'How awkward it does seem," said he, " and yet I socit's true. While we walk straight on eight small legs, he goes sideways on two ! His shell looks soft, and seems to be a kind sickly pink; Much ugier than our dull brown, I think. With his small claws how could he tear weakest lish in two ! And if he tried to fight a crab-I don't see what Is eyes are flat. How can he look behind him can't sos how he lives at all. What use such things bo I" Tis hard to tell," the mother said. "Your father used to say "nat boys and nets were trials, love, and useful in this way : When youthful crabs are lazy, and won't learn These creatures come to punish them, and on the their bodies feed! on Monday, as we come home from the their bodies feed! Here it shelteringly protects the town, at these Friday receptions, when an angry which fondly acknowledges its sway, and the total them. to awim with speed, dive with care, "hat when the boys with nots shall scoop, they will not find you ther.

" Are they nice !- that is to say, are they care to be responsible for-you know what I mean? Are they ladies? Inquired Mrs. Aarona, who, by virtue of her own extraction, was bound to be select and exclusive in her choice of acquaintances. "Most certainly," replied Paul, with imner of doubt about that. Born ladies." "Then you want me to take them up, so that you can have it here ? Is that it?" The little man was looking so ferocions, and his departure from her side appeared so imminent, that she changed her tone quickly after putting this question. " Never mind,"

"I don't wish you for a moment to do what would be at all unpleasant to yourself." he said, still in a hurt, blunt tone, but visibly softening. "It won't be unpleasant to me," she said sentimentally, " if it will please you,"

CHAPTER X. THE FIRST INVITATION.

6, at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Could they afford themselves new all—and no one can properly translate that watched the brougham which had brought frocks !- say, black grenadines that piano part-not one in ten thousand. But her trundling slowly up and down the street would do for the summer afterwards. It is well done. Yes, it is very well done. for half-an-hour, and then saw her get into This suggestion was inquired into at several And I have long been wanting my friend to it and drive off; which facts, communicated shops and of several dressmakers, and then try it with me.

als like mice into a hole it will be a bad precedent, Patty." when the cat has frightened them. At | "Then we won't break them," said Patty her; and they were walk Eleanor.

the change in their outward appearance can help it." that a few weeks of Melbourne experience had brought about, and pleased himself would, perhaps, be best, as there was so with thinking how much their distinguished much danger of incongruitles if they trusted aspect must have impressed that discerning to their entrained invention. Whereupon woman of the world, who had so kindly Patty pointed out that they would have to condescended to take them up. They were buy ruffles, while the lace would cost nothdressed in their new gowns, and bonneted, ing, which consideration, added to their booted and gloved in the neatest manner; secret wish for a little special decoration, a little air of the mode pervaded them now, now that the occasion for it had arisen-the while the primitive purity of their taste was | love of adornment being, though refined and still unadulterated. They had never looked | chastened, an ingredient of their nature an more charming, more obviously "born of every other woman's-carried the day in ladies" than to-day, as he saw them after | favor of "mother's things."

so long an interval. the unexpected meeting with admirable for spread the selected finery on their little the unexpected meeting with admirable for spread the selected finery on their little hear you play it "-suddenly bethinking sea himself, and that the fiend who slopped wherewithal to make butterfly nets, and beds, "I think that ladies ought to know herself of her hostess—and smiling upon over to a waltz tempo shout Annie Rooney killing-boxes, and specimen boxes, and I have to dress themself of her hostess—and smiling upon faltering of that free and graceful gait that was so noticeable in a city full of starched and whale-boned women, and, as he lifted before."

I have to go, and that whoever avolved of eourse, if you ever hear that their mother lifted before. The lifting-boxes, and specimen boxes, and have to a waitz tempo anout Annie reconey had to marry Annie and live with her in that lady—"if she has never had that treat before."

I have to go, and that whoever avolved of eourse, if you ever hear that their mother lifting boxes, and it is a waitz tempo anout Annie reconey had to marry Annie and live with her in that lady—"if she has never had that treat before." his hat, bowed gravely -- Elizabeth only giving him a discribed smile and what will be first, what they can afford and what will be smile and the smile smile and what will be smile and the smile s his hat, bowed gravely—Elizabeth only giving him a dignified smile, and wishing him a good evening as ahe went by. He let them pass him, as they seemed to wish to pass
him, as they seemed to wish to pass
him, as they seemed to wish to pass
him; then he turned sharply and followed his hat, bowed gravely—Elizabeth only giving him a dignified smile, and wishing him a dignified smile, and wishing him and Herr Wullner went himself, though
those lines and that aria relating to Miss
and Herr Wullner went himself, though those lines and there will be
and Herr Wullner went himself, though
those lines and that aria relating to Miss wild pursuit of Her Majesty, the glorious and then they should think what would demned to two years in solitary confinement look protty in a picture. And they should
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head to make the violation
with an automatic hand-organ that played
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned of her anointing telegraph
with an automatic hand-organ that played
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned of her anointing telegraph
with an automatic hand-organ that played
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head tuned of her anointing telegraph
with an automatic hand-organ that played
by the head tuned up his strings a little,
by the head to make the violation
with a pass him, as they seemed to wish to pass and therr Wullner went himself, though the solution of the mission of the solution of the played or if you hear of her anointing telegraph
to the pass him, as they seemed to wish to pass and therr will be and the played
or if you hear of her anointing telegraph
to the pass him, as they seemed to wish to pass
and the pass him, as they can affect the mission of the pass him and the pass him and the pass him and the pass him and the pass him a him; then he turned sharply and followed | put on that." them. It was a chance he might not get again for months, perhaps, and he could not | not intended to go to this particular Friday, afford to let it slip.

