LADIES' NAMES. GETT Thoro is a strange deformity. Combined with countless graces, As often in the Indies' names As in the ladies' faces. Some names are fit for every age, Some passing sweet and musical, Some fit for dames of loftiest grades Some only fit for scullery maids.

Ann is too plain and common, And Nancy sounds but ill, et Anna is endurable. And Annie better still ; There is a grace in Charlotte. In Eleanor a state. An elegance in Isabel A haughtiness in Kate; And Sarah is sedate and neat, And Ellon innocent and sweet.

Matilda has a sickly sound Fit for a nurso's trade, And Esther sage and staid Elizaboth's a matchless name. Fit for a queen to bearlu castlo, cottago, hut, or hall, A name beyond compare, and Bess and Bessie follow well. But Betsy is detestable.

Maria is too forward, And Gertrude is too gruff. Yet coupled with a pretty face, A pretty name enough And Adeline is fanciful, And Laura is too fine and Emily is beautiful; And Mary is divine ; land only suits a high-born dame. And Fanny is a baby name.

Eliza is not very choice ; . And Jane is proud and cold lartha is somewhat sorrowful And Lucy blunt and bold : Amelia is too light and gay, Fit only for a flirt, And Caroline is vain and shy. And Flora smart and pert ; ouisa is too soft and sleek. But Alice gentle, chaste and meck.

And Harriet is confiding, And Clara grave and mild. And Emma is affectionate. And Janet arch and wild : And Patience is expressive. And Grace is old and rare : And Frances warm and dutiful, And Margaret frank and fair. And Faith, and Hope, and Charity,

Are heavenly names for sisters three. Rebecca for a Jewess, Rose for a country belle. And Agnes for a blushing bride. Will suit exceeding well ; And Phobe for a house wife, Joanna for a prude. And Rachel for a gipsy.

And Judith for a scold and churl. And Susan for a sailor's girl.
