Athens Reporter

AS ISSUED RVERY TUESDAY AFTERNOON

word HY seed. 1 B. LOVERIN

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE, OR $1.35 IF NOT PAID IN THREE MONTHS. asr No paper will be stopped until all arres are paid except at the option of the publisher

ADVERTISING

Business notices in local or news column, 10c. earth can ever make me." Professional Cards, Slines or under per year. his hand upon her shoulder. "You know ine for each subsequent insertion. $3.00; over 6 and under 12 lines, $4.00. Logal advertisements, Sc. per line for first insertion and Sc. per line for each subse-A liberal discount for contract advertisements

Advertisements sent without written in-structions will be inserted until forbidden and could be avoided, as the two lemaies might be as much of a capture as they could surely and safely make in that place. As he had promised, Toletti led the way to the apartment where the girls slept, and by careful management they were so effectually smothered before they awoke, that they could give no immediate alarm, and thus were they borne away from the cavern, and led down the mountain, the gags being kept upon their mouths until they had got very near to the river, where horses were in waiting. As soon as Rosabel could speak she begged for mercy, but the robbers would not listen to her. One of the villains, however, more bold than the rest, whispered into her ear that if she would go with | ed from the apartment, and shortly afterthe duke. She turned eagerly towards him to find out what he meant. He meant that she should go with him and be his, and he | alone; but she would not shed tears in the was beginning to swear eternal fidelity and presence of the unsympathizing sentinel. love, when she turned from him in disgust and horror. She asked no more favors at the hands of the robbers, but suffered herself to be lifted to a saddle, in which con- prayers to Heaven. She prayed that God dition she was borne away towards Milan, and early in the following day she was fervent prayer was breathed for Orlando lodged in her own apartments in the ducal Vendorme. palace, Hippolita still bearing her company. But the companions were not to remain long together. At noon a messenger came from Hugh de Castro and led Hippolita away, conducting her back to the dwalling of her master, where she was confined in a other check to him.

"I rode out upon a horse, sir."

"And Orlando Vendorme was with "He was." "And you set him free from his dungeon?"

a grievous wrong which I had helped to do. | person, solemuize your marriage." When I led Vendorme to that dungeon, I power could have induced me to help you. I helped you ignorantly, but I was not ignorant when I helped the sufferer.

"Upon my soul, girl, you are frank." "I can afford to be so." "Then be as frank in answering me further. Where is Orlando Vendorme?" "I cannot tell you, sir."

"You mean-you will not." "Put it as you please." "Girl, if you do not answer me as I wish, you shall rue it. Now tell me-where did you leave Vendorme ?"

"Once for all, sir," replied the girl, with heroic calmness, "I will not speak one word which can put the safety of Orlando Vendorme in jeopardy. Where he is now I cannot tell you, for I do not know. But that I may not be misunderstood, I tell you frankly-if I did know, I would not tell you.' De Castro clenched his fist, and struck the girl to the floor.

Lay there, insolent wench !" he mutterclosing and locking the door after him.

men, but a servant whom the princess had seen at work in the garden.

"Why are you here?" Rosabel asked, when she recollected where she was, and what had traspired. "I am here to wait upon you," was the re- knight ?" ply, delivered in a rough, impudent way.

guard over me ?" 'No. There are soldiers in the passage

"I want nothing to eat. You may bring me some drink. The woman brought the drink, and Rosabel then told her she might retire.

"I cannot do it lady. I am ordered to remain in the room with you.' The princess was offended, but she had too so she withdrew to a window which over- love your prisoner much." looked one of the gardens, and sat down. She had not been thus seated many minutes 'my lord. before the door was opened, and the duke

"Well," he at length said, biting off the word as though language were insufficient

The princess bowed her head, and made no reply. She had determined upon the course she would pursue, and she sought the strength that might enable her to bear "Did you think to escape me, Resabel?

"I hoped to escape, sir," she replied, looking up into his face. "And whither had you planned to go?" "Anywhere, so that I might be free from had no plan, I suppose ! You had no lover

"I had a friend with me, sir." "Yes, yes and where did you leave

"Where I hope he will be sais from the powers that are at Work against him." "Did you leave him in the place whence you were taken? "Send your robber minious back and let Manfred started angrily, and he seemed roady to muite the maiden with his fint. "Ho, no," he said, "you shall not move me from my propriety. You are crazy, you tre an idiot, you are a fool! But, my fair lady, let me tell you that men have been sent back after your gallant champion, and let me assure you that he will be taken, too, and when he is taken, he will be amply re warded for the pains he has expended on your account. Perhaps you can imagine what the character of that reward will be

A sense of faintness overcame the princess for a moment. She could understan what would be Vendorma's fate if he fell into the tyrant's power, and the thought was terrible. But she struggled up from the blow, and looked the dake once more in said; "and I can imagine all the threats you would make ; so you can apare me the . They have gone further nurth, Mestoy pain of hearing them." Pletro; and I was left to give you intellidorme until I can tell you exactly what has "But why is this?" night, but for my own convenience I must Do you think you can escape this time ?" He has gone towards Come.

