Letter From Florida.

An Athenian Tells of His Trip to the Sunny South-Land-The Country and its People-Among the Orange Groves.
Sanford, Fla, March 22, 1893.
On the 1st of December last R. N.
Empoy (my brother-in-law) and myself left Clayton, N.Y., and arrived at Holland Patent (near Utica) at noon and remained a day and a night to see a friend of Mr. Empoy's, Mr.
R. Rowland, who has a young orange grove in Florida, from whom we gained much information about the country that was of interest to us.
Left on the evening train, arrived in New York at 6 in the morning and started at once to see some of the sights and scenes of that great metro-

The Reporter Now Printed Wholly in This Office By Steam Power on Our New Whatfordale Press.

During the past three or four months the circulation of the Reporter has increased so much that it was found a very heavy, long, and laborious task to print the required number of copies on our Washington press. Then, too, the space taken up by advertising left us only about half the space required for local matter, county and general news. For some time past we have been quietly making preparations to effect a complete change in the make-up and getting out of the paper, and to this end, a couple of weeks ago, we purchased one of the largest and most complete Wardale presses made, and to-day we have the proud satisfaction of issuing the first number of the Reporter printed wholly in this office on our new press, operated by steam.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

The above cut gives a very fair representation of our new Whatfordale press, which weighs in the neighborhood of four tons. While the press was being set up, many of those who dropped into the office shook their heads delightfully when told that we expected to run it with our little Acme oil engine (a correct out of which appears beside the press), deeming it an impossibility for so small an engine to have sufficient motive power to run so ponderous a machine. When all was in readiness and the belt attached it was surprising to see with what ease it handled the whole mass of lead, cylinder, cans and slides. In passing, we might mention that our Acme oil engine (manufactured by John Gillies & Co., Carleton Place, Ont.) has been in constant use in this office for over six years and to day runs as smoothly and noiselessly as the day it was started, and at a cost of less than fifty cents a year for repairs. From the above cut those who have never seen one out from some idea of the engine and the immense power it exerts according to its size and weight. Two men can easily lift the whole boiler, engine and attachments, the boiler holding less than three pairs of water when running. But the great desideratum with the little Acme is the low cost of running. After six years trial we are certain that 800 worth of fuel oil will furnish motive power sufficient to run an ordinary press for a period of nine hours.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

A few words to our patrons and subscribers may not be out of place just at this time. In order to make our present change we have expended upwards of $1,000 cash. We have done so feeling satisfied that those who are indebted to us, either for job work or subscription, would appreciate our efforts to give them one of the best local papers in Eastern Ontario, as well as to turn out a superior quality of job work, and would promptly settle their indebtedness as well as speak a good word for the Reporter office, thereby sustaining us in our undertaking. Since we opened a job office and commenced the publication of the Reporter we have met with many cheering words of commendation as well as practical proof of appreciation, for which we are truly grateful, and in future we purpose devoting our energies to retain the good opinion of all our friends and patrons. The Reporter will, as in the past, be strictly non-partisan, in every sense of the word. We do not propose to dabble in politics and will not be drawn into a controversy, but we will not be deterred from giving every one a fair and impartial assistance to promote their interests.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

It will take us a couple of weeks to get everything running in proper shape, when we will commence a new series of thrilling interest to all lovers of choice literature. We again thank our friends for past favors and solicit them to speak a good word in our behalf and try to induce their friends to become patrons of, and subscribers to, the Athens Reporter.
