LATER -Mr. Anson was shot in the head, and died about noon. Mary was also shot in the head, but the ball glanced around under the scalp and made only a flesh wound which will soon heal. Agnes re osived a ball above the right temple, which penetrated the brain, and still remains there. She will undoubtedly die. Michael When Clispy entered the house he had a pistol in each hand, and as is now learned began firing at once, and without other warning than using the word : " Now." When Michael grappled with him Clispy dropped one pistol and ran up to a balcony on the second floor and there fired three balls into his head. It is said Clispy forced his astantions on Mary, and when he found she did not care for him, and that the family opposed their marriage he threatened