"Troops!" cried Pietro, in surprise. "It is the hibiter, is it?" said Lamilla.

"Troops prill he !" Rosabel stocks slowly and "What troops can be hape at this time !"

"The wife of Ludovice you must be," retorted the duke with equal emphasis. "I have said my say, Duke of Milan ; and you may now do your worst. Let come what may, I will never give a wife's pledge

"What care I for your pledge ! One is coming to help me whose power is above all edges; and it is for his presence that I The princess raised her eyes to the face of her guardian, and as he read the meaning of her look, he added : "I wait for his holiness, the Pope

Rome, who will be here at the time I have "O," cNed Rosabel, disguising none of the bitterness of her feeling, "you may bring him, and he may pronounce the false a post office notice to discontinue is not suf-You may so far make me a wife as to lay hands upon my estates of Bergamo; but in my soul a wife to Ludovico no power of

" Beware girl !" said the duke, pressing not what you say. If you give not your soul to this marriage, you give it to per-

"Yes; and I say it again," cried the princess, whose feelings were now aroused. "Death is but death—and death is preferable to the fate you would impose upon me. All advertisements measured by a scale of and after death I will lay me in the arms of my Saviour, and trust to his redseming love. She was upon her knots, with her clasped bands raised towards Heaven; and a prayer fell from her lips, as she bowed her | find our captain. read till the dark tresses floated over her face. Once, while she had been speaking, the duke had started forward as though he would strike her ; but when she sank upon her knees, and her voice broke into that impassioned prayer, hestopped and trembled. "Bah!" he uttered, stamping his foot; you are crazy! But I am glad you have spoken so frankly, even in your mad ness, for now I shall know how to govern myself. The marriage wil come off, as I have said; and you are at liberty to make as much trouble for yourself asyon please. Only let me give you a gentle hint: You should know the disposition of Ludovico, and be thus aware of the pains you must suffer if he has more occasion to be angry with you." When Manfred had thus spoken, he turnhim he would save her from the clutches of wards the old woman entered and resumed and not rack me thus."

Rosabel might have wept if she had been She retired to her inner chamber, where she soon sought her couch ; and as she rested her head upon her pillow, she offered up new would have mercy upon her; but a more

CHAPTER XVIII.

Ludovico had not yet seen the princess since her return, and he preferred not to do so until the hour for the marriage ceremony of the Savesopo close apartment, with an old black woman arrived "If I should see her, it might only make | very well. to keep watch over her. Towards evening de Castro came, and when he stood before | trouble for me," he said, as he conversed her he struck her on the check with his with his father on the day following her arrival. "At all events, it could do no good." "Strike me again," she said, turning the "You are right, my son," replied the duke. "Since matters are arranged so safely for us, have been where you now are." "Are you so fond of being struck?" asked | it is not worth while to trouble the girl unnecessarily. By this marriage, we will add "Blows are what I expect sir," she re- Bergamo to our dominions, which, with the independent man, owing allegiance to no "And they are what you deserve. But our house the most powerful in Lombardy. chief of your own choice. But your choice tell me-how did you escape from the And, my boy, if Alfonso of Modena is not was not with us. Perhaps you remember very witty-more witty than I think he will | the next time you met me?" be-he shall fall beneath us."

man Consul ?" asked Ludovico. "Yes," said Manfred, rubbing his hands revenge Upon this Ludovico rubbed his hands, and did not dream of the horrible doom that | declared that things were working better Castro entered the apartment. "What brings you in such haste?" who would speak with you."

"Who is he?" De Castro cast his eyes over the apart-

"We are alone," said Manfred. "The man is named Pietro Bonzo. He is one of the robbers." "Does he bring us news of Vendorme ?"

"Then let him come in." In a very few moments de Castro introduced the robber into the ducal presence. He was habited in the garb of a passallt, but his face told well enough what he was. 'Well, sir," said Manfred, not at all shocked by the association, "what word do

"My lord duke," replied the outlaw, ed, "and when I come again you will learn | bowing very slightly as he spoke, "a reto answer me with more propriety. I do | ward was offered to us on condition that we not leave you now because you have conquer- would find Rosabel of Bergamo, and restore ed, but because I have not the time to waste her to your keeping; and another reward dorme. The lady has been restored to you. at him, and shook his head, vouchsafing no It was well into the evening, and Rosabel And, furthermore, Vendorme has been other answer. of Bergamo had slept several hours. She taken; but, as we were not directed to arose, and found a woman in attendance bring him hither, we have secured him, and upon her. It was not one of her own wo- are ready to produce him when it may so

"So works the matter still in our favor," cried Manfred, clapping his hands exulting-ly. "With this fellow secure we are safe rom further trouble. Where is the