brusque way ; and at the sound of his voice | them, found that he could not resist the Elizabeth looked back and waited for him to | temptation to see with his own eyes how join her, while her younger sisters, at a sign | they were getting on ; and when he had from Patty, walked on at a brisk pace, leav. entered the room, which was unusually ing her in command of the situation. " Miss crowded, and had prowled about for a few King," said Paul, earnestly, "I am so glad | minutes amongst the unpleasantly tall men to have an opportunity of speaking to you - who obstructed his view in all directions, he I have been wanting all the week to see you, | was surprised and enraged to see the three that I might thank you for your kindness in | girls sitting side by side in a corner, looking. asking me to tea."

scarlet, "don't mention it, Mr. Brion. We past them as if they had not been there. thought of it merely as a -a little attention One glance was enough to satisfy him that -a sort of acknowledgement-to your there had been no fear of their not looking father; that it might please him, perhaps, "nice." Patty's bright and flushed but (just for you to see that we had settled ourselves, | now | severe little face, rising so proudly experience of corruption which originated them. I hate to hear you speak of improvely, as if you could even conceive the

we must behave ourselves accordingly, said Elizabeth, who was beginning to feel glad probably wishing (as was findeed the case— probably wishing (as was findeed the case— probably wishing to feel glad probably wishin

"As it happened—yes. It was on Satur-bum a quick nod and smile, as if to say, "I possessed as the great lady who convoyed her across the room. The events of the you all at home when she called ?" day afternoon, when we are generally rather | see you, but you must be perfectly aware | evening had roused her spirit and strung up "And have you returned her call yet?" now." Paul understood her, and, not have strings, and abe, too, was in a daring and up from the Bible he was reading.
"No. We don't mean to return it," said ing the bonor of Mrs. Duff-Scott's acquaint-audacious mood.

niways heard, and I can speak a little from emotion. personal knowledge-that she is a particu- ' "It was, indeed," assented Mrs. Duff. campitive instrument ought to be deferred inty nice from the same time, having a mark—the capital D, with the anohor in the middle of it. It is extremely mare, and ing the missing air in her flexible trilling the middle of it. It is extremely mare, and ing the missing air in her flexible trilling relired tien. pleasanthines, where you might meet interest. I had no hope of ever possessing a speci. | votes; and just now she was in that peculiar og people whom you would like. Oh, don't man," sciedures her at first sight in that way ! | " I know you would like to have it.

has done us a kindness, it is right to other lady retorted, a little byusquely. "I not nowledge it in whatever is the proper don't like to see people ignorant—I am who took a dislike to her and marticularly quite ready to share and share." Then she who took a dislike to her, and particularly wished not to see her again. Patty thought be sufficiently obliged to Mr. Aarons for despair. she asked too many questions, and that she taking so much trouble on my account. I into our affairs. She was certainly a little find out how much I am in his debtimpertinent, I thought. But then, per- though, of course, no money can represent haps, ladies in 'the world' don't look at | the true worth of such a treasure, and I these things as we have been accustomed to shall always feel that I have robbed him." do," added Elizabeth humbly.

By this time they had reached the gate heavily-ringed hands. "You will hurt through which Patty and Eleanor had him dreadfully if you think of such a thing. You see you have an opening movement to saw the pair flitting along the pavement a vice. And such a mero trifle as it is !" only to quarrel with her.

"Good night, Miss King. I am so glad us." to have seen you," he responded, glaring A little more discussion ensued, which fiercely at the balcony and the blank win- Paul watched with an amused smile; and dow overhead, " And-and you will return | Mrs. Duff-Scott gave in.

that call, won't you?" in Melbourne very well now, with the help to contribute to your collection."

other spreading a snow-white cloth on the musical people may be bored by it) love to ering herself instantly, only served to show his father. What do you want with him?" aitting-room table—Paul Brion to get halfindulge in whenever an occasion offers, more clearly the finished quality of her ask what His Lordship thought of our city, repairing to the reporters' gallery of "the vaguely, and not understanding a word of musical experience. She was conscious her- and I wanted to put the interview in my and the first news he heard of them was | head from Mrs. Aarons, whom he chanced to meet when she was shopping one fine more ing in Collins street.

You see, I remembered my promise, she said, when matters of more persons' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as nearly touched his knees.

"Extraordinary - how extraordinary ?" is it?"

The said, laying her jewelled ingers on his coat sleeve for a moment, "I will not be jealous—at least I will try not to be. I will go and call on them to morrow, and as what will go and call on them to morrow, and as the said Herr Wullner, in that of her personal appearance, and been parhad of her personal appearance, and her personal appearance, The said, laying her jewelled fingers on his will go and call on them to-morrow, and as said. "Perhaps so—now you mention it," he nunciation with which the cultivated her neck.

soon as they have called on me I will ask period with whom we are in war necessary. The nunciation with whom we are in war necessary. The nunciation with whom we are in war necessary. The nunciation with whom we are in war necessary. The nunciation with whom we are in war necessary. soon as they have called on me I will ask usual girl of the period with whom we are is, you perceive, an arrangement for one vio- hand as the girl rose from the music-stool, formed him that his boy was at that them to one of my Fridays. Will that impressed with your visit. Were you?" No, I wasn't. I will be frank with short time my pupil, when I was a young you—I wasn't. I never expected to find man. You have heard it with the four-

CHAPTER XI.

