OOK'S NEW BLOCK, BROCKVILLE, ONT.

THE REPORTER

FARMERSVILLE, SEPT. 18, 1888.

LOCAL SUMMARY.

FARMERSVILLE AND NEIGHBORHOOD BRIEFLY WRITTEN UP.

Events as Seen by Our Knight of the Pencil—Local Announcements Boiled Right Down.

Mr. John Hunt, of Huron County, is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

The Norfolk Jubilee Singers, said to be a good troupe, appear at the town hall to-morrow night.

The recent arrivals of new fall goods at Mr. H. H. Arnold's store have been very extensive. Call and see them.

During the week ending Saturday last, 14 new subscribers were added to the REPORTER's subscription list.

Service will be held at 7 p.m., instead of 10 a.m., at the Plum Hollow Baptist Church, on Sunday, the 23rd.

The REPORTER from now until the first of January, to new subscribers, for 25 cents, or one dollar to the end of 1889, payable in advance.

For best value in table linens, towels, towellings, sheetings, tickings, ginghams, etc., go to F. Shaw & Co., Central Block, King st., Brockville.

The Rev. John Sirrell, of White Lake, officiated at the Baptist Church last Sunday, and preached an excellent sermon.

The Rev. Jas. Pullar will preach at St. Paul's Church on Sabbath evening next, at 7 o'clock. Sabbath School and Pastor's Bible Class at half-past two.

The funeral sermon on the late Mrs Lydia Sheldon, will be preached on Sunday next, at 10.30 a.m., in the Baptist Church. There will be no service in the evening.

The band gave an open air concert last Friday evening. The music was finely played, and many were the expressions of praise bestowed upon the band and their conductor, Mr. Herb. Kincaid.

For best value in dress goods go to Shaw's. New feather trimmings, new braid trimmings and new silk plushes to match. Remember the place—F. Shaw & Co., Central Block, King st., Brockville.

Owing to the large increase in our subscription list during the past few weeks we have been obliged to issue half sheets on several occasions to supply our exchanges. We hope our confreres will accept of this apology.

The H. H. Arnold block is fast nearing completion, and in a few weeks it will be finished. When completed it will be one of the finest stores in a village which can safely boast of having as fine buildings as there are in Ontario.

The Municipal Council made an appropriation of $100 by way of loan to the village road commission, to help extend the side walk to the station. Now is the time the sidewalk is needed, and steps should be taken to have the work done at once.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Geo. Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine. We have had dealings with this firm, and can truthfully say that they do all and more than they advertise. We have a set of four pictures which we received from them for advertising, and would be pleased to show them to anyone. They are superb works of art, worthy a place in the palace of a king.

On Thursday last Mr. Levi Johnston and family left Farmersville for St. Thomas, Ont., where they go to settle. Mr. Johnston has resided in this vicinity nearly a lifetime, and all miss his familiar face on the streets. While we are sorry to lose any of our citizens we like to see every one try to better their condition, and we, with many others, hope that the change may be to Mr. Johnston's advantage.

D. C. Brown, son of Mr. G. A. Brown, of Farmersville, started on Monday for Hamilton Collegiate Institute, where he takes his first year's work in the Art's course. He will complete his studies in the Toronto University. Del. has for his associates three very estimable young men in the persons of E. Wilson, G. Rogers and R. Hunter, all of whom are well known here. We wish the young men a prosperous scholastic career.

On the 10th inst. James Koyle died suddenly at Mr. E. Haskins' residence, near Lansdowne. He fell on the road in a fainting condition, and afterwards recovered sufficiently to be helped to the house. Half an hour afterwards he started to walk again, but fell a second time and died in a few minutes. The deceased was a brother of Mr. Turner Koyle, of Brockville, and was 69 years of age at the time of his death. Our readers will remember that he was doing business in this neighborhood during the past summer.

The parties who stole a quantity of fence wire from the track of the B. & W., about two miles above Farmersville, must have got frightened at the prospect of detection. A few nights after the advertisement offering a reward for the apprehension of the thief appeared in the REPORTER, a portion of the wire was returned. The officials believe they have a clew that will lead to the detection of the guilty parties, but wish us to state that if the balance of the wire is returned they will overlook the matter. A word to the wise, etc.