"He is in a quiet nook, my lord, not "And I suppose you are also here to keep | many leagues away. I can bring him to you by the rising of another sun-"I think," remarked the duke, turning who do that. But I can get supper for you, to his captain, "that we do not want the De Castro nodded in approval of the sug-"I do not see," continued his highness, "what need there is of having much more trouble with him." The captain nodded again. much sense of pride to show any resentment, said, addressing the robber, "you do not

"If I am not mistaken sir," the duke "We owe him nothing but vengeance,

"Then you may earn your reward easily. made his appearance. The attendant was You can act the peasant, and I will give dismissed and Manfred then turned to his orders to the guard to allow you to pass the fruit in panniers, can you not ?" "Yes, my lord."

"And in a pannisr, covered with citron to express his feelings. "So you are back leaves, you can bring me the head of Orlan-it brought secretly and punctually. I such thought. We are to execute you. It would behold it with my own eyes."

"And so would I," added Ludovico, with a gesture of mad delight. "I would give more to see the unbodied hand of Orlando Vendorme than I would to see the emperor "It is a safe and righteous decision," said

'Aye," resumed the duke, "it shall be so. How is it, Pietro Bonza-shall it be 'Yes, my lord.'

"And there shall be no mistake-no fail-"There can be none, your highness. The prisoner is bound, and his keepers only await my return." "Then bring me his head as quickly as you can.

"You shall have it to-morrow." "As early as possible. I said that could bring the prisoner hither alive by the rising of the sun ; but if I must find fruit, and prepare panniers, it may take some time longer. But it shall be sometime to-

" Remember -- when the head is delivered, a hundred gold sequins are yours." "There shall be no failure," replied the

When Pietro Boosa was dismissed from from the city as quickly as possible, and the room of his doom. started upon his return mission. He stopped at Monza to transact a little business with one of the robber agents, and just as the sun was sinking he reached the place where he had left his companions with their where he had left his companions with their be murdered to satisfy the demand of a base with the formula of the land there. The formula of the land there is murdered to satisfy the demand of a base will be murdered to satisfy the demand of a base of the land there. prisoner. He found one of the band there, but no more. "I know what your disposition is," she "How is this, Bernardo! Where are our companions ?"

Specome of him. And now to another matser. I propose to have you married as soon after the sun was up this morning we got rode up to the aget where the hand had been saled. It should be done this very after the sun was up this morning we got rode up to the aget where the hand had been somether of the saled at the s news that a large party of troops were on security of troops were on the security of troops when you will give your hand to Endovice. Toute, our captain thought it best to move. he returned he reported that Moreo Passoli to set free a prisoner."

The has gone towards Corne."

The has gone towards Corne."

The has gone towards Corne."

"1 don't know," replied Bernardo. lidu't see them. They were stout rascals, our informant said, and led by doughty knights. They may have been Milaness."
"I don't think so, Bernsydo."

" Why not ?" Because I have just come from Milan and none of the troops are absent from that city. More likely they were from the north. But is it known that they were "It is known that they had been making lieutenant.

inquiries about us, and they were coming directly towards us. However, I have not | sword. seen them yet, and I know not where they are. In all probability they have pushed on to the south." "Not by the road to Milsn," said Pietro, "or I should have met them." "Well, it makes no difference. They have gone somewhere; and we may as well follow on after our companions."

"You are right, Bernardo." "Unless," said Bernardo, "you have some other plan." "What other plan can I have?" "I don't know. I suppose you have seen the Duke of Milan!" "Well-I thought, if he had the reward-" "Ha, ha! you are withy, Bernardo. If I had a hundred golden sequins, you fancy that you and I might find use for it, eh?"

"I didn't say so." "I know-but I think you meant it. However, I haven't got them; so we have nothing to de but to draw our reins, and dubious one, they were forced to move slowly. They found their companions in a deep wood near the hills of Cantu, and when they had | She might be called the wife of Ludovicoalmost morning By a large rock, where a mass of vines were woven almost to the form of a tent, lay Orlando Vendorme bound hand and foot, with a sentinel keeping watch over him. As troubled slumber, and asked the guard to oosen the bond upon his arm. But the fellow would not do it. "My chieftain gave me no such orders, he said. "Wait till he comes." "Will you not call him? Tell him, if he means to kill me, he should do it at once, the first beams of morning struggled in

A dark-visaged, powerfully framed man, on your part can delay these services. wearing an ostrich plume in his velvet cap, approached the spot where the prisoner sat. This was Lanzilla, the chief of the robbers. He had, in former years, been a knight of and finally risen to be their leader. He down into his pain-marked face.

remember when you were first banished from Milan, that you met me by the bank possess for your son the wealth and power thus house. The pains I suffered were ter-"Yes," replied our hero; "I remember it | my hand, I know that I must surrender.

"And do you remember the proposition I then made to you?" "If you had accepted it, you would not "Perhaps not."

