Mexican ports. The corvette Creole, commanded by the Prince de Joinville, had gone to Havana on a cruise, and there now remained but four ves-sels of war before Vera Cuz. The blockade of the town is nevertheless strictly enforced, and no vessels whatever are allowed to enter.

The French brig Marie Therese has been chartered by the French Admiral to leave in about ten days for N. Orleans, with one hundred and twenty French residents. The army of Santa Anna, about seven thousand strong, is said to be encamped at ten miles distance from the town.

The schooner Cora, from Metamoras, brings news that the town is besieged by the federalists, who number some nine hundred, and is defended by a similar force under command of General Filesota. No action had as yet taken place. The assailants, we are told, are but poorly equipped, being unprovided with artillery, and principally composed of dragoons and musketeers.
