A Diver and an Octopus, A man named Alexander McGovan, engaged in the Wellington (New Zealand) Harbor Improvement Works, has just had a remarkable encounter with an octopus. McGovan went down in his diving dress for the purpose of setting some large blocks under the water in which piles had been previously driven. As McGovan was in the act of placing one of the blocks, he was assized by an immense octopus. The knowing the octopus had released its grasp of the piles. This was no scouer done than McGovan gave the signal to be hauled up. His signals were quickly responded to, and

'An English Medical Authority affirms that the best regimen for preserving health may be summed up in the maxim, "keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels active." There is a world of wisdom in the observation. Obstinate constipation, or costiveness, is an exciting cause of other diseases; and, with many persons of sadeutary babits or compations, this insction of the bowels is a sort of constant annoyance, producing piles, prolapse of the rectum, fistula and various dyspeptie symptoms. All these are warded off, and health is maintained, by the use of Dr.