"No,-you would have been a free and riendship of the Consul of Rome, will make | earthly monarch; and only governed by a "Yes," said Orlando. "I helped a party watched upon all hands, and-"But are you sure of the aid of the Ro- of gentlemen whom you had attacked; and with evident satisfaction. "Crescentius and | "Ah," returned Lanzilla, shaking his head the Pope are both with me; and their in slowly from side to side, "I don't know "What induced you to do such a thing?" | fluence cannot be well overcome. His Holi- how that may be. If you were left wholly "That I might make some atonement for | ness will be here to-morrow, and will, in at my disposal, I think I should offer you once more an opportunity to join us." "You would offer in vain."

"Then you are the greater fool. I tell awaited him. Had you told me that, no | than he had even dared to hope. He had you, Master Vendorme, the time is not far shake the petty thrones of Lombardy, her eyes "How now, my captain?" cried the duke. However, you need not fret yourself with the idea of loss, for I could not make you "There is a messenger without, my lord, the offer if I would. You are not my prison-

"Whose am I, then?" "Perhaps I speak a little wide of the mark, sir knight. You are my prisoner, but not held for my use. I hold you for the present; but I hold you subject to the orders of another.'

"Subject to the orders of the tyrant of Milan, is it?" "If you will have it so-yes." "And will you conduct me to him?" "Not yet. "What will you do?"

"Ere long you shall see."

zilla turned to move away. "Will you not osen the bond upon my arms?" "Yes, -but not now!" What did he mean? Why did he answer so abruptly, and stride away so suddenly? What was to be done? Orlando turned to a man who stood near, and asked him which with you." Thus speaking he left the room, was offered for the capture of Orlando Ven- way they meant to move. The man looked

In a little while the robber chieftain returned, accompanied by two of his companions. He looked more stern than before, and upon his brow there was a dark scowl. "Orlando Vendorme," he said, "I had thought of sending you your way without giving you any notice thereof; but my com-anions have overruled me. For my part, I forgive you for the work you once did against us; but not so with the others. My eutenant leads in the determination to make you suffer." "Aye;" interposed a stout, dark-visaged man, moving forward as he spoke, "I have not forgotten that my own brother fell by this fellow's hands. I am not so for-

"Nor I," added another of the robbers. "This man struck us without provocation. We had never harmed him. He smote down the dearest friend I ever had." "You see," said Lanzilla, "what the feel-"Aye," replied our hero, "I see it very lainly; but you have not told me what is "Your fate is-DEATH!" Vendorme was startled with horror. Such ward, whom he regarded for some little time | with fruit for the palace. You can bring | a thought had floated through his mind, but he had not given it reflection. He looked around upon the dark, stern faces of those who gathered about him, and he saw little there of sympathy. "Do you mean that you will murder me?"

"Mind-I want only the head. I want "No," replied the chieftein; "we have no is the order of the Duke of Milan that you die, and I am to send your head to him. This it was which I did not mean to tell suffer. Had the matter been left for me to had pronounced them man and wife. Rosa-choose in what menner you will die."

"In the name of that honor which is the part of every brave man," cried Orlando, "I robber, with a wave on't misunderstand me. have not g whatever to do with your the presence of the witnesses. you, nor am I esponsible. You were taken firm step she walked from the room, her all hard, soft or calloused Lumps and by my companions—the, took you by the right hand clutching something that she Blemishes from horses, Blood Spavin, order of the duke-and by order of the duke | carried in her bosom. shall never carry out of the world with you hands, "the work is done! Ha-and the Stiffes," Sprains. Sore and Swollen for, now? "To see my husband," was the thought that Lanzilla sought such re- people are shouting again. They know that Throat, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by the reply. Oscar stared sleepily at her venge. I make no secreta, because you can. the time hath arrived. De Castro, let use of one bottle. Warranted by not bear tales from here! Now speak, if | proclamation be made from the towers that you have a choice. How will you die?" The bound knight looked around once gloom of the deep wood-the gaze of the tain, as a furious shout rent the air. robbers; the heavy shadows; the guarled "I have to choice," he said. "There is no need of reflection. An ex-move the choice of means. The captain turned to obey the command, but ere he had taken many steps, the large but ere he had taken many steps.

In a large but ere he had taken many steps, the large but ere he had taken many steps, the large but ere he had taken many steps, the large but ere he had taken many steps.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my beat to foot. He was gone. I bought one bottle press came thundering on and just as press came thundering on and just as press train to come.

The captain turned to obey the continue.

The captain turned to obey the conti apparently to give some order touching the privering from head to foot. He was angry, of South American Nervine, which the big locomotive struck the bridge he execution, the robbers were startled by the and he was frightened, to a "la be alone?" "Yus," "Then go and ascure him. Bind him hand and foot, and if he makes any disturbance, gag him, -choke him if, he need be."

