VOLUNTEERS ATTEND 4-H ACTIONWEAR LEADERS'S SCHOOL

Twenty-six leaders from thirteen clubs in the area attended a workshop recently in preparation for leading the new 4-H project called Actionwear. During the one day workshop they sewed samples of the special techniques for knits that they will be demonstrating to club members. The day also featured discussion groups and activities related to sewing with knit fabrics.

These volunteer leaders will be organizing 4-H clubs for young people ages 12 to 21 in their home communities. Members need to have access to a sewing machine and are expected to sew a garment during the project. Local meetings begin soon and end in November with a fashion show prepared and presented by all the clubs in the area.

The Ontario 4-H program has always received strong support from the community volunteers. There are 22,000 young people involved in 4-H and 5,000 volunteer leaders...an excellent ratio. The 4-H program is co-ordinated through the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. For more information on 4-H in your area contact the local Ministry office.

4-H ACTIONWEAR PROJECT FOR TEENS

4-H is a program, for youth ages 12 to 21, that stresses learning new skills in a small group atmosphere. The project offered this fall is called Actionwear. In it, members make garments that are easy to sew, easy to fit, comfortable and fashionable. The young people who participate make one or two garments depending on their previous sewing experience. Clubs are organizing in communities throughout the County. Leadership is provided by adult volunteers who live in the community. Membership is open to young people ages 12 to 21. For more information contact the OMAF office at 342-2124.
