EIGHTH VOLUME OF THE KNICKER-BOCKER MAGAZINE Clark and Edson, Proprietors, 161 Broadu New-York.

New subscriptions should commence with the January or July numbers. Two volumes are completed within a year. Payments to be made in advance. Five dollars per annum, or Three Dollars for six months. Letter and communications mget, in all.

New-York Monthly Magazins, commenced a new volume, and formed the tweaty-righth number issued under its present proprietorship and supervision. In the brief Advertisement by which the new series was introduced to the public, it was observed, that no exertions nor expence would be spared to render the Magazine honorable to American Periodical Literature, and acceptable to the public, whose patronage was only as far solicited, as it should seem to be deserved—that the assistance of some of the ablest pens in the counthe public, whose patronage was only as far solicited, as it should seem to be deserved—that the assistance of some of the ablest pens in the country had been secured in behalf of the work, and that, as it was thereafter to depend rather upon its merits, than upon frequent announcements of the future excelle are to which it was to attain, it was submitted to its readers, with the confident hope that it would prove deserving of the public favor. This hope has not been disappointed. Upwards of two thousand highly favorable notices of the work have appeared, at intervals, in the different journals of the United States, including those of the first class in every section of the country; and that silent but convincing sign, a steady increase of patronage, has born still stronger testimony, that the literary labors presented to the public through the medium of this periodical have not been undervalued. While therefore the publishers acknowledge with gratitude the kindness with which their exertions have been received, they would take this occasion to repert, that their efforts will be untiring, without regard to labor or expense, to cater acceptably for the various literary appetites of a wide rational community.

It is a fact worthy of mention, that since this Magazine passed into the hands, and under the direction of its present propictors and editors, not a dissenting voice has been heard from the entire American press, in regard to its general merits.—

It may be observed farther, that of nearly five a dissenting voice has been heard from the entire American press, in regard to its general merits.—

It may be observed farther, that of nearly five hundred specimen numbers which have been sent to individuals who desired to judge of the character of the work from personal examination, previous to subscribing, there has not been one which did not result in the subsequent subscription of the person so sending. The Magazine is now so firmly established in the public favor as to be beyond the reach of any contingency which can affect its permanence; yet increased encouragement would still enable the publishers to add to the enjoyment of their readers. In an equal ratio with the enhancement of their ability, through the liberality of the public, will be their effective ratio with the enhancement of their ability, through the liberality of the public, will be their effective labors; and if each subscriber to the work, who has derived pleasure from its perusal, would send one or more names, (a not difficult task, it is confidently believed.) the publishers can safely promise that no periodical foreign or domestic, will be permitted to exceed in varity and interest the Knickerbocker Magazine. As the present proprietors can with truth affirm that they have hitherto left no pledge unfulfilled, it is hoped that this declaration will not be considered as a spromise made to tion will not be considered as a 'pro the ear,' only to be 'broken to the hope.'

The subjoined is a brief plan of the work:

Its ORIGINAL PAPERS will be so vaned as to form a combination of the USEFUL with the ENTERTAINING and AGREEABLE. These will embrace the departments of Useful Science, Essays, Tales, and Poetry which may deserve the name.

The LITERARY NOTICES will comprise summary and candid reviews of new works, with such ex-tracts, when practicable, as may be necessary to evince the justice of the accompanying criti-

The EDITORS' TABLE will be devoted to the familiar discussion of local and general matters—including the Drama, the Fine Arts, etc.

For the first time, and in consideration of the commencement of a new volume, a few of the many favourable opinions which have been expressed by some of the most prominent American and English journals concerning this Magazine, are wentured below:

The K ickerbocker.—This monthly periodical is now so well known, that it hardly needs commendation; having established for itself a character amongst the ablest and most entertaining publications in the land. We have frequently availed ourselves of extracts from its columns, particularly in the poetical department, which, in our humble opinion, possesses a higher merit than, since the death of Mrs. Hemans, can be justly awarded to the poetry en mass of any other periodical with which we are acquainted, either domestic or foreign. Many of the prose writings are also excellent. The Knickerbocker, at one time, sank to a low ebb in public estimation, and not without reason; but since it passed into the hands of its present conductors, it has not only retrieved its character, but taken rank far above what it every exertions in making this Hotel one of the most respectations in making this Hotel one of the most respectable in Canada. NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER.