Four of the robbers went to execute this command, and when their work had been done, Lanzilla turned once mere to his "You have a stout arm, and a sharp "You," was the answer.

"And you will strike for the duke!" "Aye, and for vengeance, too!"
"Then bring the block. This work shall be quickly done; and then we'll send to Manfred of Milan his pannier of fruit! He

CHAPTER XIX.

QUESTS WHO WERE NOT INVITED. Rosabel of Bergamo could find no means of escape from the fate which had been in the city since the first of January. pronounced by her guardian. She had ex- The then unfortunate, but now happy hausted every resource of thought and sin- and healthy man, is William G. mercy of the tyrant. All night she had street. He is an Englishman, and has been awake, meditating upon her fearful been out from Kent, England, about doom; and with the light of morning she eleven years. A baker by trade, he threw herself upon her couch, resolved to bear up as best she could. She had prayed accepted a position with Mr. Donald-It was nearly dark when the two robbers | to Heaven for strength, and she believed she | son, and came to this city about two set out, and as the path was a narrow and had received it-strength to support her years ago. A reporter called on him a through the coming ordeal, and strength to few days ago and interviewed him give her passage from the danger beyond. dismounted and secured their horses, it was she could see no way to avoid it; but she been spoken of, and the following hoped that she might never prove false to story was told by him :-She lay thus upon her couch, with her face buried in her hands, when the duke was "Let him come in," she said; and she of January I had been troubled with through the thick foliage, he awoke from a arose and met him in the chamber. "How is this?" he demanded, when saw her pale face and her dishevelled hair. "Are you thinking of escape?"

my own. If my prayers cannot move you, "Bah! We have had enough of that. His | weakness : at first from my knees to Holiness is here, and all is ready for the my feet, but afterwards from my hips "Hold-here he comes. Now you can ask marriage. You must join us as soon as you to my feet. I obtained advice and can. And, lady, remember this: No failure treatment from several medical men, LORD BYRON IN ALBANIAN COSTUME (1810)

him to the loss of his spurs; and, seeking the resolution. 'I shall not seek to make myself disease. Although they did not agree go on a Byronic tour in the art galleries of him to the loss of his spurs; and, seeking the resolution. H shall not seek to make myself as to the cause, all advised me to sketches, silhouettes, paintings and statuplanned. I am not blind enough to suppose | tightly bandage my limbs from the ary of the man who left "his native stood by the prisoner's side, and looked that the famished wolf can be driven from knees down. I did so, but this was of shore" and proved himself not only the "Orlando Vendorme," he said, "do you know that you seek to unite the house of Ber- no avail, and I became so weak that I master genius of poetry, but a man of game and Milan-that you are determined to was not able to move even around the courage and common sense as well, and gained; and as it can only come to you by shortly after he withdrew she came. in her eyes, "I cannot help you. We are continued in this way, more dead than an elm while visiting Harrow." "Stop," interrupted the princess.

> The duke exhibited no anger at the maiden's freedom of speech. He was rather pleased than otherwise by her surrender.

thing has been heard from Orlando Ven-"I have heard nothing."

silence, and when her mistress was arrayed just spoken to this effect, when High de distant when our free band will be able to "I wish to be alone a moment, Blanche." The attendant withdrew to the bed-room, hardest day's work on Saturday last row

> "This may be my last friend of earth!" she murmured, as she gazed upon the sharp, littering point. The wicked prince of out of the hospital in November I did mask on it if you like.

long afterwards a messenger arrived from John XVII., the Pope of Rome, stood by terview, and if appearances are correct a favorable impression on his imagination. the duke's side in the apartment where it Mr. Woodcock is enjoying the best of the sat for this portrait in 1810 to T. Philhad been arranged that the marriage cere- health and can do many hard days' banks, and is now in possession of Lord "One word, sir," cried the captive, as Lanmony should be performed.

distant tumult fell upon his ear, "my people that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and several copies of it extant. are already making merry on the occasion. | nothing but them relieved him of his They shall have aglorious time of it when terrible disease and probably saved his Caroline Lamb. She had loved him. She the marriage is over." "You have made arrangements for sports,

"No, the prince has made them. I have thought best that Ludovico should please arising from an impoverished condithe people this time." well to keep them busy with something. Ah-here comes the prince.

Castro and several other officers of the ducal headache, nervous prostration and the 1817. It was tendered to Westminster household, entered the apartment, and were tired feeling therefrom, after effects of Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and the Brit-

The duke approached her and introduced blood, such as scrofula, chronic cry- stands in the college library of Trinity, From an impulse of her nature, regarding | glow to pale and sallow complexions 'Rosabel, this is our holy father, John." the papal office as something holy and wor- and are a specific for troubles peculiar shipful, she bowed her head down, and to the female system, and in the case or green leaves and stalks in boiling water

Pope placed his hand upon her, and uttered a blessing, after which he said: "My daughter, it gives me joy to greet work, or excesses of any nature. you; and you will allow me to congratulate you upon the bright prospect that opens be-

"I think we are ready," said Manfred. same time advancing and taking the prin- bearing the firm's trade mark and green strawberry leaves is an admirable wool in cash or trade. found how cold her hand was, but he made no remark upon it.

