OUR WASTE BASKET.

Old Scraps Warmed Up.
BY A. R. W.

In order of time, decoration precedes dress.—Spencer.

Humboldt tells us that an Orinoco Indian, though quite regardless of bodily comfort, will yet labor for a fortnight to purchase pigment wherewith to make himself admired; and that the same woman who would not hesitate to leave her hut without a fragment of clothing on, would not dare to commit such a breach of decorum as to go out un-painted.

Captain Speke's African attendant often stratted about in their goatskin mantles when the weather was fine, but when it was wet took them off, folded them up, and went about naked, shivering in the cold. Is decoration developed out of dress?

How to live? that is the essential question for us.

I thank you, my friend, for the warmth of your greeting.

There's few airy bladders but wats 'ain and flectin'.

But if there's one that hain't no cracks 'an' flaws,

An' wuth gain in for it's poplar ap- plause!

It's such up the spirits ez lively ez rock- et's!

An' I feel it—w'd down to the eend of my pockets.

H. Blyden.

Uttered not, yet comprehended, Is the spirit's voiceless prayer,

Soft rebukes, in blessings couched, Breathing from her lips so fair.

Langfellow.

Do not regret the exhibition of considerable self-will on the part of your children.—Spencer.

The best being that God ever made is a good woman, and the worst that the devil ever made is a bad one.—Talmage.

Men who have free rides in prison vans never like the city that furnishes the vehicle.—Talmage.

If our ears were only good enough we could on any winter night hear the crash of a hundred million shipwrecks. Look out how you spend your winter nights.—Talmage.

December, January and February are the best months for the devil.—Talmage.

Protection against the tyranny of the magistrate is not enough; there needs protection also against the tyranny of the prevailing opinion and feeling—against the tendency of society to impose by other means than civil penalties, its own ideas and practices as rules of conduct on those who dissent from them.—John Stuart Mill.

No person ought to be punished simply for being drunk; but a soldier or policeman should be punished for being drunk on duty.

Whenever, in short, there is a definite damage or a definite risk of damage either to an individual or to the public, the case is taken out of the province of liberty and placed in that of morality or law.—John Stuart Mill.

Character is what we are, reputation is what people think we are.

"From big guns and women's tongues deliver us," but some men are quite as big blubs as women.

Spurgeon.

Common fame is a common liar. Hear say is half lies.—Spurgeon.

To keep dirt, debt, and the devil out of the cottage ought to be every man's greatest wish.—Spurgeon.

A ginopine statesman should be on his guard.

Er he must hev beliefs, not to b'lieve 'em too hard.

For ez sure ez he does he'll be blurtin' 'em out.

'Thout regardin' the nature 'o' man more'n a sput.
