

RIDEAU NOTES

Donning aprons and chef's hats, Rideau District High School Principal, Ken Robinson, and Vice-Principal, Tony Darby, went to work at the end of May in the Family Studies kitchens. Both volunteered to cook Indian food for the class as part of Family Studies teacher, Pat Reddick's, program of international cooking. The menu consisted of a Chenna Dal, a chick-pea curry, Delhi Murgh, a chicken curry, and banana and cucumber coolers. "We watched them put in all these spices," said student James Clark, "and it tasted very good - but was it ever hot." "I found it very tasty and very authentic," said teacher Ron Chahal, whose wife, Mrs. Nina Chahal, from Kingston, spoke to the class previously about multiculturalism and Indian life styles.

Friday, May 15, was the last day of Rideau District High School's 1987 work experience program. Teacher aides, and work study supervisors, Elaine Babcock and Joanne Doyle, organized a B.B.Q. for the students to wrap up the three week program. Teacher Jim Johnson took the opportunity to thank all the members of the public, and businesses who supported the program, including Wayne's Service Station, Elgin; Rideau Rafts Inc., Crosby; Casey's Campground, Elgin; Brown's Marina, Chaffey's Lock; Simmons Lodge, Chaffey's Lock; Evan Dodge Autos, Lyndhurst; Sweet's Sand and Gravel, Seeley's Bay; Foodmart, Delta; James Chant Farms, Chantry; Gan Rok Siding, Gananoque;

Watson's Auto Parts, Gananoque; Austin Paynter, Westport; Skycroft, Chaffey's Lock; Township of South Crosby; Villages of Elgin and Portland. "The wide support we received from across the county was just tremendous," he said.
