THEESPAY MORSING, MARCH 15, 1877.

The tariff question is still under debute in the House-at least it was up to the latest reports in yes tenlay's papers. A couple of amondments have been offered and discussed at great length, but the probabilities are that the Finance Minister's propositions will be carried by a considerable majority. The debate has brought out a num ber of interesting points on the ab struct theories of Free Trade and Protection; still, a gleaner for information to assist him in the solution of the questions involved will doubtless feel disappointed at the lack of statesmenliko views omanating from either side of the House. It has scarcely risen above that of a purely partizan discussion, the merits of the subject being seem ingly regarded with much less importance than the opportunity offered for the one party to endeaver to out-general the other. We notice that Sir John has promised to intective character, and when that | comes up, we may look for some tacts and theories of a more sub stantial nature than we have hithargument. The final result of the re-count the South Waterleo election case has been to increase Mr. Master's majority from five to twenty-three.

Professor Bell's wonderful invention, the telephone or speaking telegraph, is being extensively tested n Boston, Chicago and elsewhere. The other day Professor Bell stood in a public hall in Boston and lectured to an audience of 600 people in Salem, Mass., who heard every word distinctly. The lecture was reported and agreed exactly with Prof. Bell's manuscript when compared. After these experiments the instrument was introduced into the Moody and Sankey tabernacle and the audience in Salem heard every word that was said, even to Moody's request for a collection. At a recent telegrapher's ball in Chicago, the entire company danced to the music of the "Telephone" waltz, played at Milwaukee, about 100 miles away. There seems to be no end to the possibilities of his instrument.
