Particulars of the Rescue From the Vessel - A Courageous Woman.

A Chicago despatch says: The schooner Racine, the crew of which rescued the sur vivors of the Champlain disaster, arrived here fast evening. At the time the Champlain caught fire the Racine was lying alongside a pier six miles from Charlevoix. Captain Hauson woke up, saw the burning steamer and sent a part of his crew on a yawl to rescue the perishing passengers. With the remainder of his crew he ran down the beach to an old fishboat, launched it and started for the wreck. The boat had not been used for a long time and leaked When about half way out to the Champlain Capt. Hanson came across a young woman who was swimming toward shore with a as its name imports, is 144 miles long and child. This was Miss Mary Wakefield, of 49 broad, with a range of lofty mountains Charleveix. She had jumped overboard from the steamer with the 6-year-old child of Capt. Kehoe clasped in her arms. Grasping a broken clothing of the child in her teeth she bravely struck out for the shore. Capt. Hanson her and the child into his boat she told him to hurry away to the others, as she could take care of herself. She reached the shore in safety, and when another of the shipwrecked passengers was taken from seventeen others floated ashore by the aid of planks and life preservers. Among the bodies picked up by Capt. Hanson was that of Mrs. E. C. Smith. In speaking of Capt. Casey, Capt. Hanson said he never he witnessed the heroic fortitude displayed by the brave commander of the Champlain.

A Police Court Episode. A last (Friday) night's London despatch says : The routine of Police Court proceed ings was broken through to-day by a somewhat lively tilt between two leading local legal lights. One Simpson had been committed for fraudulently obtaining a watch County Crown Attorney, Hutchinson, pro posed that the Court should take charge of the timepiece, to which Simpson's counsel Mr. D. H. Tennent, objected. Thereupon Edmund Meredith, who was engaged or another case, took it upon himself to advise Mr. Tennent not to surrender the watch Simpson at once handed the watch to his counsel, Tennent, who summarily disappeared from the court room. Mr. Meredith then volunteered somefurther advice, when Mr. Hutchinson objected, characterising Mr. Menedith's interference as "disgrace ful conduct." Mr. Meredith said he would " take none of Mr. Hutchinson's impertinence." Angry words followed, in which Mr. Meredith expressed the opinion that Mr. Hutchinson was " A -- old scoundrel." Mr. Hutchinson made a damagins reference to Mr. Meredith's connection with the case of Esther Arscott, the notorious. Mr. Meredith advanced and threatened to bang Mr. Hutchinson on the nose. Mr. Hutchinson seized Mr. Meredith's cane and threatened to use it if Mr. Meredith came any closer. The Chief of Police here interfered
