To illustrate this by argument, would be idle, as on man of sense and observation can entertain a doubt in regard to it. The first questions that should present themselves to the mind of every man who is in a situation to facilitate or to prevent this last and fearful resort of nations, should be, is our quarrel just? and does the character of our country require that we should enter into it? If these can be answered in the affirmative, weak and pasillanimous rulers will alone be deterred by possible consequences. But on the other hand no calamity can befal a nation so deleterrous in its effects, present and future, as an unjust war. It inflicts wounds which no triumphis-can heal, for which no acquisitions can compensate. Would a war growing out of the circumstances which I have described, have been a just war? Could we have decrived ourselves into a belief that it was so? The laws of all civilized nations, the declared opinions of Washington, and of Jefferson and of their contemporaries and successors in the public service, and the consistent and uniform legislation of Congress, from a remote period to the present day, all answer no! By the judgment of mankind, of our own good and great men, and in the provisions and spirit of our statues, we should have been placed in the wrong. Who can undertake to estimate the consequences that would in the natural course of events, have resulted from it to both countries, and to the frontier in particular; or the fearful responsibility that would have been incurred by those who had it in their power to prevent them, and failed to do so, through i attention or unwil ingness to perform fearlessly the To illustrate this by argument, would be idle, as to the same, to correspond and invite co-operation with other Committees in the Province, and to do with other Committees in the Province, and to all things necessary to accomplish the design

ELISHA SILLS.

The Sheriff of this district, as will be seen by his reply to Dr. Baldwin, has declined calling a public meeting of the Home District, although the requisition desiring it was numerously and respectably signed; and several Magistrates of the Dis-tably signed; and several Magistrates of the District are among the requisitionists. The excuse made by the Sheriff, for having thus acted, is a very lame one; and the course which he has thought proper to adopt would not, under the circumstances, have been followed by any Sheriff in England.

The first requisition was presented by Mr. Henry J. Boulton, late Chief flustice of Newfoundland, and its object was, to call a distinct meeting, to take into consideration the affairs of Upper Canada. The second was presented by Dr. Baldwin, and its object was confined to the consideration of Lord Durham's Report. What reply was made to the first, if any, we have not heard, but the re-Lord Durham's Report. What reply was made to the first, if any, we have not heard, but the reply made to the second we have published. Had the meeting heen called, in compliance with either requisition, the effect would have been the same, as the attention of the people assembled would have been directed to the present state of the country, and the opinions of the inhabitants of the principal district in the province, would thus have been obtained, on matters, to them, of the utmost importance; although some difficulty might apparently have been caused, by the two requisitions having been presented, any objection, on that ground, has been removed by Dr. Baldwin in his letter to the Sheriff. etter to the Sheriff.

The refusal of the Sheriff, then, to call the The retusal of the Sheriff, then, to call the wice meeting is an arbitrary proceeding, and the reason assigned for it very unsatisfactory. He knows well that the great majority of the freeholders of the district approve of Lord Durnam's Report, and the true cause of his having refused is, that they might be deprived of the opportunity of giving expression to their sentiments on the subject. Such conduct is unworthy of the Sheriff of the Home District, and although it may, for the present, have the effect of delaying an expression of sentiment District, and although it may, for the present, have the effect of delaying as expression of sentiment being given, by the inhabitants of the district collectively, on the important questions that are now agitated, in relation to Canada, that delay will not be of long continuance, as the time is fast approaching, when they must be appealed to, in compliance with the terms of the Constitutional Act, and when neither Sheriff nor any other person can interpose to prevent them. plied with lunch and wines in abundance by Mr. Hamilton. THE NORTH EASTERN BOUNDARY .- Sir John THE NORTH EXSTERN BOUNDARY.—Sir John Harvey, the Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick, has written a letter to Governor Fairfield, of Maine, informing him that Colonel Mudge of the Royal Engineers, and G. W. Featherstonhaugh, have been sent from England for the purpose of making topographical examination of part of the disputed territory, for the use and information of Her Majes y's Government, and expressing a hope that the Executive of Maine would willingly co-operate with that of New Brunswick, "in doing what may depend upon them respectively, not only to prevent any interruption being offered to proceedings of a character so entirely amicable and so purely scientific, but also to ensure for it any assistance which may be required by a comany assistance which may be required by a com ssion, the result of whose enquiries may have material an influence in expediting the decision of the pending negociation, and which must there-fore be regarded with an equal degree of interest
