The Sisters by Robert Littell. "The sisters Death and Night," dominate this extraordinary and intricately plotted spy-story. These two aging, brilliant, sinister men contrive plot within plot; betrayal upon betrayal; play intricate games with both the CIA (for which they work) and the KGB; and what they are intent upon is the creation of the perfect crime.

The action moves between Russia and the United States, as well as Europe. All locales are brought to vivid life, and the many characters are superbly drawn, most particularly the Russian "Potter," who is the major pawn in the Sisters' deadly game.

Quite unputdownable, this book is a definite must for all spy-story buffs. PF

Pursuit by James Stewart Thayer.

Another spy story which, in this case, takes a fascinating backward glance at history: Hitler's supposed plot to assassinate Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the summer of 1944.

The two main protagonists are Captain Kurt Monck, the chosen hit-man and Margarete Bayerlin, a widowed German woman, now living in America. Because of her desperate need to protect her young daughter, Kurt is able to use Margarete as an unwilling accomplice. The love-hate relationship which develops between these two people adds an unexpectedly human dimension to this powerfully written tale of espionage and violence. The complexities of their relationship are played out against a background which graphically portrayed many of the major figures of that unforgettable period in the world's history. PF

WELCOME
Laura

May 1986 was a very busy month for our veteran volunteer worker, Doug Roantree. The first week of the month saw Doug receive a Volunteer Award pin from the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture for his ten years of volunteer work with the Lantern. The evening event was held at the Holiday Inn in Kingston and was most pleasant, allowing guests and recipients to meet and mingle following the formal part of the ceremony. Many familiar faces were seen from the surrounding area and townships, also receiving the honour for their voluntary work with a variety of organizations.

Later in the month, after several nervous weeks of waiting, Mary, Doug's wife, presented him with a noisier award, being a healthy baby girl! Mother and daughter are fine and are now home, where Doug is learning some of the basics of the non-returnable award! The Lantern staff thanks Mary for her timing, making sure the new arrival did not conflict with Lantern production. And to Doug, hopefully Laura will be kind enough to let you get your full 8 hours sleep, at least the night before the Lantern goes to press!
