So Badly Crippled With Rheumatism that he was Helpless as an Infant—How he was Cured—A Lady Relative also Restored to Health.
The attention of The Review having been called to two cases in Kingston in which it was alleged remarkable cures had been effected by the use of Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter was sent to interview the parties named, and find out whether the cures were really the result of the use of Pink Pills. Mr. Samuel Barnes, who formerly resided in Dorchester, N. B., and who removed to Kingston, Kent Co., some time ago, was first interviewed, and asked whether the reports concerning his illness and recovery from the use of these Pills were true. He expressed himself willing to add his testimony to the many he saw in the papers concerning the wonderful cures effected by Pink Pills, and hoped his story might be the means of bringing relief to others. We give his story as nearly as possible in his own words:—I was first attacked with acute muscular rheumatism in March, 1891. I was then living in Dorchester. For three months I lay in bed unable to move hand or foot, more helpless than an infant. The joints of my arms and legs were much swollen, and my hands and fingers twisted almost out of shape.
The physician who attended me bandaged my limbs and in every way attempted to give me relief, but without effect. Two other doctors, both of whom I consulted, but could do nothing for me. I was told by a friend who called to see me of the wonderful cures reported to have been effected by the use of Pink Pills, and I resolved to consult Dr. Williams' medicine, and give them a trial. When I had about half finished the second box I began to feel slightly better. After taking four or five boxes I was able to get out of bed and walk around the house on crutches. I continued taking the pills until I had taken a dozen boxes, when I stopped for a time. I was then able to move with the help of crutches to get out of doors and around. I have since removed to Kingston, and continued to take the pills, and have continued to improve and hope soon to be entirely cured. Mr. Barnes is a gentleman of education, whose statements will carry weight. The writer remembers when Mr. Barnes first came to Kingston he was forced to use crutches, and was able to get around only with great difficulty. It is now able to move around using only a cane, and apparently without difficulty. His hands and fingers, however, still bear traces of the severe suffering he has undergone.

BARONESS VON RAHMEN.
The Famous Circus Rider Coming to America.
A Berlin correspondent writes: Sensation-loving people in America will hail with delight the news that the dashing, handsome Baroness von Rahmen is going to America. An enterprising yankee manager has made her a flattering offer, and she will soon appear in the land of dollars to exhibit her marvellous skill as a "high school" circus rider, and also, no doubt, to captivate the hearts and pockets of gilded youth of fashion, who like their European brothers, are not to be deterred without her seductive charms. This young baroness has created a tremendous stir in the various capitals of Europe, and peevishly since her last love episode, which culminated in her husband's shooting and killing one of her admirers, a Count Castenkiold, an officer in the Danish army.
This shooting affray aroused the deepest indignation against her husband, Baron von Rahmen, whom the general opinion holds to be a brute. As he will accompany the fair rider to America a few lines about her are not amiss. The baron is about 30 years of age and of illustrious family, his father being governor of the Russian provinces of Courland. He carries himself well and has pleasing manners at rare intervals. As a rule he leads a very retired life, and is not much given to the society of his countrymen. He has been an officer in the Russian army, but had to leave that country in 1890 on account of a duel in which he killed his adversary.
