Her yellow bair fell in sheaves of gold, Her breathing was hurried and low, Her mother had died a night like this, Just seven long years ago.

Day by day, with a terrible leve, A love that was unavailing. He had watched the light in her blue eyes, Steadily, hopelessly failing.

"Spare her, good Lord, for she must not die! His words were distracted and wild; God help him now-for the old man's life Is bound up in the life of his child.

"Father," she eried, with a sudden strength, "Look, but look at it, sailing there! The good Lord has sent His silver boat-He has heard and answered my prayer.

It came last night, whit you were asleep, The windows were lastened tight; held out my arms but it sailed away, Sailed far away out of sight."

Thoold man's eyes were blinded with tears, As they followed hers to the sky. And he saw only the crescent moon In a storm of clouds drift by.

But a light not born of earth or sky Shone now in the eyes of the maiden; "It comes, dear father, it comes!" she cried,

"For the weary and heavy-laden. "I shall sail on through the brilliant stars, To God's beautiful home on high, And He will send it again for you In a little while. Good-byc.'

The moonlight strayed from the garret floor, The erescent moon sailed out of sight; But the old man knew that his wife and child Had met in God's home that night.

all; neither of them could tell how the with tears in her eyes when he came up to him.

friends; they are so utterly dissimilar. away. Ferrers-as I suppose I ought to call her | and presently rang for his valet.

her, but he seems to dare anything. tell Hugh when he returned the next day, am sure you are ill, Hugh; do let Saville semi-darkness. but he was too busy, or else unwilling to help you to bed.'

concerns my husband "-and Fay's throat | hardly mirthful, and said he would try to | in grave-clothes. swelled and her eyes grew a little dim. sleep.

blush came over her face. follow her over the place like a dog.

and give her full particulars of their visit | Margaret. to Beulah Place. In his heart he had a secret longing to feel Fern's hand in his mean Miss Ferrers? she asked, timidly. again, and to see her bright welcoming smile. " I have been here a whole month,"

Miss Ferrers answered me. Her brother very much, called out to Saville to come not touch him, ando to send Margaret. would defer his visit for the present, she quickly, for Sir Hughwas talking so funnily. Oh," with a sort of restless despair in her said, until Miss Davenport was back in she could not make out what he meant. voice, " who is this Margaret of whom he Patsy," he said, sternly of yez don't be of course, at this delay durt he was satisfied | master's hands, thought his talk, so very | Mrs. Heron's comely face paled a little to know that she was in good hands, and he summoned Mrs. Heron and with surprise—as she told Ellerton after-was used to disappointments. I did feel Ellerton at once, while the groom saddled wards, she felt at that moment as though a with her half the night. Fay shook her head over this part of night Ellerton and Saville had to hold him I was all in a tremble when I heard her. Erle's letter. He was an incorrigible flirt, down in his bed to prevent him throwing and then all at once I remembered Miss she was afraid; but she missed him very himself from the window. He very nearly Joyce, and it came to me as a sort of much. The old Hall seemed very quiet did it once in the cunning of his madness, inspiration." without Erle's springy footsteps and merry when they left him unguarded for a . Lo you know who he means?" continued tender expression on her sweet face,

For a change was passing over Hugh's They had taken his Wee Wife from him returned the good housekeeper, cautiously Wee Wine in those early spring days.

his growing irritability.

were making him thin and haggard; still any fatigue was better than inaction, he thought. Often, after a long day spent in riding over the Redmond and Wyngate estates, he would set out again, often ment.

Savine and Enerton were always in the sick-room when wanted. Everything that off."

Sick-room when wanted. Everything that off."

Mand my husband was fond of her?"

could give, was lavished on the patient, but for a long time there was no improvestrange that he should go back all those years and think of his baby sister." fasting, to walk across ploughed lands and If his violence had not banished Fay from "I don't think Dr. Martin would say it

Providence had not laid him low before he | even mentioned his Wee Wifie. had succeeded in ruining himself, body "Oh for Margaret !" he cried, to give affectionate lad was Master Hugh."

child-wife was sleeping peacefully like an that fevered dream.
infant, his half-maddened brain conjured How that one idea beset him!

the dark library with haunting faces. really; he would say in his sober daylight | through the infinite. reflections he was only so very wretched. She was in Paradise, standing on the help you undress." Margaret's influence had always kept him topmost star of the golden ladder, stretch. Fay was too weary to resist. What did per, butter the size of an egg. Make a wanted more to do. If he could represent swarming from their pits of darkness, fuls, though they seemed to choke her, but his county, for example; but he had lost and dragged him down with endless fall. she was glad when they left her alone. his seat last election to his neighbor ings and precipitous crashings, while his Colonel Dacre! If he could travel; if Fay Wee Wife laughed mockingly from the nightmare of horror oppressing her? Again, and lay the cut side in flour. Melt some would my lady have the house shut up; and say that his "Wee Wife was becoming after their young mistress with pitying "Were you calling me, my lady?" she pan after taking out the tomatoes, season and she still talking about this wonderful should not know what to do with her if one room to another, generally followed "No, Janet," answered the poor child. she went on like this:" and then, kissing by the faithful Janet. Erle came down "I am only crying becuase I am so tomatoes. Fay's cheeks were quite pink when she her hastily, and unloosening the little once, but Fay grew so hysterical at the unhappy."

