

BOOK REVIEWS

BLITZ by Molly Lefebure.
An accurate picture of how Londoners, especially the East Enders who lived around the docks, faced the endless pounding of bombs night after night in 1940. The lives of four families, of vastly different backgrounds intermingle throughout the story. Young, very young, men join the R.A.F. and some are shot down in flames. Girls leave gentle homes and work every night in the huge shelters for the homeless. It was all so long ago but I am carried back to those terrifying, exciting days and nights when a nation was prepared to fight in the streets as Churchill fully expected and knew that we would. Perhaps I am prejudiced but I really enjoyed this book. The author knows her subject.

A FORCE TO BE RECKONED WITH

I am full of wisdom, humor, tears, passion and love. I am that which is held tightly to the breast, lightly on the lap, peered at, sighed over and remembered. I bring you foolish fancies; I bring friendship to the lonely. I take you with me to the far reaches of the earth from India to China, to Mars, to Venus, and probe into the habits of chimpanzees.

I reach into your mind; I show you things that are unbelievable and make you believe them. You must treasure me, protect me: I give you a knowledge of life you never dreamed of. Don't desecrate me; I fill the empty places of your life. I give myself to you gladly; seek me out and find me
- I am a book.
