A December Sale.

Many people when they hear the words "special sale" shrug their shoulders with incredulity. Perhaps they are not to blame. The "great clearing sale" regardless of prices and the "selling under cost" business has been over-done.

Our Position is This:

The season has been unusually warm—too warm to create much of a demand for heavy goods, and we have a very large stock of this class of goods on hand. It will pay us better to make some sacrifice of profit than to carry them over; therefore, we are prepared to make generous reductions in all departments of winter goods.

We will commence this sale Saturday morning.

A Bit of Counsel.

Don't buy Flannels, Underwear, Dress Goods, Mantle Cloths, Ready-made Mantles, Etc., until you see our stock and get our reduced prices. It will mean money in your pocket.

Monday, Dec. 28.—The Sabbath School Christmas tree held in Ballycane or Waxford on last Wednesday evening was well attended, and only one after another came into camp. The tree was set up on a hill on a home trail it was seen that he walked slowly and carried a bundle, as well as his trusty rifle. As he came nearer the party saw that he had been fortunate, as he had the "rifle" (the bear) together with a tongue. His story was soon told. He had got a nice young doe in the lake and it was now hanging up at the landing. The next morning a complete change of base was decided upon. The butcher boy took the Smith's place at the lake, the Hunter went in the same direction but turning off and placing himself on a runway on the hills; the agent and the Fox Hunter put out the dogs, while the Rabbit Hunter took up his old position at the Narrows. The Historian from his perch on the hills could see for miles in every direction while his elevated position enabled him to hear the sound of the first start and by the dogs. Noon came, and no sound of disturbance. Since sunrise had sat and intended for an evening of duck-and-broke upon the morning air. The waiting and watching had grown tiresome and he concluded to walk across the hills in search of a few beaver holes which he was to find by their holes, the settler, could be found on a certain rock in the vicinity. The story told by the settler as to how he came to put the traps in that place is worth repeating. He was hunting for beaver for five years, when he came across the country, just after the lakes had frozen over, to get some fresh meat for Christmas. He was standing on a little hill in the vicinity and saw a large hole leading down the side of a hill a short distance away. He fired and brought the game to the ground, but was surprised to see it spring up and make its way to the lake. He looked slowly after it as he saw from the hole that it was a beaver. He was in the habit of repeating the story to his friends, and he was very proud of it. CHANNY.

Monday, Dec. 28.—The Christmas tree and Sunday school entertainment held here the 23rd was a success in spite of the rain. Everybody who attended was well pleased. Mr. H. E. Eyre distributed the presents. A special feature of the entertainment was the unexpected appearance of Santa Claus who threw parcels of pop to the children. His appearance was a surprise to all but three or four of the audience. There was a free contribution at the end of the entertainment amounting to $11.50. The members of the Sunday school presented Mr. J. Channay, superintendent, with a handsomely bound Oxford Bible.

Mr. Wm. Barber is the happy father of a bouncing boy.

The trustees of the public school are having a "farmers' picnic" in this famous scenic spot during 1892, at a considerable advance of salary.

Messrs. Chant & Derbyshire have purchased the timber on Pine Ridge from W. J. Richards. We understand $250 is the amount paid.

DELTA.

Monday, Dec. 28.—The annual "Xmas entertainment" held on "Lime eve" by the Methodist S. School was a decided success. Receipts between fifteen and twenty dollars. The school is spending the holidays with its parents here.

Messrs. Dennett and Curtis return to Queen's college, Kingston, the last of next week. We will miss the sweet echo of Guy's roaring voice as he departs on his "annual" for a "triumphant" over the waves she comes, exulting in her glory, and at steps to conquer whom she loves, which one, the victims tory.

Miss Minnie Hill returned home from Whitby college on the 15th inst. and on Saturday gave her many friends a pleasant party at her home. Nice day, don't it. Did you ever get left?

Mr. E. C. Hoctor left on Saturday last for Watertown, N. Y., to take a position as book-keeper for a well-known firm. We wish him every success in his new field of labor.

PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday the 22nd inst., a number of ladies met at Sheldon's school house and presented Miss Blanche Hawke with a silver cake basket, accompanied by the following address, which was read by Miss Maggie Berny:

MISS BLANCHE HAWKE.—We regret very much that you have found it necessary to sever the very pleasant and so profitable associations which we have so enjoyed for the past scholastic year.

You have been untiring in your efforts to impart to us useful knowledge, to instill into our minds moral principles, and you have ever been to each of us patient and impartial, thus proving yourself an efficient, conscientious teacher.

We therefore wish you to accept this small present, not for its intrinsic value, but as a slight token of the love and esteem in which you are held by us all.

In conclusion, we wish you prosperity wherever your sphere of labor may call you in the future, and wherever you strive to impart knowledge we wish you success equal to what you have had in this school. We hope and trust that you will endeavor to give to your future pupils as much as you have given to us.

Signed on behalf of the Sheldon's school.

South of the Reporter's Economic Hills Many and Varied Experiences While Hunting for Game in the Wilderness.

The hour for retiring had arrived when Josiah had finished his story, and the sun had not tipped the eastern hills next morning when the party were on the move to their respective stations, which were about the same as the day previous. The dogs led off to a lake at which there were no watchers and the day was evening was well advanced, and only one after another came into camp. DEATH OF COL. WYLLIE.

The death of Col. David Wyllie of Brockville removes the oldest landmark of Canadian journalism in Canada. Perhaps no man was better known throughout the length and breadth of the land as a clever and forcible writer than he. He edited the Brockville Recorder from 1850 to 1885 excepting a very brief interval when the paper was in charge of Thos. Leitch. He was in the 51st year of his age, and held a position on the board of school trustees in Brockville nearly 40 years 20 of which he was clerkman of the board.