and yet how interesting; she had made in the library he fell asleep while she was acquiesced very sensibly in this piece of shall hear the master is better to-morrow. Put the fruit into large stone jars, sprinkone, with the fair hair and the pretty 11 o'clock, and I cannot leave you like this, wanderings; she could not eat, she could sleep of youth. smile; but when she had said this there and I am so tired and sleepy, dear;" and had been no answering smile on Erle's she knelt down and put her hand under only to exhaust her. his head, and stroked back the hair from Nothing did her any good until Dr. morning, but he chose to make light of the cool, dry place. "Yes," he had returned, seriously, " I his hot forehead. But Hugh only muttered Martin came to her one day, and, taking whole affair to Fay.

wonder how Percy dares to make love to the room, "I do not know what is the might be fit to nurse Hugh. matter with Sir Hugh to-night, he sleeps | She meant to be good and keep her eyes filled with tears of thankfulness, " it Well, Fay thought about it all when she so heavily and looks so strange. If it were promise; but one evening the longing to was a very risky thing to do, and as you went to bed; she had got used to her big not so late, and I were sure that he would see her husband was too strong for her.

hiding from him; and Fay thrilled with | why don't you take more care of yourself?" | on the handle of the closed door.

and of course I saw Miss Crystal when I querulously; "I have never had a day's to move a step. visited at the Grange; she was never my life, have I. Saville? Mrs. It was very quiet and still—one of the Old interest as they drove through the Ulster Bank/at Monaghan, has been com. toilets in white or in black taffetas painted infatuated—I daresay he is still—men will thing, that there was nothing the matter threatened to rise in her throat, for she grey cloak who was standing by the hedge Lough Corrib while on a boating excursion, with four gathered flounces pinked at the of Holmdel, N.J., one portion of which, be fools sometimes. There, don't keep me with him, nothing; only they had not had caught sight at last of the white looking at a nest of young linners. As viz.: Professor Thompson, Galway; Mr. edge. Each flounce was bordered with a containing thirty-seven hundreths of an

"Hugh must have been very intimate with so, he owned. But if Fay were good and shaven head tenderly upon her bosom. them all, 'thought Fay when she was left would not scold him, she might sit with 'Oh, my lady!' exclaimed the nurse, in Fay wondered why the was so pale. Had was endeavoring to enter the cave of Cave The corsage was cut open in a V shape, S1,614 an acre. Other portions of the alone. "How I wish he were not always too him and read something amusing. But a terrified voice, "this is a most unex. Hill, near Belfast, the other day, he missed and had a spray of wild roses painted at farm gave 4,000 posts at 40 cents each or he is killing himself rushing about as he he had tried to dress himself and had fallen | "Hush-I am his wife-I have a right ing for a moment, "ask you to stop and shocking injuries, from which he is not edged the opening does, and he does look terribly ill. I wish back half fainting on the bed, or of the to be here. You know me, do you not, my speak to me?" he would see Dr. Martin, but of course my strange horrible feelings that were creeping darling Hugh?" asking him to do so would only make him over him, and that made him dread to be Poor Fay! she had her punishment then; quick impulse she handed the rains to the angry. It is very wrong of me, I am afraid, alone. Only Fay was very disappointed for Hugh did not know her in the least, groom, and sprang into the road. "Take but I cannot help longing to know why that he did not seem to hear anything she and seemed to shrink from her with horror; the ponies up and down, Ford; I shall Hugh has quarrelled with them so. I don't read for remember a word of it. It was he begged her to send Margaret to him not be long. I was just going down on the like to vex him, but it seems to me as the shooting pain in his head, he told her; -his dear Margaret, and not stand there beach for a breath of sea-air," she conthough I have a right to know all that and then he laughed in a way that was like some white horrible statue dressed up tinued, turning to Margaret, " and I am so

"Perhaps when so. tog happens he But that night he never closed his eyes, only exciting him," observed the nurse, certainly not mind her exchanging a few will think me older at the me more," and yet the next day he would not allow quietly; and Fay wrung her hands and courteous words with Miss Ferrers when she said; and though she was alone a rosy Fay to send for the doctor, though she hurried from the room. Saville found her they met face to face; besides Miss Ferrers begged piteously for permission. Doctors crouching against the dressing-room door, had asked to speak to her. Fay was very sorry when the time came | were old women, he said, and Dr. Martin | with her face hidden in her hands, and | "I wanted to know-but of course I see for Erle to go back to Belgrave House; especially. It was only the pain in his fetched Mrs. Heron at once to coax her by your face—that Sir Hugh is better," she would miss him sadly she knew. They head that kept him awake and made him away; but Fay hardly seemed to under- began Margaret, but her dry lips would had resumed their old walks and drives, so feverish; but towards the evening his stand their meaning; her face had a white, hardly fashion the words.