DISAPPOINTMENT. How they should dress themselves for Mrs. Aarons kept her promise, and called Mrs. Aarons' Friday was a question as full upon the Kings on Saturday. Mrs. Mc- of interest for our girls as if they had been Intyre saw her get down at the gate of No. | brought up in the lap of wealth and fashion. to Paul Brion, gave him the greatest satis- relinquished, butnot without a struggle. "We are just recovering ourselves," said Elizabeth, He did not see his neighbors for several with hernote-book before her and her pencilin days after. He heard their piano, and their her hand ; "and if we go on as we are doing footsteps and voices on the veranda; but, now we shall be able to save enough to take whenever he essayed to go outside his own us to Europe next year without meddling t was truly wonderful for a lady, and she room for a breath of fresh air, with our house-money. But if we break so young. Women play much better now, they were sure to retire into theirs our rules well, it will throw us back. And as a rule, but I never hear one who is an

last he came across them in an alley of the valiantly. "We will go in our black Fitzroy Gardens, as he and they were con- frocks. Perhaps," she added, with some verging upon Myrtle street from different hesitation, "we can find something amongst points. They were all together as usual our mother's things to trim us up a little." the majestic Elizabeth in the middle, with | "She would like to see us making ourher younger sisters on either side selves look pretty with her things," said home from an organ recital "Yes, Nelly. That is what I think. in the Town Hall to their tea, And a cosy | Come along and let us look at that bundle evening over a new book, having spent most of lace that we put in the bottom drawer of the morning at the Public Library, and of the bureau. Elizabeth, does lace so fine had their mid-day dinner at Gunsler's. As as that go with woolen frocks, do you think? was a great genius, that young lady. She he caught sight of them, he was struck by We must not have any incongratuities if we

" And I think," said Patty, with dignity, The three black figures stood the shock of when at last Friday came and they had

lest his presence should betray to the sisters "Miss King," he called, in his imperative | what he was so anxious to conceal from neglected and lonely, and to see insolent "Oh," said Elizabeth, whose face was women in long-tailed satin gowns aweeping not quite de riqueur—or, rather, we had not learned about those things. We have been the perfection of good breeding, and made the war which resulted in the independence of the war. Who are they? him of levying taxes on some of the inhabition was in her direct way. Who are they? him of levying taxes on some of the inhabition was in her direct way. Who are they? The war which resulted in the independence of the inhabition was in her direct way. Who are they? The war which resulted in the independence of the inhabition was in her direct way. Who are they? as out of the world, you see. We were dreadfully ashamed of ourselves," she added candidly, with a little embarrassed laugh, with a little embarrassed laugh, the perfection of good oreeding, and made pay or move. And when they pay them, the perfection of good oreeding, and made pay or move. And when they pay them, the fact of the laugh pay or move. The fact of the laugh pay or move and the laugh pay or move. The fact of the laugh pay or move are laugh pay or move and the laugh pay or move are laugh pay or move and the laugh pay or move are laugh pay or move and the laugh pay or move are laugh pay or move and the laugh pay or move are laugh pay or move "but you must set it down to our ignorance of the laws of propriety, and not suppose that we consciously disregarded them."

"The laws of propriety!" repeated Paul holly, his own face red and fierce. "It propriety, as if you could even conceive the regard them coldly, or to turn their backs might ask her." "Well, we are not in Arcadia now, and metaphorically. It was plain that Mrs. tion of his eyes, and her attention was you get up before she does?" "To call by a lady who was dressed in the most fore they saw him, and went to seek his magnificent manner, and who came in her hostess, swelling with remonstrant wrath. eyes?" she inquired. "What a charming Gallon—All right, my boy; let's step in carriage. Her name was Aarons-Mrs. He found her on a sofa at the other end of face ! Yes, Herr Wullner, we will ask her. here and have a nightcap. Aarons. She said she had heard of our being | the room, talking volubly (she was always Introduce me to her, Mrs. Aarons, will here, and thought she would like to make voluble, but now she was breathless in her | you?" volubility) to a lady who had never before | She rose as she spoke and sailed towards "Did she?" responded Paul wartely, honored her Fridays, and who, by doing so Patty, Mrs. Aerons following ; and Paul Summer girl thinking how nice and delicate it was of to-night, had gratified an ambition that had Brion held his breath while he waited to see | "What's the matter?" inquired her and gave the future town its name. Lying, Mrs. Aarons to respect his anxious wish long been paramount amongst the many am- how his reckless enterprise would turn out. mother. that his name and interposition should not bitions which, enclosed in a narrow circless In a few misutes Patty came towards the "Ch, nothing—only I haven't heard any escape anxious times during the war of 1812 be mentioned, which was certainly more they were, served to make the interest and they were seemed destruction at the hands occupation of Mrs. Aaron's life. She looked thushed, looking a little defiant, but as saifthat I am unable to attend to you just her nerves like Herr Wullner's fiddlenow." Paul understood her, and, not hav. strings, and she, too, was in a daring and up from the Bible he was reading.

First impressions are so, seeds—indeed, once for first but to and call, at any rate—indeed, once for first but to that, if only for large to the fact in the part of the fact in the part of the rade not to return her call?

"To would be thought so, of course."

"It would be thought so, of course."

added, with a smile, "I am sure I can never passed before them out of the gardens. As | He feels himself richly paid, I assure you, yourself hey silently emerged into the room, they by having a chance to do you a little serconsiderable distance ahead of them, and "No, indeed, it is not a trifle, Mrs. when they turned the corner into Myrtis Aarons-very far from it. The thing is street both the slender black figures had much too valuable for me to-to"-Mrs. | tenderly, and yet with such admirable disappeared. Paul wondered to see himself Duff-Scott hesitated, and her face was so irritated by this trifling and insyitable rather red-" to deprive you of it in that circumstance. He felt that it would have | way. I don't feel that I can take it as a done him good to speak to Patty, if it were present-a bit of real Derby-Chelsea that It was just what Paul Brion had counted you might never find a specimen of again- on-though Paul Brion had not the least

"Ob, pray, pray don't talk of payment,"

