PROPOSALS FOR PUBLISHING A PAPER, TO BE ENTITLED, THE CANADIAN FARMER.

MUCH of the wealth, greatness and prosperity of a nation, depends on the successful culture of the soil. Few countries have been known to flourish, during a long time, in which the agricultural interests have been neglected. It may be true, that the commercial interests of some nations are so great, as for a time to overshade the interests of agriculture, yet, as an occupation for men in general, it can bear no comparison with agriculture. Indeed, among all the occupations of agriculture. Indeed, among all the occupations of life, however polite or necessary, none can stand in competition with agriculture. And, it is right that it should be so; for, it is the farmer who upholds the hands of community, and strengthens the pillars of the state; notwithstanding the "polite professions," and "delicate employments," in which men are engaged. Where agriculture flourishes, the country grows rich; but where it is neglected, the country's prosperity declines.

Agriculture has been viewed, hitherto, in an unfavourable light, and thought, by many, to be rather a second rate employment; but, it is now being regarded as one cit the first, and most honouring regarded as one of the first, and most honourable of employments. This last view of it, is sanctioned by the wealthy of the land, who are contributing their influence to facilitate its pro-

Parliamentary and Legislative Acts have been, and are being passed, in aid of it; Chemists, Geologists, Naturalists, and Botanists, are adding much to the scientific departments of agriculture.

Farming, in theory, is not to be recommended, subject it is consequently in the control of the scientific departments. unless it is connected with experience. To become successful, therefore, in the business of farming, it is requisite that science and practice should co-operate with it, and aid each other.

There are hundreds of practical farmers in the Province, who have no theoretic knowledge of the business. There are many who are scientific farmers, but who have no practical experience. The benefit of all, requires, that there be some "medium" through which the various knowledge possessed by each and all, may be communicated to the farmer. In this way, not only the experiand knowledge of all time past, of things apper-taining to the culture of the soil and the farmer's interest, may be possessed by him at a trifling ex-

Such a medium is now proposed to the Canadian public, viz.—the Canadian Farmer; which, should it receive patronage to warrant the under-taking, will be published on the first of June next, at Kingston. It will be devoted entirely to the farmer's interest;—to scientifical and practical agriculture;—to the different offices of husbandry. It will contain articles on horticulture, and the culture of fruit trees, by the best authors in Eu-rope. On the best mode of managing and improving stock, viz: cattle, horses, sheep and swine,—the various diseases to which they are liable, and the best mode of treatment—by the most experienced growers. Essays on the various soils, and their adaptation to the different kinds of grain, grass or seeds. On the most approved methods of managing dairies; as practised in England and the United States. On the plan of laying out gardens and farms. On the raising of bees, and the management of poultry. It will contain accounts of all the Cattle Shows and Fairs in the Province, the United States and England. The Market ing stock, viz: cattle, horses, sheep and swine,the United States and England. The Market prices will be corrected monthly; and particular pains will be taken to give the earliest accounts of the improvements of the implements of Agriculture, domestic and foreign.

CONDITIONS. The CANADIAN FARMER will be published on the 1st of each month,—in Double Quarto form; on good paper and with fair type, at the low price of five shillings per year. Payable in all cases on the receipt of the first No.

All Post Masters are requested to act as Agents for the Canadian Farmer. Any person obtaining ten subscribers and sending pay for the same, in advance, free of postage, shall be entitled to receive eleven copies of the Farmer.

We wish all our Canadian Farmers, in particular, to favour us with communications on any or all, of the subjects mentioned above; and give us the results of their experience. Also, we expect, that the Farmer will use his endeavours to aid the progress of a paper, published in his own land, and devoted, particularly to his own interest. We think we shall not be disappointed.
