Winter Carnival Week at Rideau Centennial School was a fun time for all. The weather was perfect and staff and students were well pleased with the results.

Eleven of our students won Silver Dollars from the Portland Winter Carnival Committee for their snow sculptures. Allison Haskins, Jackie Kehoe, Treena Machan, Rosita Pollock, Roseann Smith, Laura Stone and Kim Wright who created a sea serpent and Roger Clark, Brent Gratton, Donny Rogers, and Donny Seward who created a snowmobile were judged the best of the dozen snow sculptures we had. I was very pleased with the results as the children worked on these on their own, outside of class time.

The sports side included toboggan races, broomball obstacle races and a variety of other challenging and laugh-provoking contests.

The results left us with four top Snow Men—Chris Baker, Steve Canning, Sean Dunnage, and Paul Rodgers and four top Snow Women Kim Lewis, Kim Wright, Cathy Hewitt, and Allison Haskins.

The good turn out of cross country skiers at the Portland Fun Fest shows the increasing popularity of the sport.