He said he was much better, if only his her room. Erle was sorry to go too; he had grown | head and hands were not burning like live very much attached to his new cousin. Mr. | coals ; and that he meant if it were fine to Ferrers was to join Mim a little later at drive Fay out in the pony-carriage to-Belgrave House, and he promised to write | morrow, and they would go and call on

Fay stared, as well she might. Did Hugh And Hugh, speaking thickly, like a drunken man, said, "Yes, certenly! and he grumbled; " no wonder Hugh is tired of | why not?" and he would ask Margaret to go with him to Shepherd's Corner to and the old Tory member, Lord Lyndhurst | shivering and her teeth chattering as though | ing about, and it did not seem easy to pray, " Everything has gone wrong, he wrote; of Lyndhurst, at whom the Radical party, with cold. and the fates, those mischievous cross- with the publican of the " Green Drake" grained old women with the one eye between at their head, had shield rotten eggs, would returned Fay; the girl's tops were white, it?" Lady Redmond assure him that the Grange and there was still a seared look in her "Was there no one to come to you to be quette demands that you arise from your the Earl of Lonsdale of Violet Cameron diffusion of gases, forling the fresh cur-"I went over to Beulah Place the first was not infested with serpents. The old eyes. "Is that why they would not let me with you. I mean? but Fay shook her with a bright supply smile." evening just to reconnoitre, and was much hydra-headed reptile had lived there in his see him-because they have cut off his hair head. disgusted to hear that Miss Davenport- fether's time, and there was a young brood and made him look so unlike himself, and Miss Ferrers I mean, only I stick to the left, he heard, that were nourished on because he talks so strangely ?" old name from habit-was nursing one of Margaret's roses. No, he repeated, if there "Yes, my Jady, and for your own good. her pupils with the measles. The little were serpents at the Grange they would and because -" but Fay interrupted her rascal it is a boy had refused to be not drive there, for he was afraid of Raby, excitedly nursed by any one else and there she is and he hated parsons, for even blind ones a My good? as though anything could in the curate's house kept in durance vile; could see sometimes, and they might tell do me good while my darling husband whistle, and somehow Fay was a little moment; and after that they had to strap Fay, languidly.

him down. almost by force; she had clung to him so " it is often the case with people in fever With the new hope there came a new and -her poor mad Hugh, as she called him. that they forget all about the present, and But Mrs. Heron took the distracted young just go back to past days; and so it may well. Hugh was very gentle with her, Fay put her head down on the housekeeper's ir Hugh never told me he had had a and careful to guard he from all imprushoulder and cried until she could cry no sister," replied Fay, roused to some animadence; but life was very difficult to him longer. " Will he die-will my darling die?" tion at this. " Was her name Margaret?" just then, and he could not always restrain | was all she could say at first; and then she "Yes, to be sure." But Mrs Heron fore-would ask piteously to go back to him. He was ill, and yet unwilling to own But no one ventured to let her cross the been called by her second name Joyce. "Ay him water to quench his thirst; for he was "Dear Margaret! that was what he It is very nice for lunch. No one but Hugh knew how often he had in torment, and no one would give him called her." yielded to the temptation to drown his drink. Oh for Margaret's cool hand-for "Ay, no doubt, precious little lamb.

bade Erle good-night; her eyes shining hands from his neck, he would go out of like stars. Oh, these dear people, she the room pretending to whistle.

| Sight of her old favorite that Mrs. Heron was quite frightened, and begged him to Janet's sympathising reply; "things seem thought, how strange and sad it all was, But one evening when they were together go away; and, as he could do no good, he always worse in the dark; most likely we have often wondered to see them such something inaudible, and turned his face the thin little hand in his, gave her his "You hardly deserve to be told that this friends; they are so utterly dissimilar. away.