The herald made proclamation to the from any dealer, or may be sent by effect that Rosabel of Bergamo was to be | mail on receipt of price. united in marriage to Ludovico of Milan. He did not ask if any were present who could give a just reason why the marriage should not take place, but in the stead there-

"And to this union the Pope of Rome bath given holy sanction, so let no man object, neither now, nor hereafter!" The Pope now advanced to where the you; but my men were clamorous to see you | couple stood, and in a very few moments he carry out at will, I would have put you to bel had not opened her lips. The usual you all contemplation of your doom. Still, not heeded. Willing, or unwilling, she anted by J P. Lamb. sir, I can grant you one favor: You may was given to Ludovico, and the papal-benediction was pronounced upon the union!" "Keep hernothere," whispered the prince, turning to one of the female attendants. "Convey her to her apartments as quick-

But Rosabel did not faint there. With a the prince is married!" "It seems to me, my lord, that the rasmore, but he saw no friend. All within the cals are taking some liberty," said the cap-"Aye," added Ludovico, cleaching his Rhoumatism and Neuralgia radically and twisted trunks of the great old-trees; fist, "and they seem to be crowding cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the sighing winds all seemed to bear to him into the palace. Did you lavite them to the system is remarkable and myster- tron bridge of one of the railways was "No," returned Manfred. "I have left lous. It removes at once the cause suspected of being unsafe. It looked the marriage feast?" and the disease immediately disappears. all that for you to do,

"Neverthelers," resumed Von Brunt, "our

A TOTAL DESIGNATION AND PRINCIPLE

A Remarkable Case.

THE STRANGE POSITION IN WHICH A BRANTFORD MAN FOUND HIMSELF.

Physiciana Could Not Agree as to Nature of His Trouble Fell Away to a Mere Skeleton Was Unable to Move About, Continuously Suffered Terrible vains.

From the Brantford Expositor. Some months ago the Expositor gave the particulars of the remarkable will not get it so soon as it was promised; cure wrought upon Mrs. Avery, who is a revival of him was promised; but it may be none the less acceptable for lives at P. asant Ridge, a few miles man before bim wrote; as none since has out of the city, and the case created written. much interest among the people of the city and vicinity. We are now in a position to give the particulars of an-

> with reference to the cure which has "I came to the city two years ago and worked at Donaldson's bakery. For nearly a year previous to the first some disease or sickness, but was able to continue my work, but about the month of September last I was com-"No, my lord-not of escape by force of pletely used up and had to quit work. The trouble seemed to be an excessive Should you faint, even, and sink upon your some of whom said the trouble was bed, the work should be done neverthed caused by a bodily strain, others that I was run down so that I was very that was laid upon him and his memory is "I understand you, sir," replied the prin- weak and open to take almost any releasing its clutch. It is now proper to

"My dear lady," Blanche said, with tears | suffering the most intense pain 1 | a tomb, writing the 'lines written under you one question: Do you know if any. Bichelor's drug store on New Year's and render an homage so long overdue. The girl proceeded with her work in my limbs, and in two weeks I could it passed into the possession of Dr. Ewing, and then Rosabel went to her dressing-case and took from a secret drawer the little that I had ever done in this country Sanders. It is full length and in oils. It dagger which Vendorme had given to and felt mone the worse for it. When was of this picture that Byron wrote to I was weighed a week ago I tipped the Rogers: She hid the dagger in her bosom, and not for me in that way." Every statement The portrait of him in Albanian costume of Mr. Woodcock's was corroborated was painted soon after Byron's arrival in by his wife who was present at the in- Turkey. The Albanian costume produced

"No, the prince has made them. I have markable efficacy in curing diseases she made the caricature. sipelas, etc. Pink Pills give a healthy Cambridge.

cases arising from mental worry, over- to taste. These Pills are manufactured by the | to nurses. Dr. Williams' Medicine company, Brockville, Ont, and Schenectady, "All ready," replied Ludovico, at the N. Y., and are sold only in boxes be good for summer disorders. That from cess by the hand. He was startled when he wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six and soothing wash for a cankered mouth bottles for $2.50. They may be had Mint tea made from the green leaves, > Beaver tobacco is the standard gentleman's chew of Canada. Gentlemen of refined taste chew ought to use printed stationery. It is much more business like and fully as ly as possible." He saw that she was very cheap as ordinary stationery without weak, and he feared that she might faint in | printing. Leave your orders at this office. English Spavin Limment removes

> J. P. Lamb HHRUMATISM CURED IN A DAY .-South American Rheumatic Cure for

The captain turned to obey the command, | Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed | thought of a way to test. He took a The first to advance will speak true this done me more good than any $50 pulled open the clide and took a second worth of doctoring I ever did in my picture on the same plate that still held the first. When the plate was exam-"Insolent" cried Ladovico, turning pale remedy." A trial bottle will convince show what the ougineer and managers you. Warranted by J. P. Lamb,

NEW CRAZE FOR BYRON

INTEREST IM A GREAT ENGLISH POET HAS BEEN REVIVED.