Elizabeth bade him good night when she really I don't.
reached the gate of No. 6, where the hall "Oh, please"—and Mrs. Aaron's voice the fulfilment of his expectations. Patty

"Well, if you insist-but you are really "O yes of course. We will walk there | too good. It makes me quite uncomfort-

it. Paul Brion listened to them for a few self of being in her very beat form. He did not see them again for a long time, minutes, and a bright idea came into his "Ah !" said Herr Wullner, drawing a Lord Aberdeen was rather startled in familiar. But I hope you were favorably lin and a piano only-done by a very distin- "come here and sit by me and tell me where moment enjoying a clamber up the steep, guished person for a lady who was for a you learned to play like that." people living in that manner and dressing stringed instruments at your house; that in a very few minutes, Paul had the pleasure standing. in that manner. It is not what I am used was bad-bad! Ach! that second violin of seeing the great lady sitting on a sofa Well, climb up this mountain (almost on good hands it is sublime. This"-and he known one another for years. is but a crippled thing, perhaps; the home to his work, in a mood of high conpiano, which should have none of it, has it | tentment.

> The piano-the piano. But then she circumstance. had a wonderful execution and sympathyfor a few weeks. It was a farce-a farce, and neuralgia." She did not play the violin, but in everything else she was better than I. Ah, the was a great loss to the world of art." "Did she die, Herr Wullner? sailed in was lost at sea." "Dear me! How very sad. Well, you must make your friend try it over, and, if you manage it all right, bring him with you the old man, bowing low. "You have your violin with you, I sup- are constantly and forever assailed by a they alighted, of the "Camberwell more or less mutilated rendition of that Beauties," and the "Admirals," and the pose?" she asked. "It is in the hall, under my cloak. I do blanked lot of dashed nonsense about many other bright-colored visitors of our "Why not?" she persisted. "Go and down on the Irish, but I wish the man who day—we had not the necessary implements, not bring it into this room," he replied.

Late in the evening, Paul Brion, who had and had tucked the instrument lovingly nothing but his devilish song. under his chin, he looked at Mrs. Duff-Scott and said softly, "What?" "Oh," cried Mrs. Aarons, striking in, play that—you know—what you were consin, that Charles D. Skillings, a news- nificent moths, who had imbibed the sweet He-Yes, indeed. wanted so much to hear. I want to hear herited an estate valued at $5,000,000. Hieve such tales !

Then Paul Brion broken in, conscious heir of the former owner. Meantime, the was only left to the two editors to mingle that he was running heavy risks of all sorts, | city of Portland has grown up and spread | their tears together over their ashes. but resolved to seize his chance. play it," he said to Mrs. Aarons, speaking | face, has become, on that account, an ex- | treasures. We live in hope of replacing

"Nonsense," interrupted Mrs. Aarons, from the soft lace about her throat and sharply, but under her breath. "Not at all has done nothing to make this land valu- A hundred years ago Hamilton had barely "It would have pleased me, beyond bosom, seemed to him to stand out clear in a likely." She was annoyed by the sugges- able. Nor did his ancestor, nor any of the begun to exist. But the few who were everything in the world, Miss King. Only surrounding mist, apart and distinct from tion, and wished to treat it as if unheard (it line through which he derives title. In no then ploughing up the land on which the all the faces in the room-or in the world, was unreasonable, on the face of it, of sense can he claim pay for any service. His city now stands, were of the stamp which "Yes, I know. We forgot that it was for that matter. Elizabeth's dignified course); but Mrs. Duff Scott caught at it claim rests soly on the power his title gives makes nations to rejoice over her children.

upon them altogether, literally as well as Mrs. Duff-Scott had followed the direc- a quarter past 7." "Gracious! Why do understand how the more delicate and mood of expitation that she felt inspired to dare snything and assured that ahe ahould her and deeply interested Mrs. Duff-Scott. Paul Brion's heart was beating high with anticipated triumph. Herr Wullner's heart, on the contrary, sank with a mild sighed. And pray, my dear young lady, den't bang the piano-I mean don't play over me. And try to keep time. But you will never do it-with the best intentimy dear, you will never be able to read it | AND WI ful Interviewer. upon the strings, and set forth on his hopeloss task. And at exactly the right moment the piano glided in, so lightly, so precision and delicate clearness, that it ustified, for once, its trespass upon ground that belonged to more aerial instrumen flirting, as they were wont to do under and miles away to the heights of Niagara. "Hush !" from the violinist, repeated by which demands from all strangers and new-

from such a manuscript as that."

mistaken. My dear young lady, allow me prevails universally the other side of the grown-up child over the ses, the more she William Goodchild's Foolhardy Attempt to beg your pardon, and to thank you." water, by means of which public men make would be proud of her in all ways, and the Mrs. Duff-Scott lifted up a sheet of And he bowed before Patty until his nose known their views. He had scarcely, how- more earnestly did it make as wish and pray see those extraordinary protegees of yours." not quite the thing for a mixed audience, impulses, as most nice women are, was he tried to explain to the your that you are not enthusiastic. Not only had she listened to ist that is the Old Country boys were not inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. But inforced by those worthy to combine and expected to air their views so soon. "Well, I put it to you are they not ex- of Haydn that a friend of mine asked of me gent ears, but she had at the same time in our young friend was not easily baffled. He yesterday, and that I proposed to read to vestigated and appraised the various details still persisted in asking "If Lord Haddo and country.

> sighed as he added more sheets to the one Leaving them thus safe and cared for, she held and was steadily perusing -"this he bade good-night to his hostess, and went

> > CHAPTER XIII. PATTY IN UNDRESS.