Fern-Miss Trafford I mean—is gentle and And Fay, watching him anxiously, felt and she were strong enough, she should done our patient no harm," he observed yielding-more like you, Fay; and Misa her heart sink with some undefined fear, help to nurse him by and by, but it would in a half-joking voice. "Sir Hugh is depend upon herself, he said, meaningly; quieter to-day—much quieter. I should spoon of sugar; stir into this a main-joking voive. Sir Hugh is pepper, a teaspoon of butter and a table- foliage. The parasol is finished with deep is so high-spirited and proud. I often saville," she said, as the man entered and Fay promised to eat and sleep that she not be surprised if there be decided im-shadowy room by this time; she lay wide not mind it, I would send for Dr. Martin." Saville had just gone downstairs for that these ponies of yours, who are eating dalk, was burned to the ground on the 17th awake watching the fire-light flicker and "Nonsense," exclaimed her husband something and had left he dressing-room their heads off with idleness, shall be put August. dance on the walls; how odd that people drowsily, for this threat of sending for the door ajar. Fay, gliding down the corridor in harness at once, and you will please take Rev. Thos. Fullerton, late of Dromore, who loved each other so much should doctor had roused him effectually, and he in her white dress, caught sight of the half a long drive that will not bring you within county Down, is in custody charged with was in an entirely novel style. It was to the august presence on that August opened door, and the temptation was too sight of Redmond Hall for the next two forging a cheque on the Belfast Bank for composed of a long polonaise, or rather afternoon, and she said she thought—in course Crystal loved this grand-looking "Why, what a white shaking child you strong for her; the next moment she was hours." Raby, and yet of her own accord she was look, you are not fit to be up so late, Fay; in the dimly lighted room, with her finger Fay laughed at the Doctor's grim face, had a temper of her own if you like; and Mr. Ferrers spoiled her; he was terribly And the next day he reiterated the same was to that little animals shied playfully at a lady in a moment Fay choked back a sob that little animals shied playfully at a lady in a little animals shied playfully at a la ot care to rise.

It was foolish to have tired himself out and kissing the wide staring eyes, laid the Ferrers stepped into the road.

Oughterard.

While Mr.

CHAPTER XX. " LITTLE JOYCE."

In the cruel fire of sorrow Cast thy heart, do not faint or wail, Let thy heart be firm and steady, Do not let thy spirit quail; But wait till the trial be over And take thy heart again : For as gold is tried by fire. A heart must be tried by pain.
Adelaide Anne Procter.

would they please take away his Wee Wife, looked as though he were afraid of me, "I wrote off to the Grange at once, and for he was tired of her. And Fays trembling his own wife : he teld me to go away and so sorry for the poor old, fellow when I one of the horses and galloped off for Dr. feather would have knocked her down. "My heart was in my mouth," she observed, it were possible that he could mean any filled with lively descriptions of a ball and had seen his patient, the mystery was feelingly, "when I heard the pretty creature say those words, 'who is this Sit High had brain fever; and that Margaret of whom he always speaks.' Oh, ir Hugh never told me he had had a bore to mention that the child had always anything was amiss. He scoffed at the idea that his nerves were disorganized; and hospital nurses sent down from London, Hugh—I mean Sir Hugh—doated on her; and lay on this; add another pint of bernes, strew sugar and the index of the dough ing season. Despite the warm weather, man says he has a customer who steals with the utmost recklessness seemed bent on ruining his fine constitution.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In and Dr. Conway, a well-known physician in town, met Dr. Martin in consultation.

In a consultation of the purchases.

In a consultation of the purchases of the purchases.

In a consultation of the purchases of the purchases of the purchases of the purchases.

In a consultation of the purchases of His restlessness and inward struggles Saville and Ellerton were always in the always delicate, and it just carried her this and cover with a crust with a large fur bands for trimming, it must be conings, and the bill is never disputed by her through miry lanes to visit some sick the room his miserable ravings would.

The nurses were too much accustomed lady," was the diplomatic answer. "We lady," was the diplomatic answer. "We thoroughly.

Spoon of butter, a pinch of cayenne pepper, a cup of sweet milk, season to taste. Heat thoroughly. Years afterwards he owned that he never | their patient's wild talk; but the trusty he says. You may depend upon it that looked back on this part of his life without old servants, who knew their master's folk travel backwards in their mind when an inward shudder. What would have secret, shuddered as they heard him, for the fewer gets hold of their brain. Most become of him, he said, if the hand of his talk was always of Margaret. He never likely he is thinking a deal of his mother and Miss Margaret, for he was always an press into a crock and bake an hour. When inward miseries in pernicious drugs; how Maggie -for his own love Margaret; and can see her now, with her curly head and in those solitary vigils, while his innocent | so on, and so on, through the long hours of | white frock, as she pelted Master Hugh with rose-leaves on the lawn. Now, my lady, you are only fit for bed, and there is up delirious fancies that seemed to people | She was a star, and he went seeking her not a morsel of color in your face, and through space till he got lost and entangled | Ellerton says you hardly touched dinner. But he never meant to harm himself in the Milky Way, and revolved madly Now, I am going to bring you up a glass of wine and a sand wich, and you will let Janet pure, and he was not the man to find ing out her hands and calling to him to it matter, she thought again; but with dough as for pot pie, cut into small squares, crown high in front and sloping downward come to her before the door was shut; and her usual sweet courtesy she thanked Mrs. drop into the kettle while boiling. Boil for to the brim at the back are also shown. No, he would not harm himself; but he ever as he tried to climb, the fiends came | Heron, and tried to swallow a few mouth- | twenty minutes. Serve while hot. would only spare him! And then he shook his head as he thought of his unborn child.

