SWEET'S CORNERS ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

On November 8th, 1979, the students at Sweet's Corners Elementary School held a Remembrance Assembly. Some of the students who had written stories about Remembrance Day presented them on stage for the rest of the school to hear. Those presenting stories were Evelyn Scheitrowsky, Andrew Bracken, and Carolyn Cota. Lisa Emmons read the poem, "In Flanders Fields", and Tim Barnes explained the reason for observing two minutes of silence. The master of ceremonies was Susan Murray who introduced everybody before they went on stage. The school choir sang several songs about Remembrance. Watching the program from the stage were Cathy Jones, Cameron Morris, Hal Moulton, and Martha Kenney who were representing World War 2 servicemen who were killed in the war. They sat on a "cloud" and listened throughout the whole assembly to find out if the people at Sweet's Corners remembered them and if their sacrifice was worthwhile. Guest speakers were Mr. Joe Chapman and Mr. Russell Edgley from the Legion, Branch 504, Lyndhurst. They expressed their thanks for being invited and stated their wish that all parents in the area could have the opportunity to view the fine performance which had been written, produced, directed and presented by the students.

* UNICEF *

This year our Primary and Junior students collected $256.32 for UNICEF as they made their rounds on Hallowe'en night. The money has been forwarded to UNICEF, Canada to be used in helping developing countries establish pure water supplies. The UNICEF collections are co-ordinated by Mrs. Moulton, the Kdgn. teacher. Our thanks goes out to all those in our community who contributed and to those who collected. The Intermediate students held a Hallowe'en dance, the proceeds of which were included in the above stated amount.

Mr. John Trayons is the librarian at Sweet's Corners Elementary School now, replacing Mrs. Julie De Blasi, who is on a maternity leave. Mr. Trayons took over at the first of October.

The Newspaper Club at our school has been busy during the past months collecting and preparing news items for a school newspaper, named Cougar's Column. The paper will be available to students for 20¢, and will include interviews, articles, birthdays and other newsy items. The newspaper will replace the year book which we produced last year and should be available at least twice this year.

Intermediate students have been selling tickets on a bird feeder in order to raise funds for a field trip. The bird feeder was made and donated by Bill Cuddy, grandfather of one of the Intermediate students, Hal Moulton. The winner was Mrs. Eileen Seaman, our school secretary. Another draw has been organized, this time by the Primary Division. A handcrafted Santa Claus centrepiece, made by Nancy Moorhead, mother of Scott Moorhead, Grade 1, will be awarded to some lucky person on December 16.
