The expedition was entirely successful. The object of the expedition was to cut out certain vessels anchored in the river there, which were all taken. When the city was summoned to surrender, the people were all in favor of yielding, but the Governor and soldiers opposed it.

Time was given for all poaceable persons, women and children, to get out of harm's way, but the Governor would not allow any one to leave so that it is feared that most of their killed during the bombardment were not soldiers.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

It was known many years ago that the wild cherry tree of this climate possesses valuable nedical properties. Indeed this fact was known to the Aborigines, and a decoction of the leaves or bark of this tree has ever been regarded by their physicians as one of the most effectual re nedies in many diseases. This fact, several rears since, arrested the attention of Dr. Wistar, a highly respectable practitioner of Virginia.— He investigated with care the healing properties ministered alone, and when in combination with al virtues might be greatly improved, and by combining it with ingredients, whose properties dicine was produced which constitues a remedy of great value in pulmonary affection, and dis eases of the chest and throat-diseases which are proverbially prevalent in our cities and large towns, and often prove fatal, swelling the bills of mortality to a much greater extent than is the case with most other, we had almost said, all other classes of diseases.

How very disagreeable it must be to a lady or gentleman to have a bad head of hair, to ladies more especially, for let them talk as philos cally as they please, they do not like to be cally as they piesse, they do not like to be destitute of any external grace. To be sure, the ancients who pretended to be great connoiseurs of beauty, have praised narrow foreheads, red hair, and red eye-brows that joined over the nose. And such were the charms that captivated Cabullus, Ovid, and Anacreon. But ladies of the present time would be out of humour with their lovers should they praise them for such graces.