"You look so ill, Hugh," Fay would say with tears in her eyes when he came up to with tears in her eyes when he came up to with the construction of bonnets, the former him?

"Oh for Margaret, Well, it was not such a dull evening after "You look so ill, Hugh," Fay would say night, until they thought it must have killed she sobbed, as she tossed wearily in the floured side down, and watch closely account with a very grave face the next down with thick brown paper. Keep in a provement in a few hours, but," as Fay's pity and affectionate sympathy, as she "I was so frightened, dear," she whis- It yielded to her touch at once, and Fay's if Hugh were better; she was quite willing his own, both dying on removal to the hos- a worsted lace of a telegram blue color and dress; that Mrs. — had carried it away the ponies at once, and took the rains in The minutes of the General Assembly of the upper edge, which they let into the her purchase clerk, had been in the room It was the oriel chamber, and Sir Hugh her own hands. The fresh spring sunshine the Irish Presbyterian Church for 1887 material, thus forming deep scollops of the parlor and seen Mrs. — gather up "Oh, is that Saville? I thought—I lay on the very bed where, Mrs. Heron was delicious; the soft breezes seemed show that 719 members attended the last bordered with the lace. The sleeves were the pieces of silk and lace, of course, wholly "Yes, I know all about it - I never cared thought-well never mind. There is noth. had solemnly assured Fay, many a Red. laden with messages of hope. Dr. Martin meeting. very much for the girl," he said, hastily: ing the matter with me, Saville, is there?" mond had breathed his first and last was right when he ordered that drive. The Ennis Board of Guardians have with full ruffles edged with the lace. The astonishment at her carelessness, went off and then, as Fay looked intensely surprised. No, Sir Hugh; only it is late, and I breatlf. It had been found impossible to Fay's little pale face looked less miserable passed a resolution strongly condemning corsage was also shirred in front in full and found that such an accident had really expect you are tired, as my lady said." move him, but Fay did not remember this as she restrained her ponies' frolics. She the dastardly and diabolical attempt to narrow plaits from the throat to the waist. occurred, handed over the lace, and there "I told you we were old friends once, "Oh, but she said I was ill"-very as she stood with beating found herself listening to the birds and blow up the West Clare Railway bridge. taste—handsome, of course, but one could see she had a bit of the devil in her—she think I may as well go to bed and have my her face towards a winding road that led forging 95 bills, amounting to the total of color. One of these dresses, which was " Certainly," returned Fay; and with glad I have met you, because we can go You had better go, my lady, you are together," for she thought Hugh would and I'ay paid visits to Bonnie Bess in her eyes began to shine beautifully, and he grew strained look upon it as Mrs. Heron put her arm round her and led her tenderly to Martin says he is quieter, much quieter, this morning, and he hopes to find de cided improvement in a few hours ; oh, Miss Ferrers, it has been such a terrible time, I do not know how I have lived through it." " It must have been dreadful for you. and your are looking ill yourself, Lady Redmond," with a pitying glance at the small white face that looked smaller an thinner since she saw it last.

"I do not know how I have been," "Oh, my lady, what will Dr. Martin returned Fay, simply. "I seemed to have Tay was rather surprised then to receive morrow, and see Tim Hartlebury, who was lifted her young mistress on to the couch, always meal-time, and one could not cat. panion, a letter from him two or three days after- lying dying or dead, he did not know and stood over her rubbing her hands. It and then night came, but it was not always. wards telling her that Mr. Ferrers' visit which; but a wopes to the Sudbury politics, was a warm April evening, but Fay was possible to sleep. I was always wanderand then they came and told me it was "What does it matter what he says?" wrong to grieve so, but how could I help a husband.

"To be continued."

An Irish laborer in Boston was starting out one morning for his work and a small and, to make matters werse, there is tales—lies—he said, beating wildly on the suffers so cruelly. Oh, Mrs. Heron, would the dirty little morsel of humanity to go some talk of her going out of town with bed-clothes; lies, every one of them, and you believe it? he did not know me; he back, but the urchin kept steadily on, until they came to a place where it was necessary to cross the street. Here the father turned to his offspring, with an air afther goin' straight away home this blessed Mamma. Teacher-Well, she directs the > thing so terrible, and then, perceiving no relenting in the face above him, he turned on his tracks like a flash, and ran home with all the swiftness his live legs could compass .- The Argonant. Royal weddings ought to be numerous within the next few months. Recent statistics point out that there are now in Europe 108 princes and sixty-six princesses of marriageable age. Only six of these are objecting to a night service lately estab. to bring out in this country an adaptation the railroad track, calls upon some philan; Colery, parsley, thyme, summer savory the labor market in Venice is in rather a legally forbidden to make use of his own couragement of Track Walking." The She grew less child-like and more creature in her motherly arms when Dr. be Sir Hugh thinks about the little sister sage, etc., should be dried and pulverized disturbed condition, for the bakers are out property.