When Paul Brion bade Mrs. Aarons goodnight, he perceived that she was a little "And what about the young lady for cold to him, and rather wondered at himwhom it was written !- which part did she | self that he did not feel inclined either to resent or to grieve over that unprecedented fondly over the restful days spent in this

(To be Continued

The Harriers. The members of the well-known Ranelagh amateur play as she did. And so quick-so Harriers' Club of London, Eng., know what quick ! It was an inspiration with her, is best when one writes like the following. Yes, this was written on purpose for that Mr. W. F. Jefferies, member of the Club, lady-I have had it ever since-it has never says: "I find St. Jacobs Oil the best rembeen published. The manuscript is in her edy I have ever used for sprains, stiffness own hand. She wrote out much of her and bruises. It quickly removes pains and music in her own hand. it was many, swellings, and if rubbed into the muscles, it many years ago, and I was a young man will be found of great benefit to all athletes. I may also add that several friends of mine came her master, and she was my pupil only have found the Oil a cure for rheumatism

Maggie Murphy's Home.

Chicago Times: "This 'Maggie Murphy's Home' is getting to be a bigger of our party suffered at their hands. Nor in some of his speeches in Canada. Perhap nuisance than even was 'Annie Rooney' did they suffer at ours. We did not cap. I shall be accused of following in his foo "She eloped," he said softly, "she ran and her Joe," wrathfully ejaculated a man ture a single specimen. And this is a great steps. Well, we can only speak of that we away with a scapegrace. And the ship she with a high hat as a small boy passed the deal to say for such an insect-hunting door howling at the top of his voice,

Tis my delight On a Sunday night-to my house on Monday evening and let me dashed air twenty times in a trip from here alone, and our children, who had joined us, to Fortieth street," the irate man went on. | were soon in full pursuit of the wonderful "That shall give me great pleasure," said | "From Lake View to Jackson Park, from | creatures, which looked like butterflies or fetch it, Herr Wullner, and let Mrs. Aarons | wrote 'McGinty' was at the boutom of the and we had to sally forth in search of the

An Inherited Taxing Power.

Nearly one hundred years ago, an ancestor with elaborate distinctness. "The Misses tremely desirable location—one for the privi-King—one of them, at anyrate—" them some day, and meanwhile we have other memories of Hamilton which we wish willing to pay handsomely. Mr. Skillings to share with you.

A Case in Point. New York Herald : Bond-My dear felto make this explanation. "I think we are getting corrupted with wonderful rapidity. not to own to them more than she could ficial peculiarities in a moment, and the low, I don't believe in this treating business. We have even been called upon, quite as if we were people of fashion and consequence, He withdrew from their neighborhood be-

Bt Had Come to a Hard Pasc.

Starting Early in Life. Judge: "Where is Johnny Tivington ?"

Patty looked up at him with a sort or radiant calmness, and said gently, "Go on. Life at Highfield Described-The Mountain-The Scarch for Bugs-The Youth-tea-kettle to boil on the gas stove, and the (who never care in the least how much un- were mere phantoms of mistakes, and recov- home?" "Well, no, he is not, but I am father's newspaper." long breath as he uttered the exclamation, spite of having become somewhat familiar of what we learnt made us feel that the and softly laying down his violin, "I was ized to the custom of "interviewing" which more the old country learnt to know her she said, when matters of more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

This is more persona' crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees.

The personal crabbed manuscript as yellowed by time as mearly touched his knees. and did his best to satisfy his enterprising trim lawns as green as those in England, houses nestling amongst trees, handsom buildings, church spires and factory chimneys competing for pre-eminence And beyond the city, and its manufactories, and its wharves, lies the bay, all gleaming with the bright colors yachts and pleasure boats are making their way home. Our thoughts linge great extent with sunshine and butterflies. erhaps we had a little more of the former than we cared for just at first-for days with the thermometer over 90 degrees in the shade do not as a rule commend them we had not much to grumble at, for the dreaded foes, the blood-thirsty mosquitoes. impediments under the government, the True, this race of pests, who are supposed public life and customs, the bright climate summer Girl's Affections. to avoid Hamilton as a rule, had sent out and the sanguine temperament of Canada this year an advance guard to survey the and her folk as they will find in any land place, and even we, though late in the laid our heads on the pillows, but it seems what was termed "taffy to the Dominion that as yet they were but vegetarian speci- (is this word derived from "toffee," I wonmens of the race who had arrived, for none | der ? Anyway it means something sweet) family as we must confess ourselves to be.

"I'll bet a man can hear that blankety- | became conscious that we were by no means | poles and trees with honey and molasses and flitting about with others of the staff of "Onward and Upward" at dead of night, Word comes from West Superior, Wis with lanterns, capturing unwary, but mag. gir

alking of just now-what Mrs. Duff Scott | paper man there, has unexpectedly in- draughts too freely, you will surely not be-Suffice it to say that a really beautifu Impossible - impossible," he said of his leased a tract of land in Mains to collection of moths and butterflies resulted quickly, almost with a shudder. It has a somebody else's ancestor, for a term of from our stay at Highfield, a collection piano part, and there is no one here to take | ninety-nine years. The term having now ex- | doomed to an untimely end, for during their pired, Mr. Skillings takes possession as an | transit home, they got so battered that it over the tract, and what was a wild and We must not ask you to linger "I think there is someone who could almost valueless section of the earth's sur- with us in our lamentations over our broken which had revolted from the Crown to which In sandy soil the greatest success is met you." Although invited by the witness to were called. U. R. Loyalists they are One of the New York plug-ugly associa called now for short, and those who can I tions gave a mainmoth picnic last Sunday trace their parentage to these families count | and the managers point with pride to the it a proud descent, and glory in it.