Our wedding stationery, including a fine variety kept in stock and a large number of samples from which customers can select, is one of the finest assortments of these goods to be found in any printing office outside the large cities. We print invitations in a neat and artistic manner, having lately received several new fonts of type especially adapted for this work. Those who have the management of wedding festivities should see our stationery before ordering elsewhere.

We understand that Mr. Phil. Wiltse has sold out the millinery stock on hand in his store to Mrs. Wm. Mott, who will at once move into the rooms in the Montreal House, where she will carry on the business in future. Mrs. Mott has secured the services of Miss Johnston, for the season, who having just returned from an extended visit to the millinery establishments in New York and Montreal, will no doubt be able to cater to the tastes of the ladies of this section to their entire satisfaction. Mrs. Mott's announcement will appear in a few days.

By Thursdays mail we received a card announcing the marriage of Mr. Geo. L. Compo, formerly a well known citizen of this town, to Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Amerman, of Brooklyn, N.Y. The wedding, which was a very quiet affair, occurred on Wednesday, the 12th inst., and after its conclusion the happy couple started for this place on their wedding trip, reaching here by the B. & W. on Thursday afternoon. The large number of persons who went up to the station to meet the newly wedded, pair attested to the high esteem in which the people of Farmersville held Mr. Compo. Mr. Fred. Lee, who held a position in the same establishment in which Mr. Compo is employed, was at the station with his team, and the bridal party were driven to the residence of Mrs. John D. Redmond, where they will be guests while in this vicinity. Mr. Compo has held a good position in the large establishment of J. D. Mathews & Son, Fulton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for a number of years. About six months ago he was promoted to the position of manager of the shoe department of the store, a position of great responsibility and trust, but one to which he had won his way by hard work and sterling integrity. On Saturday a number of Mr. Compo's friends made up a small party and visited Charleston Lake. Dr. C. M. B. Cornell kindly offered the use of his beautiful cottage to the party, who spent a very pleasant afternoon in the enjoyment of Charleston's bracing air and lovely scenery.

Advertisers should make a note of the fact that the circulation of the REPORTER in the county of Leeds is almost equal to that of any of our confreres, although some of them have been in existence more than seventy years. We know whereof we speak, and invite advertisers to inspect our subscription list in order to be convinced that our assertion is correct. Another thing our patrons should note is the fact that we wholly discard quack nostrum ads., preferring to stake our existence on the support of the live business men. Thus far our expectations have been more than realized, for which we feel grateful to our advertising patrons.

Mr. Alex. Compo, head sawyer and miller in Saunders' mills, has a little friend in the person of a dog named Hero, which is owned by Mr. Eph. Haskins. This dog has been taught many tricks, and among them the feat of ascending and descending ladders man fashion. That the dog has a goodly amount of intelligence the following story shows: Mr. Compo usually looks out of the mill windows, or goes outside, to view the passenger trains as they pass over the B. & W. Hero had noticed Mr. Compo's habit, and on Saturday last, when the noise of the mill machinery prevailed over the rumble of the cars, he came in the mill and made all kinds of demonstrations indicating that Mr. Compo was wanted outside. The dog appeared so urgent that the man accompanied him to the door to find that the train was just passing. Hero's delight at the success of his manœuvre was apparently unbounded.

FROM THE FAR NORTH-WEST.

Our Special Correspondent Writes Eloquently of the National Park and the Journey to it.