CULINARY RECIPES.

HUCKLEBERRY PUDDING. Make a crust as for tea biscuit. Line the bottom and sides of a pulding dish. Serve with cream and sugar.

A GOOD BREAKFAST DISH. Cut cold boiled potatoes into small pieces, add three hard boiled eggs chopped, a table-MINCED VEAL.

Take three sounds of cooked veal, chop, add three beaten eggs, four rolled crackers, butter size of an egg, pepper and salt well ; cold turn out and slice down on a platter. nets so far. The close capote form, and A Broadway baker, to whose slop it is the GREEN CORN PUDDING Grate a dozen ears of green corn, add one quart of sweet milk, one-quarter pound of butter, four well-beaten eggs, pepper and salt to taste. Bake one hour and a half in a buttered dish.

POTATO SOUP. Pare and cut into small pieces four goodsized potatoes, boil tender; add a quart of good sweet milk, season with salt and pep-

FRIED TOMATOES. Select smooth, hard tomatoes, wash and wipe but do not pare them, cut in halves with three or four exquisite deep pink roses with their customers. There are many places in honest old Dublin where you take your class and go by yourself to the molds. all; neither of them could tell how the time had passed when Ellerton came in to say the last train had been due for some with me a little."

In the loured side down, and watch closely with me a little."

Those were terrible days at Redmond darkness. Janet who was sleeping in the with me a little."

Hall. The very servants went carefully adjoining room, heard her once and came to brown. A sauce is by some considered an with salt and thicken with a teaspoonful of corn starch; when it boils pour it over the

BAKED DAMSONS FOR WINTER USE. Choose some fruit not too ripe. To every Eric describe this Crystal over and over again. She must be an odd girl, she again. She must be an odd girl, she must be an odd girl, she with saucers; place in a moderate oven and with saucers; place in a moderate oven and when the hat is in red or marine blue straw when the hat is in red or marine blue straw when the hat is in red or marine blue straw when the hat is in red or marine blue straw drawer of a cabinet. When, a few minutes and to think she was living with the other "Come, Hugh," she said, softly, " it is would make Fay cease from those aimless Fay, and by she slept the unbroken cover the jar with a piece of paper to just grated bread crumbs. Serve while hot. Latest from Ireland.

> STEWED TOMATOES. Pare and cut in pieces large ripe toma-

likely to recover.

Frozen Meats in Siberia.

soon as the severe cold sets in they are him out of his financial difficulties. In 1881 exposed to the air, if possible toward the he was the hero of a very painful scandal ings, on account of their being more readily north; where there is no sun to reach them; in London, which involved his sudden and completely ventilated than dwellings they thus become completely frozen. resignation of the captaincy of the that are high coiled, are now very generally When eaten they are found to have retained | Queen's Body Guard of Gentle- | admitted by builders and sanitarians. The their flavor marvellously, notwithstanding men-at-Arms, and a precipitate |de- view taken of this matter, from the standtheir change from a frozen rigidity to the parture for the wilds of Albania in point of health, is, briefly, that the leakage thawed state necessary for use. At the order to avoid arrest and a criminal prose- of air which is always going on keeps all moment of being served they are usually as cution. The matter was one in which the parts of the air in motion in such rooms, hard as wood, and, if they chance to fall, words "fradulent signatures" and "fraud- whereass, if the ceiling is higher, only the rattle like stones upon the floor. The heat | ulent mortgages" repeatedly exopped up, lower part of the air is moved, and an inof the room gradually softens them and and was only with difficulty compounded verted lake of foul and hot air is left float-

into the room?"

Applying a Text. Sunday School Teacher-"You seem to remember what Eve was told would be the penalty of her disobedience, but I don't think you quite understand it. Now, in a family, who is called the head of the house? Little Girl The one who does the difficulty was experienced in proving two haft to be a coachman to be an init. Now bossing: the one who directs its affairs, of the cases, owing to a device resorted to it is necessary for him to be a Mongolian by the liquor sellers in the place known as in order to be in style. Soon the windows servants; but who sometimes makes her has to go through a long corridor, when he by fashionable girls in search of husbands a spell had arrested his footsteps . He Teacher-I do .- Omalu Rorld.

> Business Dull. Clergynfan-How is your health this summer? I trust you have been well durng the sultry weather? Undertaker-Pretty well, thank you. Clergyman-And how is business? buried a living soul for weeks .- Lowell

FALL STYLES.

What will be Worn by Ladies on their How Women in Polite Society Get the Best . narming Little Heads.

