Products From Our Forests

Wood products are essential to all Canadians. Nearly every minute of our lives we use a product that is made from trees. Lumber, paper, firewood, kitchen tables, and maple syrup are just a few examples. Other products such as ice cream, ammunition, garbage bags, rayon, music records, perfume, tannins for leather, paint, and turpentine rely on trees for essential ingredients. Trees are one of our most valuable renewable resources. They grow and mature, and will grow again, if properly managed.

Professional foresters are working to assure the maintenance of healthy forest ecosystems. They are experts in managing forests for the needs of society, while protecting and enhancing the natural forest environment for present and future generations.