The Knickerbocker seems to increase in attraction as it advances in age. The last number exhibits a variety of contributions, unsurpassed in number or ability. We learn, indeed, that all the profits of the work so far have been expended in the procurement of the best original supplies for its pages. We copy the annexed notice of the work from the New-York Mirror:

"We hope it will not be inferred, from our omission to notice the several numbers of the Knickerbocker Magazine, as they have appeared, that we have therefore lost sight of its high character and increasing excellence. The Knickerbocker has become decidelly one of the best mag-acter and increasing excellence. The Knicker-booker has become decidedly one of the best mag-azines in America. The proprietors have succeed-ed in procuring for its pages the first talent of this country, as well as valuable aid from distinguished foreign sources,' etc.

Companion, the publisher states, that arrangements are in progress for securing the aid of some of the first writers in America and Europe in behalf of this Literary enterprise. At this early period, it would be perhaps incurring their displeasure, and the just censure of the public, in case of a failure, to exhibit their names to the world, before the arrangements are with certainty concluded:—suffice it to say, that there are those among them, whose writings have shed lustre upon literature. It is with heartfelt gratitude for the

THE MANSION HOUSE. KINGSTON, U. C.

THE Subscriber respectfully begs leave to no-tify to the Travelling Public, that he con-tinues to occupy this extensive and well known Hotel.

The Mansion House is pleasantly situated in Store Street, being the principal and central street in Kingston; is convenient to all the Steam Boat Wharves, and no establishment of its kind in the Upper Province can surpass it in the excellence and comfort of its apartments, both parlors and bedrooms (thirty-four in number,) all of which are furnished in the very best style.

The Hotel has lately undergone a thorough repair, and is at present in most excellent order and condition for the accommodation of the Public.

The subscriber having kept a Hotel for many years, has acquired experience in that line, and therefore trusts, that with unremitting attention to the comfort of his guests, he will continue to merit public patronage.

In the rear of the Mansion House there is a LARGE YARD, and extensive Stabling, and where a Livery Stable is constantly kept.

The Mansion House Carriage and Porters will always be in readiness to convey Passengers and Luggage to and from the different Steam Boats.

sides of the mountain ridge, or summit level of the Welland Canal, 350 feet above the level of Lake Ontario, and is known to be peculiarly heathy. There are neither swamps nor marshes in is vicinity; and it stands in the centre of a fertic and well-cultivated wheat country, in a direct like between the City of the Falls and St. Catharines, in the Niagara District.

But 5 years can be dated from its origin, and so rapidly has it progressed, that it now contains more than 400 souls; two Churches, a Schod-House, Post office, several good Shops, and a Medical Establishment; an extensive Flour mill, a Brewery, and four Sawmills, with Blacksmith? Carpenters', Shoemakers', Carmakers', Tailor', and several other Tradesmen's establishments, are at full work. A new Carding and Fulling mil, and Grist mill, are nearly ready for work, and a great number of additional houses are nearly completed.

There is a direct cemmunication to Lake Onti-rio, and Lake Erie, by a constant succession at Schooners and Boats, affording great advantages for the conveyance of merchandize and agricultu-ral produce to different markets. The water ha ral produce to different markets. The water has a fall of forty feet, and power to an extent equal to propelling machinery for any manufacturing pupose, for which eligible mill sites can be had, a good Tannery could be worked to great advantage, bark being so casily obtained from the forests of Chippewa and the Grand River.

NDIAN AT THE BURIAL HIS FATHERS. BY W. C. BRYANT

It is the spot I came to seek,
My father's ancient burial pla
For from these vales, ashamed a
Withdrew our wasted race,
It is the spot,—I know it well—
Of which our old traditions tell.

For here the upland bank sends (
A ridge towards the river side throw the shaggy hills about The insendows smooth and wid The plains that toward the south Fenced east and weat by moun! A white man gazing on the sce Mould say a lovely spot was And praise the lawns, so fresh Between the hills so sheer. I like it not—I would the plain Lay in its tall old groves again.