(From Gelignani's Messenger, Paris.) fessed that the new winter fashions for husband, who knows too well that the headgear are very tasteful. Velvet, dotted demands are just. There is a young marwith minute spangles in gold, silver or ried woman in one of the wealthiest famisteel, or embroidered with gold thread and lies, who can spend a fortune a year on spangles, forms the richest material for little things, and yet she will pick up and bonnets. Bands of astrakhan or sealkin or of curled ostrich feathers will be much used for trimming. Felt hats and bonnets in cles. A work basket is a happy hunting white or pale gray are shown, the former ground for her. On an casy calculation trimmed with pale gray satin ribbon and she must have one hundred pairs of scisostrich tips of the same hue. White felt sors. In any of the houses where she bonnets with brims in ruby or sapphire vel- habitually calls, if nee des, threads and vet are very successful. There is but little thimbles are miss ng, ne inquiry is heard; variation in the shapes of the winter bon- "Has Mrs. - tee . here this morning?" that with a pointed brim and with flat sides, custom for ladies to go to luncheon, has the maintain their place in popular favor.

LOW CROWNS FOR HATS. Hats will be worn with much lower crowns than they were last season. The prevailing form will be the cavalier shape. with low set crown and a wide brim raised at the back and held in place by a bow of satin ribbon. In white felt, with the inside of the brim of a delicate grey and all the trimmings in the latter hue, this style is point out doughnuts and crullers and an peculiarly elegant. Toque hats, with the

A bonnet with the crown and sides in black velvet, embroidered with jet and and having the front in a lattice work pat- the trusting Dublin restaurant keepers do and the latter with dark green.

GAUZE SCARF VEILS. deal worn with the new sailor shaped hats. York young lady would spend an afternoon One end of the scarf is attached to the sampling, come up plum full of Lachryma inner edge of the crown at the back, and it | Christi, and tender the deluded boniface is then wound locsely around the wearer's | the price of one glass of cider. throat. Sometimes two long narrow scarfs instead of one wide one are employed. A wealthy lady was shown into a parlor, These are crossed under the chin and the | the other day, and left for a few minutes ends are thrown over the shoulders; but to herself. Just before this visit another

The gauze and tulle parasols have wholly vanished, and have been replaced by those in blue taffetas, or in black and white pekin, with the stripes made up around the frame. A very elegant style of parasol is in black taffetas or black satin, painted the house. But that was impossible, urged toes, put into a saucepan and stew briskly by hand in one of its divisions with a large twenty minutes; season with salt and cluster of pale tinted roses, with buds- and spoon of sugar; stir into this a cupful of ruffles of Chantilly lace. Birds are occasionally used to decorate the apex of the parasol, but the fashion is more eccentric than elegant, especially when very large birds, such as doves or paroquets, are thus employed. NOVELTIES IN TOILETS. princess cut dress in white voile, slightly fact, she knew-five yards of lace belong-At Dublin on the 13th Aug. a discharged draped over a plaited skirt of the same ing to Mrs. Smith had been inadvertently of a Gothic pattern, having long points in | to have a hat made from, because Mathilde, From England comes a new and artistic | the matter ended .- New York Letter.

Carnegie's Scottish Purchases, Often fruits preserved in ice are placed is the head of the clan. He is so persistently which have sprung up from the cuttings. upon the table of the Siberian evening in debt that even his father-in-law, the meal, the method of keeping them being wealthy banker, Sir Cunliffe Brooks, has similar to that employed with meats. As refused to come forward any more to help assume their original form .- Fouth's Com. by his father in law, who did not wish his long in the space above the window tops.

daughter's coreset to be dragged through To have the currents of fresh air circulat the courts of justice. Personally, ford ling only in the lower parts of the room, Huntly is a charming fellow, extremely while the upper portion of the air is left A Dallas lady was giving her daughter | handsome, elegant and with a very winning | unaffected, is really the worst away of veninstructions in cliquette and how to acquire | way about him. His eyes, how yer, are | tilating, for the stagmant atmospheric lake unsatisfactory and unsettled. His sister | under the ceiling, although motionless, "If a gentleman enters the room eti. has the misfortune to be the invalid wife of keeps actively at work under the law of the Gordon, appeared some eighteen months ceilings and high windows no such accu-"But suppose no gentlemen ever comes | ago before the public as the part proprietor | mulation of air is possible, for the whole of a disreputable gambling hell, which had height of the room is swept by the currents "Then of course you don't change your got into trouble with the police. Lady as the dust of the floor is swept with a position; you remain just as you are."- Granville Gordon is the well-known Bond broom. Again, it is urged in behalf of low street milliner, who trades under the name | ealings that they present the advantage of of Mme. Lvy & Co.- New York World.

The Latest Doilge.

The infringers of the Scott Act are having a lively time in Stanstead, seven of Paslaon in husbands changes same as it them having been fixed last week. Some does in everything else. A spell ago he "The Cave." The person desiring liquor of Chimse hundrymen will be so darkened do things she don't want to very much? comes to a wicket in the wall. On making that it will be necessary to light the gas so known his wants a hand appears with the | that work can go on. - Too Settings. desired drink in a bottle, but no face or form is visible. - Missisquoi (Que.) Record.

