eral public meetings have been held in Notia, and resolutions in favour of responsible ment were unanimously passed. The same would be introduced in the Nova Scotis oly, and there is no doubt but that Lod n's plan will be supported by a large major. The Novascotian has commenced the public fletters on Responsible Government, about Lord John Russell by G. R. Young, Est.

on Lord John Russel's despatch of the tenure of public offices, are from the Novascotian:

a On returning to town, we were astonished and delighted to find that the Despatch which follows had been received and published by the Governor Genetal; and, by the last Mail, a copy of it reached us from Fredericton, together with a circular Memorandum sent with it, by his Excellency Sir John Havey, to all the offices it is intended to affect within the limits of his Government. Both documents will be f und below, and both are every way important. It is evidently the intendence of the Ministers to follow up the policy of Lord Durham, and give to the Colonial Governors the right to shake themselves free of the Compacts, and surround themselves with popular and able men, as ofien as it may be found necessary to gather around the Queen's Representative fresh accessions of talent, information, and public confidence. We consider the despatch as the death warrant of all the Compacts; and if the powers conferent are exercised in good faith, and without any flinching, as we trust they will be, we shall have responsible government in fact it not in name, and shall entertain no further fears for the internal tranquillity of each Colony, nor of the separation of the whole from the honourable connexion with the Parent State."