Robert Land, and he selected the head of for notice. the lake, more because of the game to be was ploughed with a hoe, sown with a bushel of wheat, and harrowed with a leafy bough. He was his own miller, too, for some years, until a French-Canadian arrived and set up a mill some seven miles away. Brooklyn Life; "Dear me," said the Then other farmers came, and in 1813 Geo. Hamilton laid out his farm in village lots, as it does, so near the frontier, it did not narrowly escaped destruction at the hands of a terrible visitation of the cholera, and It For? the same year by a raging fire. These trials did but prove the mottle of the inhabitants "He went out between the Acts," re. so cared for, its buildings so solid, its sani- tinually cry from the cradle to the The zinc-tannin process of preparing wood to resist doosy is proving a great success. It hardens the wood and makes it much more useful, expensively when used for much more useful, expensively when used for much more easted, especially when used for has shown herself ambitious to some pur-Bayanach Messe; Robert Beck, of Doblorga, wanted to get married, but his finances were as low that he could not person the message and their ness, the megnificances were as low that he could not person the measure of the measure one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and finances were as low that he could not person the measure of the measure of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and selle everywhere. Why is this? The the architect is very well satisfied."

tended, and above all the people of Hamilton. But, having regard to the length and purport of these sketches, I will not lasuch My friend the policeman has just told me into so large a subject. Suffice it to say that the kindness and good fellowship extended to us by the inhabitants of Hamilton, of all classes, did what only when one is stonybroke. The method is sound books, concerning the bires and comply going to emigrate, for instance plants of Canada, and which were presented or bondy to tramp abroad in search to me by the Free Library Committee, as of work, or a young mother will-being the first citizen to apply for a book, on the occasion of Lord Aberdeen's opening of the new building. (I must confide to may furnish this tradesman with his chance, you, however, that your president's He represents himself as an agent of some cravelled will agree that one of its chief character had to be inchired into before I orphanage; he says he is personally conleasures is coming home again. And we | was admitted as a reader. I had to produce a | nected with Dr. Barnardo ; he possesses felt almost like getting home when we certificate of honesty, and so forth, signed walked into the cool, comfortable, dining by two citizens of Hamilton. You will be home; let the baby be given to him; for a glad to know that I found two Senators few shillings he will undertake the job of

and conditions of men. And the cum total squeaked like the squeaking of a pig, and with all three sisters around her, talking the side of which stands Highfield), in the to have enjoyed the merry winter them, and were passing remarks about as God's knowledge of it is concerned, the cost of an early September evening, and see in the skating and the him when he was seen to be in difficulties liar doesn't care very much. He doesn't the town spreading itself out east and sleighing going on round about them. For half way between the bar and wharf. Sud- worry himself about what God knows-if he west below you - wide and well-kept streets, one thing the heartiness of Canadians denly his forward movement was checked did he wouldn't be a liar; but it does worry of the setting sun, amid which little old world, and which must always be rethey had been, the men on the wharf did each other, and dear! the things peaceful retreat, and I fancy that both we shall have an equal chance with the scene of the drowning till life was exand our children associate Highfield to a any of us, and what is more, tinct in the body was easily selves to Scottish bred folk. But after all they may fairly claim that anyone wishing to live a free, independent, self-respecting, heat was not accompanied by our much- law-abiding and God-fearing life has as few

under the sun. can honestly say that I am not conscio autumn fairs, and to see some of her pro BER FEMININE CAPRICE. of the Other Girl. She-Oh, don't you think Miss Browne the nicest girl in the world? He-Why, yes, of course, if you think so She-And her eyes! Oh, don't you think they are splendid? He-Very. She-And hasn't she the cutest littl mouth and the kindest, dearest face? He-Yes, indeed. She-And such a beautiful complexion! doesn't she waltz divincly?

He-My, yes. She-And isn't she the sweetest, sweetest ! She-And don't you think she knows an awful lot; and don't you-oo-ooo-ooo t-h-i-n-k---? He-Why, what's the matter, Mabel?

She-W-e-l-I, then, how can you bear talk so a-b-o-u-t t-h a-t h-o-r-r-i-b-l-e, o-l-d, peared for Mr. Jnenings, and contended u-g-l-y Browne girl ? - Shefield Telegraph.

A Worse Fredicament. New York Press: First Boy-Did you as "grossly insulting," he thought get squeezed in the crowd at the navy drill The Magistrate considered the ex Second Boy-No, but I got caught in the were well acquainted with one another. jam at home, and that was worse.

Whittier's bodily infirmities have reached was the first witness. He said he saw Mr. a point where he feels obliged to abandon I Jennings going along King street on Monhis daily walks, except about his own day, and whistled after him. Jennings grounds. He cannot endure the fatigue of turned down Leader lane, and witness came driving, and his hearing has so far failed up with him near Colborns street, when he that it is with difficulty he can converse. I touched him on the shoulder. Jenning It also prevents his attending church any said, "Do you think I am a dog, you - with in utilizing a stream of water from a "wade in," he did not do so. Messrs. E. hose to here the way for the sinking of McKay and George Duncan heard Mr. Jenfact that none of the participants were One of the earliest of these refugees was killed. This is so rare an event as to call

August

This is the query perpetually on your little is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily by means of a large sponge, and rub it dr pose. I could take up a large part of these | place in every city and country store,

BARRES ARN CHEAP.

true hearty courtesy and kindness can do, this : The honest tradesman should live in via, we felt ourselves to be no mere tourists a poor and humble neighborhood where and strangers, but fellow-citizens of "no abildren swarm, and there are always mean city." and, in proof of this assestion, | parents who, if they could feel satisfied that I have, by my side here, in the office of their children would be cared for, would be 'Onward and Upward," two beautifully | quite ready to part with them. A young idea what a wild chance had brought about for us by those of our household who had the fulfilment of his expectations. Patty precided us to "Highfield," the house There is no doubt that if you want really into a home. The money, with the child, door stood open—putting her warm, strong hand with motherly benevolence into his.