Misanderstood During His Lifetime and Denied Sepulture at Westminster-Elic Many Portraits and Their History-Thorwaldson's Bust H's Best Portrait.

There is tendency to a return to Lord By ton. It is no longer considered improper for young women to my in society that they have read Lord Byron and; th. I they like the reading. In England, which has only their to blame for the keen cuts which the hardy solon of Newst-al gave it, there

John Cordy Jeaffreaun, in his impactial book, "The Real Lord Byron," opens his pages with this sentence: "In great things and small things it was Byron's lot to be other wonderful cure that has occurred misunderstood during his life and misrepresented after his death," And a few as below is the melancholy statement: The people on the evening of his withdrawal from England frowned at him in vention without effect. The day had come Woodcock, who resides at 189 Murray London drawing-rooms or murmured which had been appointed, and she was at the against him in the London streets," He died in Greece in 1834 and the preju dice against him in England was still so

FROM THE PAINTING BY PHILLIPS. unrelenting that his remains were denied sepulture in Westminster. But the hand died engaged in an effort to liberate anrible, and the only way I could relieve In the last number of the Magazine of am ready, sir; and I only ask that you will | myself at all was to lift one foot off the | Art-London-one finds a collection of cause the ceremonies to be as brief as pos- floor and extend it straight out from pictures of Byron and an interesting acme. In November I was in the hos- count of each. The frontispiece of the magazine contains an etching-a very pital fourteen days, and was treated charming thing it is, too-of the Harrow for typhoid fever, and although I can- view, the Byron estate, which on a clear "Can you be ready in half an hour?" he not say for certain, yet I do not think | day, it is claimed, is the most picturesque that I had the fever at all. When I | landscape in England, the vision taking in "If Blanche can come and help me."

was taken from the hospital I could from a picture in the art museum, London, ueither eat nor sleep, and was still and represents the young poet reclining on

But the pictures of the past, gathered alive, until the first of January, 1894, from far and near, show what interest I suppose you now intend to have ample only wish you to help me dress. The time when I concluded to try Dr. Wil-Day and bought six boxes of pills. At The first ministure known of Byron was painted by Kay, of Edinburgh, in 1795. It this time I could not stand at all, but represents the poet at the age of seven. "That is all. You may bring my dress | in about a week I threw away the | This Byron gave to a young woman who bandages which I had been wearing on | was in his mother's service. At her death > boxes were finished I was fit for work | gown worn by noblemen at Trinity College, and in the best of health. I did the where he was a student after he left Harscales at 163 pounds and when I came If you think the picture worth your accepttilan shall never know Rosabel as a wife- not weigh over 100 pounds, so you can . A miniature copy was made of it, which easily see what Pink Pills have done so displeased Byron that he ordered it de-

"Ha, ha," said Manfred, as the sound of work yet. He is also very positive Leigh, of Stoneleigh Abbey. There are There is a pen and ink sketch, which the Magazine of Art does not give, by Lady afterward saw Byron and his wife walking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a re- arm in arm, and it so embittered her that tion of the blood, or an impairment of | It was this work which excited the admir-"A wise thought," said the Pope. "It is the nervous system, such as rheuma- ation of the Countess Guiceioli. Many tism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, loco- casts were made from this, and some are Ludovico, accompanied by Hugh de motor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, hervous of the bust was made by the same artist in In a little while, by another door, entered | la grippe, influenza and severe co'ds, | ish Museum, and declined in turn by each. Rosabel of Bergamo with two attendants. diseases depending on humors in the lite scales of the scale

How to Make Herb Ten-Herb teas are made by infusing the dried prossed her arms upon her bosom. The of men they effect a radical cure in all and tetting them stand until sold. Sweeten > Catnip ten is the best panacea for infant ills, in the way of colds and colic, known Chamomile and gentian teas are excel tea made from blackberry-root is said to erushed in cold or hot water and sweeten- Lyn, April 17, 1894 ed, is paintable and healing to the stomach and bowels. A tea of damask rose leaves, dry or fresh, will usually aubdue any simple case of summer complaint in infants, Anarchy in France. France's record has been appaling. The mere catalogue makes a horrible recapitu Beaver tobacco, exclusively. For sile | lation-Ravachol's bomb; Emile Henry's explosion in the Terminus Cafe in revenge for Vallant; the Madeleine Church Lenten Itch of overy kind, on humar of horror, when Pauwels killed himself with animals, oured in 30 minutes by his own petard; the arrents of Elisse Recrest with the prick of a javelin, and saved questions were asked, but her silence was Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Warr lus, the famous geographer, Paul Bernard, Grenoble Church explosion, and the bomb-Every merchant and business man throwing at Lyons, Bordeaux and Boulogno. Carnot's assassination has come as the grand climax to this reign of terror.