MAPLE CREEK, N. W. T., Sept. 1.—The sun shines in my window, birds, unknown in Ontario, are singing in the pure air of morning and a light smoke lingers on the crest of Cyprus Hills. I sit, awed, in contemplating the potentialities of this prairie. Here are more than five hundred thousand square miles of the best soil in America, with a climate as near perfect as earth contains. Flocks and herds roam thriving on the plains, unsheltered and unfed, all winter. Autumn's work completed, the farmer removes the harness, (no yokes are here) and sees no more of his beasts till spring. All are branded. A few milch cows and one or a span of horses, are kept at home for daily work, as required. Few large horses are seen, but the oxen are large. Indians and squaws are numerous. What seems mysterious, is the mildness of this clime. Official reports show that less than a foot of snow fell here in 1887, altogether. Four inches is regarded as a heavy fall. Fields of oats have averaged 110 bushels per acre, weighing 48 lbs. a bushel. Near Calgary lately, I saw oats and barley better than I ever saw growing before. Wheat this year averages 30 bushels an acre. The Northwest will have over 20 million bushels to sell. The vast horizon and transparency of the air render an Ontarioan at sea—he fails in size and distance. During holidays I took a near ride of seventeen hours, starting at 12.30 p.m. Next day, at early dawn I saw a bluff on the right, about 20 rods ahead. It seemed not higher than Beaver meadow hill. On went the cars and on went that bluff, swelling, sweating and foaming like a war steed. After racing three hours the car outflanked the brute. As we went by I noticed it was festooned with snow-wreaths. What in the light of morning I had taken for a near hill, was a stupendous mountain, more than 50 miles distant. Arrived at my destination I looked. Cumulus clouds, whose upper surface shone like burnished gold, hung far beneath the mountain tops, crystal lakes, rivers, falls and cascades, literally streaming from the sky, surrounded me. I saw, and was satisfied with seeing. I climbed a mountain more than 7000 feet high, and looked. California crazes Yankedom, with Yosemite Falls of 1400 feet. I saw a cascade here in which the fall was more than 4000 feet. The voice of many waters! How musical the distant hum! Nature's gentle finger touch makes an imprint none can describe! Here was Canada's National Park—peerless! Once Cyrus W. Field was shown it, and asked to be shown the tree whence Eve plucked the forbidden fruit. No visitor ever saw its equal. I have no wish to behold a finer scene. Experienced travellers say the same, as may be noted in a late Globe.

The National Rocky Mountain Park is 16 by 10 miles in extent, situate in Alberta, about 30 miles east of British Columbia. Though established little over two years it has already become noted as a visiting place for pleasure-seeking tourists. On its rivers and lakes are several steamboats, and in its waters revels the speckled trout. Besides its unparralleled attractions of contour, the Park is a health resort. It has many medicinal springs, varying in temperature from 67° to 120° Fah. They are claimed to be specific in rheumatism and febrile affections. A sanitarium is constructed and furnished with baths, where aching ones are cared for, doctored and boarded at from $12 to $18 a week. I saw one who had been ten years crippled by rheumatism who was perfectly cured in twelve days bathing in those Hot Springs. In ordinary hotels, of which half a dozen are in the Park, board costs but $6 a week. Once a tourist visits the Canadian Park, Banff, he will never seek superior attractions, for he will not wish for them, and though he sought he could nowhere find them.

Did Old Canada know of this, her glorious North West—did she know it as it is, and as it is certain to become, she would never "cut sticks and slide" to the States. Free Trade never was, never will be, a factor of Yankeeland. (I wish the Great Republic had a name of its own.) The harping of spouters and fourth-estatemen, on unrestricted reciprocity is futile, and harmful. By praising Yankee land they make Canadians sick of Canada, and off they go to the States, leaving a far better land of their own. In the not distant future Yankees will come to Canada's North-West in greater numbers than our people ever went over there N. L. H.

THE CHEESE MARKETS.

Special to REPORTER.]

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 18.—The cheese markets this morning, from Liverpool westward, present a weak, dull and unsatisfactory aspect. There has been but little change, and even that is in the direction of lower prices.

On Thursday there were no registrations on the Brockville Board, owing to the absence of the Secretary. There were salesmen, nevertheless, with plenty of cheese to dispose of. The efforts to sell were for the most part ineffectual, owing to the inability of buyers to make salesmen's 9c. views coincide with their 8¾c. orders. One buyer purchased 760 boxes at 8¾c. and 300 at 8¾c.

Out of 12,888 boxes offered the same day at Belleville, Woodstock, Stratford and Aylmer markets, only 700 were reported sold; price 8¾c.

A number of Farmersville owners of fast nags have made arrangements with Mr. W. W. Plimton, of Jefferson Co., Y. Y., to put their horses through a "course of sprouts" on the Driving Park track. We understand that Mr. Plimton comes well recommended by some of the best horse owners in his native country. It is rumored on the streets that an effort will be made to have a race meeting at our driving park, after the fairs are over.
