegations of those who re at least entitled to veracity, may be believed, here is a preventative and a remedy. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is offered to a suffering world as such. It needs not the "adventitious aid" of a long string of fictitious certificates to give it notoriety. Its true value and intrinsic excellence are sufficient to entitle

THE preceding figure is given to represent the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION.

It is the great EVACUATION for the impurities of the body. It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all points of the surface, which indicates that this perspiration flows uninterruptedly when we are in health, but ceases when we are sick. Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown off from the blood and other juices of the body, and disposes by this means, of nearly all the impurities within us.

The language of Scripture is, "in the BLOOD is the Life." If it ever becomes impure, it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the INSEN. SIBLE PERSPIRATION. It never requires any internal medicines to cleanse it, as it AL-SIBLE PERSPIRATION. It never requires any internal medicines to cleanse it, as it AL-WAYS purifies itself by its own heat and action, and throws off all the offending humors, through the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION. Thus we see, all that is necessary when the blood is stagnant, or infected, is to open the pores, and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly.—Thus we see the folty of taking so much internal remedies. All practitioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the Insensible Perspiration, but it seems to be not always the proper one. The Thomsonian, for instance, steams, the Hydropathist shrouds us in wet blankets, the Homopathist deals out infinitissimals, the Allo

Would you give physic to UNSTOP the pores! Or would you apply something that would do this upon the surface, where the clogging actually is? Would not this be common sense?—And yet I know of no physician who makes any external application to effect it. The reason I assign is, that no medicine within their knowledge, is capable of doing it. Under these circumstances, I present to physicians, and to all others, a preparation that has this power in its fullest extent. It is McAlister's All Healing Ointment, or the World's Salve. It has POWER. to restore perspiration on the feet, on the head, around old sores, upon the chest, in short, upon any part of the body, whether diseased slightly or severely.

If parents knew how fatal most medicines were to children taken inwardly, they would be slow to resort to them. Especially "mercurial lozengers," called "medicated lozenges," vermifuges," pills &c. Even were it possible to say positively that worms were present, it is not safe. The truth is, no one can tell invariably when worms are present. Of course the remedy is not applicable to the complaint. Now let me say to parents, that this salve will always tell if a child has worms. Let it be rubbed on the neck and chest, to keep them from going up, and then down on the bowels, and they will soon leave. It will DRIVE every vestige of them away. This is a simple and SAFE cure. No injury can come of it any way. But should it be cholic, inflammation of the bowels, or gripe of the intestines, it will effectually cure them as the worms. It preserves & defends the surface from all de rangement of its functions, while it keeps open the channels for the blood to void all its impurities and dispose of all its useless particles. There and dispose of all its useless particles. There is a connection, harmony, and feasibility in it all that defies contradiction. It is a simple, but wonderful principle that preserves in healthy operation the entire machinery of our being. It indissolubly holds together the SURFACE and the INTERNAL VISCERA, the INTERNAL VISCERA and the SURFACE. They are inseparably connected and cannot be discoined. The surface is THE outlet of five eighths of the bile, and used up matter within. It is pierced with MILLIONS of openings to RELIEVE the intestines. Stop up these pores, and DEATH knocks at your door. It is rightly termed All-Healing, for there is scarce. a disease, external or internal, that it will be found the most useful a well as the cheapest family medicine in the world. I have used it for the last fourteen year world. I have used it for the last fourteen years with success without a parallel. I have used it for all diseases of the chest, Consumption, Liver, and the most dangerous of internal maladies, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before Heaven and man, that not

To give some idea of the amount of INSEN-SIBLE PERSPIRATION, we will state that the learned Dr. Lewenhock, and the great Boerhaave, ascertained that five-eighths of all we receive into the stomach, passed off by this means. In other words, if we eat and drink eight pounds per day, we evacuated five pounds of it by the Insensible Perspiration.

This is none other than the used up particles of the blood, and other juices, giving place to the new and fresh ones. To check this, therefore, is to retain in the system five-eighths of all the virulent matter that nature demands should the virulent matter that nature demands sh