> Perfection of Cynleism. Oscar Wilde was introduced at a recent garden-party in London to Mrs. Osgood, of Kuebworth House. In the divnlged that the lady was on the eve of departing for America. 'Going to Curbs, Splints, Ring Bone. Sweeney, America?" said Oscar; "deah me: what into a chair he said "Going all the way ta America to see your own" (with accent on the own) "husband? Deah me! What a lovely identi"

Snap Shot at a Work Bridge. In England a few weeks ago a certain why the managers were afraid of it. "But they are coming. Hark! they are The first dose greatly benefits. 75 They could not decide themselves and they sent up to London for a famous engineer to come and look it over, He came and was puzzled, too, until be | pages had feared-a dangerous droop THE R. LEWIS CO., LANSING, STR. OF MARRIES, CO.,

KENDALL'S PAVIN CURE

MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY WicLean's

FOR MAN OR BEAST. Certain in the effects and never blinkers. Read proofs below: BLUEFORT, L. L., N.Y., Jan. 15, 1894.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO.

Gentiemen I bought a splendid bay horse some time ago with a Spawin. I got him for $50. I used Kendali's Spawin Cure. The Spawin is gone now and I have been offered $150 for the same horse. I only had him nine weeks, so I got $120 for using $2 worth of Kendali's Spawin Cure.

Yours truly, W. S. Mansden. badly broken in many lines, but I have still thousands of dollars worth to be sold, and am sacrificing them for prompt

Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO.

Sirs—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure with good success for Curbs on two horses and it is the best Liniment Phare ever used.

Yours truly,

Price 61 per Bottle.

For Sale by all Druggists, or address For Sale by all Druggists, or address Dr. B. J. KENDALL COMPANY, King St., Brockville.

GEO. McLEAN.

CONFECTIONERY

ENGRBURGH FALLS, VT.,

ESTABLISHED 1882

This Opportunity.

Lay in a supply of Boots

The sises are becoming and Shees while they are going

H. H. Cossitt & Bro.

(Successor to J. L. Upham)

Fruit Commission Merchant WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

BROCKVILLE - ONTARIO

OYSTERS IN SEASON Two (2) STORES-TELEPHONES 244a & 244b

AGRICULTURAL WORKS

Every one who has used one of my Horse Hoes with the Genesee teeth, for other help is gone. But I would ask liams' Pink Pills. I sent to Mr. letter press a disposition to bury the past says they are the "best weeder in the world". Don't be persuaded to try any other until you have tried this.

The above cut shows style of frame but not the teeth. Can furnish teeth same as cut if required.

G. P. McNish, Lyn, Ont.

THRESHERS LARDINE MACHINE OIL

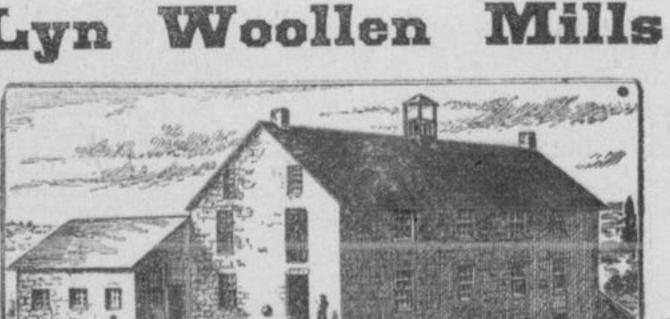

The Champion Gold Medal Oil, which cannot be Excelled. COLL'S CYLINDER OIL

HAS NO EQUAL. MANUFACTURED BY

imitations.

Bros. & Co., Toronto Ask your Dealer for "Lardine" and beware of

For sale by all leading dealers in the country

Have a good stock of genuine all-wool Yarn and Cloth, lent tonics taken either hot or cold. The will be prepared to sell the same at moderate prices, and will at all times be prepared to pay the highest market price for

R. WALKER Children

must have proper nourishment during growth, or they will not develop uniformly. They find the food they need in

Scott's Emulsion

There is Cod-liver Oil for healthy flesh and hypophosphites of lime and soda for bone material.

Physicians, the world over, endorse it. Thin Children are not known among those who take SCOTT'S EMUL-SION. Babies grow fat and chubby on it, and are good

Prepared by Scott & Bowne, Belleville. All Druggists, 50 cents and $1. "Mexican Fly Ointment"

ONLY REMEDY KNOWN FOR THE

Sold in Tubs, Kegs, Half-barrels, and Barrels, by Ottawa and Brockville.

Quotations furnished to the trade, natured because they are well.