"Good night, Miss King, I am so glad to know you don't wish to hurt ment to the very best advantage, and the sisters were thereby promoted to honour.

"Good night, Miss King, I am so glad to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies to know something of a country to know something to know something to know something to know some which was to be our home whilst in Canada. to know something of a country, its is handed over to him. He then sallies sisters were thereby promoted to honeur. give you one of Hamilton, for it is a place great advantage if you can acttle down streets where he is not known. Here the cold shade of neglect and obscurity was which photographs do not do full justice to. in some typical place for a few he presently meets a policeman. to chill them no more from this happy The town lies on a gently-rising slope round moment. The town lies on a gently-rising slope round and seeing the sights of each town. In the picked up this baby lying on the The guests were laughing and talking and under a steep ridge, which stretches miles latter way you may see more perhaps of the doorstep. What's to be done with buildings, institutions, etc., for, if you have | it ?" "Take it," says the policeman, "to but a day or two, you map out your time, | the station." You now see the beauty of and spend it in driving from one place to | this profession. He pockets the money, another, and you thus get through a great | and the baby goes to the workhouse. The of the map you were so kind as to give us with the man and a little circle of the map you were so kind as to give us when we first came. I can't tell you how in a very distinct voice, "I was listening, silence round the performers. And in this for "the mountain." As an illustration anywhere for a bit, you will not do the minutes; it is lucrative. There are also useful that has been."

So, with mutual friendship and goodwill, your touch. Heller's "Wanderstunden," they parted—Elizabeth to join her sisters to make the parted and I thought I could not be mistaken in the method. I the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it?" And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people, you almost unconsciously get to understand them and their ways of think wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people wasn't it? And they plunged head first the people wasn't it? The people wasn't it is the people wasn't it spatairs, where one was already setting the into musical talk such as musical people two, which, glancing over them as if they grounds and said, "Is Lord Haddo at ing and the whys and wherefores of their man. You can leave the baby on a doorcustoms and institutions. This was our ex- step and go away. That, however, is danperience, living our every-day life, inter- gerous, and has brought one practitioner at when I say sometimes, I mean a great perience, living our every-day life, inter-changing visits, reading the daily papers of least to trouble, because the baby nearly all sections of politics, mingling with clergy, died of exposure. But it is a neat and easy the first time. But when you have statesmen, merchants, agriculturists, etc., profession, one to be taken up at slack told it, there is an end of it. You have and hearing various opinions from all sorts | moments. - Walter Besant in Chicago Herald.

HE LOST HIS LIFE.

A foolhardy boast and an attempt to told it yesterday. You don't get half make it good caused the death of William I through with it and then stop with the with them in building up a grand nation comple of companions young Goodchild went then. You won't have to look around to and country.

As I have said before, none need fear to island towards the Queen's wharf early in And you won't have to invent a lot of new go out to Canada who are ready to work. the afternoon to taste the joys of a dip in lies to reinforce the old one. And then it Our lads and lasses who went out with us the waters of the bay on a warm day. is so foolish for you to lie. You can not with the intention of settling (and of whom After disporting himself on the sandbar the pass a lie off for the truth any more than I give you a group sitting outside "Highfield") have nearly all found happy homes.
One, indeed, has come back because of her father's death, but I feel much tempted to fully, and as the water was comparatively
fully, and as the water was comparatively

After disporting himself on the sandoar the boy announced his ability and intention to swim to the Queen's wharf, a distance of more than 400 yards. He struck out manfully, and as the water was comparatively bogus quarter is always found out in a little while. When you tell a lie it is known. give you extracts from some of the letters calm, he made excellent progress for some while. When you tell a lie it is known. of others. They have not suffered at all minutes. The workmen on the wharf Yes, you say "God knows it." That's from the cold of the winter, but seem became interested in his efforts to reach right; but He is not the only one. So far enstoms, and seeing all the skating and the him when he was seen to be in difficulties liar doesn't care very much. He doesn't towards new-comers counts for a great deal: as if he had taken a gramp or received an the man or boy who tells lies to think that they do all they can to make everyone feel unexpected mouthful of water. The anx-severybody else knows it. The other boys welcome, and one with them-there is a lous spectators helplessly watched the know it; your teacher knows it; people freeness, a sense of equality, a consciousness doomed boy make a few wild splashes in a who hear you tell "whoppers" know it; that everyone will be taken just for what vain effort to keep affoat, and these were | your mother knows it, but she won't say so. he or she is worth, and nothing more or less, followed by his disappearance beneath the All the people who know it and don't say which cannot altogether be attained in the waters of the bay. Rooted to the spot as anything about it to you, talk about it to freshing to anyone of independent spirit. not make any move towards going to the they say about a boy who is given to telling " Prove yourself to be a man, a woman, and lad's assistance till they saw him go down. big stories. If he could only hear them it we shall respect you, and you They then secured a boat, but did not reach | would make him stick to the truth like flour we will do our best to put you into the found and brought to shore, and the patrol running with us from the first." Human | waggon carried it to the father's house. nature is undoubtedly the same everywhere, Coroner Powell was notified, but after careand Canadians would not wish to claim for fully enquiring into the particulars of the the human frame. Here are some phrases to begin on :

THE GAME OF TEMA.

