MANY MEN
 —OF—
MANY MINDS
MANY MEN OF MANY KINDS

'Tis as true in buying Gents' Furnishings as it is in all other things. Could we depict the different people we find shopping in this department, 'would fill a page. All, or nearly all, are aiming to make their money go farthest, and in this (as in all other departments) they find the right goods at right prices with us. Some are induced to visit the "something for nothing" right prices with us. Some are induced to visit the "something for nothing" right prices with us. Some are induced to visit the "something for nothing" right prices with us.

The Old Oak Bucket.
 How dear to this I care are the scenes of my childhood,
 When fond recollection presents them to my view;
 The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wild-wood,
 And every loved spot which my infancy knew,
 The wide spreading stream, the mill that stood near it,
 The bridge and the rocks where the oat-stalk fell;
 And o'er the dairy house, the dairy house by it,
 And o'er the rude bucket that hung in the well.
 CHORUS.
 The old oak bucket, the iron bound bucket,
 The moss cover'd bucket that hung in the well.
 The moss cover'd bucket that hung in the well,
 For oft 'neath moon when returned from the field,
 I found it the source of an exquisite pleasure,
 The purest and sweetest that nature can yield.
 How ardent I seized it with hands that were glowing,
 And quick to the white pebbled bottom it fell,
 And now far removed from the lord's situation,
 The tear of regret will intrusively swell;
 As fancy reverts to my father's plantation,
 And sighs for the bucket that hung in the well.