Osn of the most amusing incidents of this non-copyright period, says the literary in law the other evening, " Brown," said seditor of the New York Tribine, is the she, " I am not going to ruin my reputasolemn advertisement of the California tion by quarrelling with you. Wait till Undertaker-Poor, poor. I haven't adapter of Rider Haggard's "She" my other girls are married. At present, announcing that he has sold a share of his as a mother-in-law. I am only an amateur. dramatization, has copyrighted the same and will prosecute anybody infringing The Venetian gondoliers have struck, upon it. So that if Mr. Haggard attempted number of people killed while walking upon

FEMALE KLEPTOMANIACS.

of Tradesman and Frend

family of this kleptomaniae among his customers. He makes out his monthly bill for all that he leaves at the house and then puts in the mysterious charge: "Lunch loss, $25." She is in the habit of going to the Broadway establish ment, eating a couple of dollars' worth, and then greeting the cashier with an inventory of 50 cents' worth. She will smilingly occasional ginger snap as having formed her meal; whereas, she has steadily eaten her way round the shop, munching 10 cent tarts and 15 cent eclaires. It would never do to let her loose in the wine cellars, as selection, help yourself, go back to the sinple landlord in the little tap room above stairs, tell him what you have drunk, have Scarfs of tulle or of gauze are now a good | a settlement, and go your way. Our New red gauze is used with very excellent effect. later, it was brought to the workroom, the forewoman sent word that the quantity was insufficient for the design, and the owner was notified. The lady came promptly. She had measured the lace herself, bought it herself, and if there were five yards to the bad, it had been taken in the dressmaker, as no one had been in the room but Mrs. ---, and not one of the employees. " no more," laughed the owner of the lace. "We know where the lace is, if Mrs. has been in its neighborhood." The poor dressmaker had her eyes opened to many a petty loss since the kleptomaniac had favored her with her custom, but she had a good deal of nerve. She took the

talking. Fay; of course every one in called him at the usual time, and he had changed face that lay on the pillow; and she turned Fay saw that it was Miss Kinkead, Son of Dr. Kinkead, Galway; and garland of wild roses painted in water acre or fifty-nine square rods, produced Sandycliffe and Singleton knows the story. slept late; but he had no appetite, and did then, regardless of everything but her love Ferrers, and involuntarily checked her Mr. Roberts, son of a clergyman at colors. A very wide sash of the same silk 1.406 five holed fence posts, which sold at was looped at the back of the skirt and 10 cents each; 150 smaller posts at 15 While Mr. Tweedy Scott, a Scottish gen- was painted to correspond, the garland cents each, and 250 stakes at 5 cents, pected pleasure. May I-may I'-hesitat. his foothold and fell 40 feet, sustaining one side on the flat bias folds of silk that $1,600, besides smaller amounts. The cost of cutting, dressing and boring is not stated. The trees were raised on broken portions of the farm, too rough for tillage, and were cut nine years ago. They were planted at It is announced that Mr. Andrew intervals since 1830, the average age of the No precautions are required for the Carnegie is about to purchase Aboyne trees being about fifty years. The managepreservation of beef, for it takes ca. + of Castle, the magnificent estate of the ment which they received is not stated. On itself. Nearly all butchers kill at the Marquis of Huntly, who passed through the measured portion it will be perceived beginning of cold weather a sufficient num- New York about a fortnight ago on his way that the annual profit per acre on the ber of animals to furnish provisions for the to England. The sale, if it does take place, growth of the trees, not including interest, entire winter and allow the meat to freeze. is more likely to benefit Lord Huntly's was $32. As this result appears to have There is no fear of any food changing in creditors than himself, for there is hardly a been obtained from rough fand which was such a temperature. The fish become so square foot of the domain which is not not not subjected to cultivation, it would be solid and stiff that they are set up on their overburdened with heavy mortgages. There interesting to know what could be had from tails against the walls of the markets, be really scens to be a kind of curse resting good, well cultivated ground. The area cut the tail ever so long and the fish ever so on this Gordon family, one of the noblest over nine years ago is now covered with a and most ancient in Scotland. The Marquis | luxuriant growth of handsome young trees

Advantage of Low Cuillings. The advantages of low cailings for dwellenabling rooms to be warmed with less expenditure of heat and less cost for fuel.

Trouble to Come.

Had Only One Married.

Theograph who has married the eldest of even girls, tried to quarrel with his mother lished on the Grand Canal. Altogether by himself of his own book he could be thropist to form a " Society for the Diswomanly, and day by day there grew a Martin brought her downstairs, and who died when he was a lad at school, and motor that of the fly on society and accomplish the object by abolish. railroads of the country should form such a ing grade crossings.