Give Grimes Jim's gilt gig whip. There is a new game which is called tema and which is an adaptation of Japanese season, heard ominous trumpetings as we Lord Aberdeen was accused of distributing polo. This is the way it is played, according to a young woman who claims to be . | proficient: A screen eight feet high has a circular hole in the middle eighteen inches sister's fifth squirrel's skull. in diameter called the goal, and having a net behind it. Twenty feet away is a ropedin arena in which the players stand. They do know, and that we have seen, and I are ranged in sides, the white and the red. quite a compliment to-day. Fogg-So? At the end of the area farthest from the Fenderson-Man told me I looked likeof having flattered. Next month I invite screen are stores of red and white balls less looked like-confound me, if I can think which surround Highfield that first day, we you to secompany us to some of Canada's than two inches in diameter, and it is the who it was now. It was a great historical business of each side to throw its balls into personage. Let me see— Fogg—It the goal. This throwing is done by means of wasn't Washington? Napoleon? Wellingan implement called the wand-a slender ton ? Gen. Grant? Demosthenes? Fenderbamboo 3 feet 9 inches in length, with a son-Ah! I have got it. He said I looked tiny net at the end. The balls are picked like the devil. I knew it was some great the lake to the West Side tracks one's ears | the wing, but turned into grasshoppers when | How She Tried to Test Her Lever's Opinion | up in this net and slung toward the goal. | historical personage. I feel quite lifted up This would probably be very tame, but about it quite lifted up.

there is another provision, which is that once in the net of the wand, can be manip. her complexion lovely. of throws are open to the players. The people think is in its favor. - New York Re-

ENGINEER JENNINGS "IF."

New Version of "Whistle and I'll Come to We. My Lad." The Toronto Police Court was crowded hat on straight ?" She-O-h! I t-h-o-n-g-h-t y-o-u l-o-v-e-d | yesterday to hear the case of City Engineer Jennings, who was charged by C. J. Smith, the ex-coal and wood merchant, with hav- regard is the only General surviving. ling used insulting language. Mr. Osler apthat as only grossly insulting language was prohibited on the street the charge should be dismissed. To call a man " a ---- fool" was insulting, but could not be characterised pression out of place unless the parties He had fined a man for call ing another "a -- thing." Mr. Smith fool, to answer to your whiatle? I'll hi

> Potatoes Baked in Askes. Potatoes baked in ashes are delicious nothing is needed but a pinch of salt t his own coats.

flavor them. The person who has never eaten a potato cooked in that way does not know what satisfying qualities there are in that vegetable. Among old-fashioned people in the country, who had an open fireplace or a "fire frame," it used to be quite a common occurrence to bake potatoes in the ashes, says Good Housekeeping. The good wife would clear a space between the andirons, brush the bricks clean with a turkey wing, kept in the corner for that purpose, put down a pile of potatoes and mound, with live coals on top. When they boy's lips. And he is were done (and she always knew just when no worse than the big- | she would bring forward a woollen ba and ger, older, balder-head- | having raked them from their bed, put them in, and give them a vigorous ahad up to remove the ashes.

Preserving the Health. 2. Wash the whole body every morning

4. Avoid spirits and fermented liquors of 6. Eat no more than enough, and let the

7. Let your supper be light .- Mygiene. Truth: "Why, Casper, this isn't a b he kind of a house I supposed you would "No, I'm rather surprised myself, bu

"What a modest bathing suit Miss Har-

Ohildren Growing

Too Fast gy, thin and weak. Fortify and build them up, by the use of

HYPOPHOSPHITES Of Lime and Sodn. THE OLD AND YOUNG, IT IS UNEQUALLED. Genuine made by Scott & Bowns, Belleville. almon Wrapper: at all Gruggists, 50c, and

THE BEAUTIFUL TRUTH.

Sob Burdette Gives Some Wholesome Ad-My boy, the first thing you want to learn -if you haven't learned how to do it -already-is to tell the truth. The pure, sweet, refreshing, wholesome truth. The plain, unvarnished, simple, everyday, manly

For one thing, it will save you so much trouble. On, heaps of trouble ! And no won the victory; the fight is over. Next time you tell the truth you can tell it without thinking. Your memory may be faulty, but you tell your story without a to Swim the Western Channel at single lash from the stinging whip of that stern old task-master-conscience. You don't have to stop and remember how you

> Good for the Tongue. The tongue may be trained to precision Caze on the gay gray brigader.

The sea ceaseth and it sufficeth us. Say, should such a shapely sash shabby Strange strategic statistics.

Sarah in a shawl shoveled soft snow She sells seashells. Smith's spirit flask split Philip's sixth

A Great Historical Personage. Boston Transcript : Fenderson-Had

players of one side may interfere with the Mmc. Gautlereau, the reigning beauty of others and do all they can to prevent the Paris, has a large nose and prominent chin, balls from being thrown. This at once in while her eyes are too small to be really troduces an element of skill, as the ball, beautiful. But her figure is magnificent and lated and manouvred, and a great variety Mr. Spurgeon, the famous English of throws are open to the players. The speaker, has found enough of spare time in picking up of the ball is a pretty and dex- his busy life to become a botanist, a floriterous action, while it is almost impossible culturist and a practical landscape gardener, And what hair!

He—Very beautiful.

She—And, then, isn't she graceful, and doesn't she waltz divincly?

to be ungraceful in throwing it. The example and his Norwood residence has glass houses, gardens and grounds surrounding it which weight is four ounces) renders the sport are the envy of the neighborhood. He knows every gardener and every choices knows every gardener and every choice plant in Kew Gardens.

> -The sun yields 8,000,000 times the light Before marriage the question a girl aska her lover most is : " Do you really love me ?" After marriage the query becomes : "Is my Of the 498 Confederate general officers only 184 are now living. General Beau-

RHEUMATISM, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Headache, Toothache,

Sore Throat, Frost Bites, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Etc. Sold by Droggists and Dealers everywhere. Fifty Cents a bottle. Directions in 11 Languages. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimere, Md.

